HORNER HOLDS HIGH CARD FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Democrats All Set to Whoop It Up Today.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Judge Henry Horner for governor heads the Democratic state slate for the April primaries which is to be submitted to the Democratic state committee for approval this morning at the Sherman hotel. The Democrats plan to make a Jacksonian field day of it, with meetings to ratify the organization ticket and a dollar luncheon at which the campaign is to be started off with a whoop.

JUDGE HORNER.

Reduction of the tax burden, getting the government out of business, and anti-Volsteadism are to be the main themes in the speechmaking.

Subcommittee Submits List.

The subcommittee of slate makers appointed to pick a ticket to be backed by the organization in the primaries went into session late yesterday and adjourned until this morning, when the ticket is to be given its finishing touches. The slate as it now stands for presentation to the state committee is as follows, subject, of course, to revision today:

Governor—Henry Horner.

Lieutenant governor—Thomas F. Donovan of Joliet.

Secretary of state—Edward J. Hughes.

Clerk of Supreme court—Adam Block.

Judge Horner, whose indorsement downstate and local leaders regarded last night as almost a foregone conclusion, is a native Chicagoan, born in 1873. He was educated at the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago and took his law at Chicago-Kent College of Law. He has been judge of the Probate court of Cook county since 1914. He is unmarried.

Would Simplify Government.

Judge Horner's campaigning is expected to follow largely the political ideas he has been expounding for years. A simplifying of government to ease up the burden on taxpayers, getting the government out of business, a holiday on lawmaking, and modification of Volsteadism, the themes on which he has discoursed from time to time, it is conjectured, may be issues upon which he will lay stress.

Judge Dieterich of Beardstown has been regarded as a leading candidate for the senatorship since his election in 1930 as congressman at large.

Attorney Generalship in Doubt.

On the attorney generalship there is still a touch of doubt, due to a suggested shift of State Senator Thomas Courtney from the county to the state slate, but the prevailing sentiment reported yesterday was that Courtney is to be kept on for state's attorney, while Judge Otto Kerner of the appelate branch is to go on for attorney general.

Mr. Martin of Salem, slated for treasurer, was the party nominee for this place some years ago, while Mr. Barrett, who is slated for auditor, is now state treasurer, an office he won two years ago after a primary campaign which he says cost him less than $150. He has been listed for auditor for a year and more.

Mr. Hughes, who is the pick for secretary of state, is a member of the board of review, which is abolished by the Kelly bill remodeling the taxing machinery of Cook county.

Mr. Nesbitt, picked for one of the two places of congressman at large, was a nominee two years ago and is prominent in labor circles.

Malone Opens Quarters.

Headquarters for William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, were opened yesterday in the Breevort hotel. An unusual number of visitors attended the opening, the managers reporting that nearly 1,500 called during the day. Cecil C. Ericson was announced as Cook county manager for Malone. He was secretary for Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago in the latter's campaign for mayor and for alderman.

LEAVING HIM BEHIND

125,000 UNION WORKMEN TAKE 20% REDUCTION

More than 125,000 Chicago building mechanics yesterday volunteered to take a cut of 20 per cent in the union pay scale for one year, beginning March 1. The action was made known at a conference of union representatives and employers.

Members of the arbitration board, composed of the Chicago Building Trades council and organizations affiliated with the Building Construction Employers' association, after ratifying the pact, issued a statement in which they said:

"We feel confident that the wage adjustment will unloosen the log jam that has gripped local construction work."

Better Conditions Predicted.

The conferees added that approximately $150,000,000 of new construction in the Chicago area was put aside in 1930 and 1931 because of high building costs and difficulties in financing. They predicted with this new scale in effect that a large part of this contemplated work would be thawed out and 1932 be a year of much higher employment than the last two.

Estimates were furnished to show that it now costs less by fully 25 per cent to build than it cost in 1930 or 1929. With labor down 20 per cent and building materials cheaper by 30 per cent, it was asserted it is now cheaper to build than it has been at any time in the last twelve years.

Old and New Wage Scales.

	Old.	New.
Asbestos	$1.67½	$1.34
Bricklayer	1.70	1.36
Bricklayer's helper	.97½	.78
Carpenter	1.62½	1.30
Cement finisher	1.62½	1.30
Electrician	1.70	1.36
Hoisting engineer	1.62½	1.30
Structural ironworker	1.67½	1.34
Ornamental ironworker	1.62½	1.30
Laborer	.97½	.78
Lather	1.70	1.36
Painter	1.75	1.40
Plasterer	1.70	1.36
Plasterer's tender	1.03¾	.83
Plumber	1.70	1.36
Roofer [composition]	1.70	1.36
Roofer [slate]	1.75	1.40
Sheet metal	1.70	1.36
Steamfitter	1.70	1.36
Stonemason	1.75	1.40
Tilesetter	1.62½	1.30
Tilesetter's helper	1.12½	.90

The labor representatives were congratulated on their agreement, which was made without compulsion other than that furnished by the general economic conditions. The existing scales had been adopted to run until May 31, 1934, and the representatives said they made the change only in the hope of persuading prospective home owners and investors in real estate to build.

Plan to Stimulate Industry.

According to the statement, civic and trade organizations have mapped out plans to stimulate building and to modernize structures already existing, and these projects are certain to go ahead with the lowering of costs.

Patrick F. Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, said:

"The council and its affiliated unions are more than anxious to do their part in restoring public confidence. If our action today accomplishes this result we will feel that we were more than justified. Labor has done its full part, and if the architects, the Chicago Association of Commerce and other groups do theirs

Dry League's Short of Cash; Begs for Help

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Westerville, O., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The depression has struck the Anti-Saloon League of America.

Here in the village of Westerville, national headquarters of the league for thirty years, the mechanical staff of the league's big printing plant has been cut two-thirds; its daily publication, the American Issue, has been reduced to a pamphlet of infrequent issue, and the few stenographers retained on the pay roll are pounding typewriters ten hours a day, sending appeals to former contributors to "unite in sacrifice" to save the organization from threatened litigation and resultant disastrous publicity.

J. H. Larimore, former managing editor of the American Issue and press agent for the World Alliance Against Alcoholism, having lost both jobs, is working three days a week for the Ohio Anti-Saloon league at Columbus, and is telling his Westerville neighbors of his disappointment over the national league's failure to pay up his back wages more promptly.

League's Mail Declines.

The Westerville postoffice receipts, an accurate index of the league's activity, shrunk from $87,000 in 1928 to $32,000 in 1931, and the postoffice has been reduced from first to second class rating. The league's mail bag accounts for 70 per cent of the postoffice income.

But the crisis, "the sudden, shocking blow," as the league solicitors describe it, was held off until last Nov. 25, when the Bank of Westerville went to the wall with the league, its subsidiaries and officials owing the institution approximately $25,000 on unsecured notes.

An inventory of the bank's assets, drawn up by A. J. Schurr, bank examiner, and filed in the county court at Columbus, reveals, moreover, that the great bulk of the loans were negotiated or renewed within three months before the institution failed. The bank had $700,000 in loans outstanding and $10,000 cash on hand. On Nov. 12, two weeks before the institution was declared insolvent by the superintendent of banks, Ira J. Fulton, a $1,000 loan was granted H. B. Sowers, treasurer of the league and business manager of the American Issue, the inventory shows.

Gets Two More Loans.

On Nov. 14 Mr. Sowers got another loan for $5,000 and on Nov. 17, one week before the institution ceased business, he got a final loan of $2,000. The Bank of Westerville was the only one in town.

Another sizable debt was that contracted by the Rev. Ernest H. Cherrington, lobbyist for the league and secretary of the World Alliance Against Alcoholism. On Aug. 7 Mr. Cherrington gave his unsecured note for $600, on Sept. 3 for $1,500, and on Nov. 20, the final week of the bank's existence, he got $2,000. His wife, Betty, had previously obtained a loan for $1,000.

Other beneficiaries of the bank's facilities were: The Rev. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, $1,500; the Rev. Howard H. Russell, founder and associate superintendent, $1,485; Anti-Saloon league of New York, $125; Anti-Saloon league of Indiana, $250, and Intercollegiate Prohibition association, $300.

"Unexpected, Shocking Blow."

Confronted by this situation, the league began bombarding its supporters with appeals, of which the following is a specimen:

"Dear comrade in the conflict for amendment 18: A sudden blow has struck; a new, unexpected, shocking blow. The Bank of Westerville has failed.

"Thus our local bank, a reliable resource of the National Anti-Saloon league for twenty years, is in the hands of the state superintendent of

RENEW BATTLE FOR SHANGHAI; GUNS ROCK CITY

Planes Again Bomb Ruins of Chapei.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13.—(Saturday.)—Two hand grenades exploded in the front yard of the Japanese consulate general at 9:20 o'clock this morning. An hour earlier the branch office of the consulate in the Hongkew section was attacked with a similar missile. These acts, it is believed, indicate that many Chinese soldiers in plain clothes have smuggled themselves into the international settlement.

[Copyright: 1932: By the Associated Press.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—The Chapei section of Shanghai was blasted and torn today by howitzer shells and air bombs, and at the conclusion of the bombardment the Japanese command announced that it had succeeded in breaking up a threatening Chinese counter-attack before it got started.

Reports that promising peace negotiations were in progress were blasted as effectively as the Chinese positions in Chapei. Nelson T. Johnson, United States minister to China, whose arrival here with the French and British ministers gave rise to optimistic rumors that a pacific settlement was in the making, said that so far as he knew there were no concrete peace proposals anywhere on the horizon.

Gunfire Rocks City.

The bombardment of Chapei, started by Japanese howitzers in the fog and mist at 8:05 a. m. and followed up by six big air bombers, succeeded in scattering menacing Chinese troop concentrations, the Japanese naval command said.

For a brief period all Shanghai, even to the business district, shook to the heaviest cannonading since the fighting started more than two weeks ago. Then, as the fog cleared away, the Japanese bombers could be seen over Chapei, where, for an hour or so, they searched out their objectives and, as they picked them up, dropped their loads of destruction and death.

The guns and the airplanes awakened Mr. Johnson and his diplomatic colleagues—British Minister Sir Miles Lampson and French Minister Wilden. Each grabbed a telephone and called to his consulate to find out what it was all about.

A Question of "Face."

Mr. Johnson announced that he and the British and French envoys were in Shanghai to learn exact conditions here. The greatest difficulty, he said, would be encountered in endeavoring to arrive at a proposal satisfactory to both sides.

"It is a question of face," he explained. "Neither side wants to lose face. Face is everything in the far east. If any individual or group were capable of formulating some scheme by which faces would be saved all around, then perhaps eventually a way might be opened for talk designed to bring about a cessation of hostilities."

The American minister expected to see Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to China, today or tomorrow. Although not making any positive assertions, he apparently did not believe the Shanghai international settlement to be in any immediate danger.

Planes Head for Woosung.

About 9:30 a. m. the six Japanese bombing planes wheeled to the north toward the Woosung forts, sixteen miles away. Clouds of fog and smoke hung over the Whangpoo river and into these clouds the planes disappeared, leaving Chapei, for a time at least, in quiet.

These Japanese airplanes had got in their work in Chapei as the Chinese waited impatiently for four squadrons of planes coming up from Canton to assist new units of infantry that were being thrown into the line in preparation for the impending Japanese push on Woosung and Chapei.

Before the guns and air bombers got into action this morning there had been several hours of inactivity by both the Chinese and Japanese—an interval of rest after a flurry of firing which started at midnight.

"Mercy" Truce Ended.

A visit to the Japanese positions along the southern and eastern borders of Chapei this morning revealed that the troops were ready for any emergency.

So far as they were concerned yesterday's truce of mercy was a thing of the past, and there was no further talk of armistice.

$50,000 IN BONDS, BELIEVED STOLEN, FOUND IN HOTEL

The mystery of $50,000 worth of negotiable bonds which were found in a loop hotel room was being investigated last night by the detective bureau. At the same time a man, whose name is withheld, was being held incommunicado, and a young woman who was arrested with him was under police surveillance.

Possibility that the securities were used to pay off a kidnaping ransom was suggested as a theory by Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker. He also said the bonds might have been stolen. Both theories are being investigated by him and by the Burns agency. The bonds were of assorted issues, but many were issues of the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Information which led to the seizure of the bonds was reported to have been given Thursday by John E. Earley, head detective of the Palmer house, to Sergts. John Shanahan and William Bergan. They went to the hotel, it was said, and arrested the man, now held, and Miss Sally Wilson, 19 years old, a model, who gave an address in Drexel boulevard. The man disclaimed ownership of the bonds. Miss Wilson was released on $200 cash bond last night. She said she knew nothing of the bonds. Police are seeking two other men.

First Picket Plane Aids in Pilots' Fight

Probably the first case of aerial picketing occurred yesterday at the Chicago airport in behalf of the twenty-two pilots of the Century Air Lines who were discharged when they protested a 40 per cent wage reduction.

Since this layoff, Century has had only one of its routes in operation—the Chicago-St. Louis line—and it has not been on full schedule. Only one ship came into Chicago on this route yesterday and it was the target of the unique picketing.

"Picket Plane" Takes Off.

The plane circled the airport preparatory to a landing late in the afternoon. As it soared over the field for the descent, a Fairchild cabin monoplane took off from below, and gaining altitude rapidly fell into formation alongside the transport. Startled at its proximity, passengers in the Century ship gazed out and saw painted in large white letters on the side of the Fairchild these words: "Century Is Unfair to Pilots."

The picket plane did not interfere with the landing of the transport, according to David Behncke, president of the Air Line Pilots' association, an international organization to which the discharged pilots belonged, and the pilot operating it was not a former Century employé. The "passive resistance" will be continued for the time being, he said.

Qualifying New Pilots.

P. P. Willis, Chicago spokesman for E. L. Cord, president of the Cord corporation, which owns Century Air lines, said yesterday that the company has already employed eleven pilots on the new reduced wage scale. Most of these men are now qualifying on the Chicago-Detroit-Cleveland runs, he said, although only the St. Louis-Chicago line is being operated with passengers. He predicted that within a few days all routes will be operating again.

The pilots have been given assurance of support from the American Federation of Labor in a statement issued in Washington by William Green, president of the federation.

COUNTESS CRIES HER ANGER WHEN DOG LOSES PRIZE

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Countess Ida Marie Von Claussen, who once challenged President Roosevelt to a duel, startled the sensitive ears of a fashionable group at the Westminster Kennel club show in Madison Square Garden today by proclaiming that her toy poodle had been gypped out of its rightful first prize.

When her further protests were ignored, the oft-married heiress flung the second prize ribbon at Walter J. Graham, the judge.

STONE HISTORY TABLET FOUND IN BURIED CITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 12.—Excavators have uncovered in the buried remains of the city Chicen Itza in Yucatan an extensive stone covered space similar to altars found on the uplands of Mexico. The discovery was made in the famous Temple of Warriors and has been given the name of "Table of Merchants."

It is completely covered with the most perfect inscriptions yet found in Yucatan. It is also believed to contain the dates and extensive relations of events that took place many years ago in the famous Toltec-Maya city. The hieroglyphics are filled in with colors which make them stand out boldly.

It has not yet been decided whether the new hieroglyphic tablets belong to the age of Toltec domination or to that of the Itzaes who preceded them. Further excavations will be undertaken in the hope of finding other engraved tablets. One of the explorers said he hoped to find in the ruins of Yucatan cities sufficient tablets to restore the ancient history of Yucatan.

WOMEN SUED BY BUTLER; $100,000; SLANDER, CHARGE

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—An English butler filed a $100,000 slander suit today against a wealthy society matron and her daughter. He charged them with circulating stories that he attempted an attack upon the younger woman.

The butler, William Lawrence Graham, asserted that as a result of stories told by Mrs. Henrietta Ridgely Flick, wife of R. Jay Flick, millionaire manufacturer of 1016 Fifth avenue, and their daughter, Margot, he had been deserted by his parlor maid wife and his standing in the community had been impaired.

Through his attorney Graham said the gossip about his supposed invasion of Miss Margot Flick's bedchamber followed a champagne party in the Flick home at 1016 Fifth avenue. It was held, he said, in celebration of a divorce obtained by a friend of that family.

Red Meeting Disbands as Firemen Bring In Hose

A communist meeting was held last night in the National hall at 3935 Prairie avenue, Brookfield. All went as usual at communist meetings until the leaders announced that a collection was going to be taken up. Then K. W. Hawley, former commander of the American Legion post in Brookfield, who was in the audience, gave a prearranged signal. In walked Chief of Police Fred McDowell, some more policemen and a squad of firemen. The chief announced that unless the meeting was closed at once the firemen would turn a stream of water on them. As the firemen had their hose with them the meeting was adjourned promptly without a collection.

fire could be heard. From positions that had remained virtually unchanged since a few hours after the hostilities began, both Japanese and Chinese riflemen and machine gunners tried to pick off whatever member of the enemy forces raised his head above the sandbags.

Meanwhile things were going on at Woosung. Japanese naval headquarters announced that when the fog curtain lifted over the mouth of the Whangpoo and along the Yangtze estuary the Japanese artillery and machine gunners ashore and the warships off shore resumed firing. Both the village of Woosung and the forts were targets for this new gun activity.

The spokesman at naval headquarters said the cruisers and destroyers participating in the Woosung bombardment were having things just about as they pleased. The ships moved back and forth off the forts, the spokesman said, dropping projectiles in them at will.

Meanwhile, field pieces behind the Japanese lines along the southern shore of Woosung creek poured explosives into the Chinese positions and machine gunners and riflemen along the creek did their part by keeping Chinese heads down.

Claim Chinese Scattered.

The naval command announced that the howitzer shelling and the aerial attack on Chapei which started shortly after 8 a. m, had succeeded in scattering threatening concentrations of Chinese troops.

These troops were massed at points well within Chapei, the Japanese said, and they were accepted as evidence that the Chinese had determined to make a new attack. Bombs and shells put an end to the threat, the naval command declared.

The Japanese spokesman hinted at events to come. Large bodies of Japanese troops, reported to number 20,000, were off Woosung, he said, and "their landing is likely to occur within a few days, and then a Japanese push may be expected." The spokesman explained that the Japanese command considered the time "not yet ripe for a forward movement."

New Area Threatened.

The fighting threatened to break out on a new front as Japanese authorities warned that they would take strong measures in the native city of Nantao, south of the international settlement, if Chinese did not cease sniping at warships on the waterfront. The population grew panicstricken and began moving into the countryside.

If Nantao should be attacked the 50,000 foreigners in the settlement and the millions of dollars invested there would be endangered by hostilities on three sides and confronted by a battle fleet on the fourth.

Dispatches from Honanfu said the government had decided to "continue its present firm attitude toward the Sino-Japanese dispute, especially as regards Shanghai," and to reject tentative Japanese proposals for neutralization and demilitarization of the five principal Chinese ports.

Chinese taxpayers in the international settlement were strongly urged today by the local Kuomintang to cease paying taxes on the ground that the municipal council had failed to uphold the neutrality of the foreign colony and the Japanese had used it as a base of operations.

Britain Sends More Troops.

EVERITT HOME NEAR MELLODY FARM IS LOOTED

Burglars broke into the home of David C. Everitt, on the Mellody road west of Lake Forest, and stole a large amount of silverware, wearing apparel and rugs last night. Several rifles and shotguns also were taken.

Mr. Everitt, who is a wealthy hat manufacturer with business headquarters in Milwaukee, is in New York and the other members of the family are in the south. A caretaker, Dominic Tonozzi, told the Lake Forest police and deputy sheriffs that he went to a picture show at 8 p. m. and returned at 11:30 to discover the theft.

The burglars broke both the front and the rear doors of the house, which is across the road from the former Mellody farm estate of J. Ogden Armour. Among the articles taken was a valuable coonskin coat.

5 Bandits Raid Pharmacy; Rob Clerks and Patrons

Five bandits invaded the Windermere pharmacy at 1636 East 56th street last night, menaced two employés and eight patrons with guns, and escaped with $234 and some jewelry. From the store till the gunmen took $150. M. Sochat, 1642 East 56th street, a patron, lost $70, and F. J. Schulman, 5555 Everett avenue, another customer, gave up $14. Frank Ourada, 5535 Blackstone avenue, the store manager, was robbed of his watch.

THOUSANDS FLEE CHAPEI WAR ZONE UNDER THE TRUCE

Go Into Foreign Area for Protection.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 12. — Thousands of Chinese refugees took advantage of the four hour truce between 8 a. m. and noon today and evacuated the congested sections of the Chapei native area.

Both the Chinese and Japanese forces apparently observed the truce. On a tour of the entire Chinese front lines, many times within a stone's throw of the Japanese barricades, only four or five rifle shots were heard. They were possibly fired by snipers some distance away.

As soon as the armistice was announced thousands of residents who had evacuated rushed back into Chapei with trucks, motor cars, carriages and rickshas to try to salvage their belongings. Where their houses and business properties were destroyed, they helped themselves to the contents of other houses still standing.

Stream Into Foreign Area.

During the period of the truce, the streets leading out of Chapei to the country were solid with people and vehicles, jammed three and four abreast. Because of the military fortifications along the road, the procession was delayed while the stream of human beings and vehicles struggled to extricate itself from traffic tangles.

When the long stream of traffic finally had emerged from the narrow streets and filed into the roads, thousands reëntered sections of the international settlement now guarded by British and American forces.

Although it is believed that hundreds of Chinese snipers and gunmen wearing civilian clothes took advantage of the occasion to enter the foreign areas, the foreign guards made little attempt to prevent entrance, since it was impossible to cope with the crowds. At one place an American marine was knocked down and trampled by the crowd surging across a bridge over Soochow creek.

Thousands Flee to Country.

While many thousands fled to the country, hoping to find refuge in rural villages, more thousands entered the settlement, further congesting the already overcrowded city. The streets are now so packed they are practically impassable.

According to a municipal report today there are now more than 180,000 jobless laborers within the city, and when their funds are exhausted a condition which probably will lead to riots and communistic outbursts will be created.

During the truce period a young Cantonese officer escorted this correspondent along the entire front line positions of the Chinese, which have seen constant fighting in the fifteen days and nights since the original outbreak. At several points the Chinese officer pointed to positions previously held by the Japanese, but now occupied by Chinese troops.

Shell Craters in Streets.

At one place the officer pointed to a huddled form in the roadway between the Chinese and Japanese lines It was the body of a Chinese woman. alleged to have been killed by Japanese rifle fire. For three days the Chinese were unable to remove the body until this morning.

Most of the streets near the Chinese lines are practically impassable due to craters caused by Japanese air bombs. Small lakes have been formed, caused by smashed water mains.

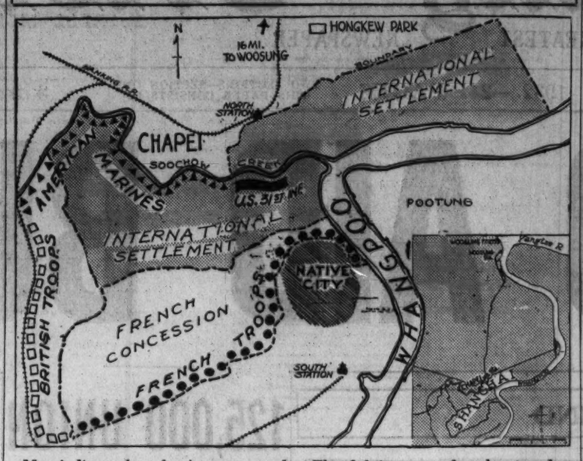
The Chinese troops are provided access to their front line barricades by holes smashed in the walls of houses. On several occasions I crawled through a hole in the wall and found myself within the bedroom of a deserted home, with everything orderly, just as when the family fled several days previously.

Good News for These Pigs.

In one case I entered a courtyard where five pigs were grunting contentedly about, unconcerned by the carnage about them. A Japanese shell had smashed an adjoining granary, providing access to a large stock of rice and wheat.

The truce permitted the Chinese troops to relax behind their sandbag barricades. The ground was covered with bushels of discarded and used cartridge casings. In one place my officer guide cried a warning just in time to keep me from stepping on an unexploded Japanese air bomb which had imbedded itself in an alley way.

AMERICAN FORCES GUARD SHANGHAI



Map indicates how foreign troops and marines are stationed on borders of international settlement and French concession in Shanghai to protect foreign interests as Japanese prepare for great offensive against Chinese. Thousands of civilians were evacuated from the Chapei district, where fighting has centered, during a four hour truce yesterday.

The fighting yesterday threatened to extend to the native city (shown by shaded circle) south of the international settlement, where the Japanese allege Chinese snipers are shooting at Japanese war vessels in the Whangpoo river.

The map inset shows the 16 mile battle front between Shanghai and the Woosung forts to the north.

GERMANY AGREES TO NEW PARLEY ON REPARATIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 12.—Germany and three of her creditors here today adhered to the Franco-British agreement for a new reparations conference of a greatly enlarged scope. Following the accord between Paris and London, Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, and Andre Tardieu, French minister of war, have been rounding up others and tonight indicated that Germany, Belgium, Japan and Italy had signed. Terms of the agreement will be issued tomorrow morning in Paris and London.

As a result the conference that was to have met at Lausanne at the end of January will convene in June, possibly at Lausanne. Everything from an extension of the Hoover moratorium to the entire reparations problem and the causes of the economic depression will be discussed.

The French today demanded to widen the conference discussions. French circles indicated that the principal point of discussion was over the exact term used to describe the moratorium which is expected to succeed the Hoover moratorium. The British wanted to set "permanent settlement" as the objective of the Lausanne conference. The French insisted on a more vague term such as a "durable settlement."

1,800 Chinese Killed at Harbin, Tokio Reports

TOKIO, Feb. 12.—[U. P.]—A total of 1,800 Chinese were killed and 2,000 were wounded during the advance of Japanese troops on the city of Harbin, which they occupied after fighting with the Chinese army of Gen. Ting Chow, regimental reports from Manchuria indicated today.

Half a dozen spectators, one a star Purdue trackman, fell fifteen feet and nearly 100 others were imperiled when the railing of a temporary grand stand gave way last night in the new fieldhouse of the University of Chicago during a track meet.

Only two were injured. They are Herbert Sears, 20 years old, of Indianapolis, sophomore in the school of science, Purdue, and star half-mile track runner, and T. J. McSweeney, a salesman living at the Alvarado hotel, Harper avenue and 63d street. At the Billings Memorial hospital doctors said they had suffered minor bone fractures.

The accident occurred during the meet between Chicago and Purdue, and just before the running of the 60 yard dash. To witness that event better, more than 100 spectators jammed upon the grand stand. Sears, unable to run because of illness, was among them. Suddenly the railing snapped. Sears, McSweeney, and four others lost their balance. The other four delayed their descent by holding and landed on their feet. The races were resumed after a short delay.

CLAIM CHINESE USE U. S. FLAG TO FOOL JAPANESE

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13 (Saturday). —(AP)—Japanese military authorities declared today that a group of Chinese soldiers bearing an American flag crossed Woosung creek in a small boat yesterday and attacked the Japanese positions. The Chinese were repulsed, these authorities said, although the Japanese withheld their fire when they first saw the boat because they were confused at the display of the United States flag.

CHINESE TAKE BIT IN THEIR TEETH; LEAGUE IS ANGRY

Demand Full Assembly to Hear Their Case.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Feb. 13.—(Saturday.)—(AP)—Japan will remain in the league of nations "until driven out," and fight there her case with China, a foreign office spokesman said today, commenting on the prospect of the Sino-Japanese difficulties being brought before the assembly of the league after next week.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 12.—The Chinese went and did it today. Over the pleas and admonitions of all the big powers of the league of nations council, they exercised their right as a member and demanded the convocation of all the league's members in a general assembly to hear their case.

DR. W. W. YEN.

At the eleventh hour they notified the council that they were availing themselves of their privilege, and just as the time limit was expiring. It was a subtly worded note, however. It suggested that as Article XV. of the covenant provides that the council may refer the case to the assembly of its own accord and, if the council did so, the Chinese would withdraw their request.

The council met in a very bad humor this afternoon and decided after two hours of stormy discussion to leave the responsibility of appealing to the assembly for the first time since the foundation of the league squarely up to the Chinese. It so notified Dr. W. W. Yen, Chinese delegate, tonight.

Council Wants Last Try.

But in the hope of finding some solution while the Sino-Japanese war still is its affair, the council tonight bid both parties to appear at a secret session on Monday for a last try.

Dr. Yen and his delegation were subjected to great pressure by the French and English not to set the last and biggest bit of the league's machinery in motion. But they must have had friends somewhere among the smaller powers, who convinced them that the assembly at least would provide a platform for them to address the world if not actually to get a resolution adopted condemning the Japanese. For they went ahead; not, however, without grave misgivings.

But as one of them said tonight:

"We have nothing to lose now, and if we have not very much to gain from the league it is something."

The British put up almost desperate opposition to those council members who wanted the council to call the assembly. There is the best evidence here that they have ceased to regard the Japanese operations as much more than a natural phenomenon with historical precedents and that they are not willing to see the Chinese go on using the league, rendered impotent by the refusal of its chief stockholders to act, to the league's serious discredit.

"The Chinese situation is now very favorable," said one of the Japanese delegation tonight, rubbing his hands.

No Clear Sailing.

Just because they asked to have the assembly convoked the Chinese will not have clear sailing. There are plenty of catches in the rules. The secretariat must ask the members' opinions and 28 of of the 55 must signify their approval. Once assembled it will undoubtedly appoint some kind of committee which in turn will report to the council. Moreover, if the council's viewpoint holds, it is only Shanghai and not Manchuria on which China has appealed to the assembly.

Manchuria still holds to the council under article X. and XI.

JAPAN TO PROPOSE POWERS ASK CHINESE ARMY QUIT SHANGHAI

TOKIO, Feb. 13.—[Saturday]—(AP)—When Lieut. Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, commander of the Japanese army expedition to Shanghai, arrives in the field he will propose that the American, British and French commanders request the Chinese troops to withdraw and permit the establishment of a neutral zone 15 to 20 miles in extent.

Official sources disclosing this plan said today that if the foreign commanders declined the Japanese would demand a Chinese withdrawal within a stated period—which would virtually be an ultimatum.

A foreign office spokesman emphasized that Japan was anxious to have the Shanghai problem settled by international negotiations, the scope of which would be limited to Shanghai alone, excluding Manchuria and the broader issue of the anti-Japanese movement and the boycott.

Tribes Attack British in India; More Than 700 Slain in Clash

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 12. — Viceroy Lord Willingdon of India today sent to London a full report on heavy fighting which broke out at Bannu in the North West Frontier province, with symptomatic repercussions in North Kashmir and Baluchistan last Wednesday.

LORD WILLINGDON [Assoc. Press Photo.]

Military forces are controlling all communications and strictest censorship has been imposed, preventing news of the heavy fighting leaking out until a summary of the viceroy's report was obtained.

More than 12,000 tribesmen using guns and airplanes attacked four battalions of Gurkhas, two battalions of Sikhs, and a battalion of Scottish troops. The tribesmen were aided in the battle by searchlights.

500 Tribesmen Killed.

The engagement lasted from dusk until dawn and ended in the tribesmen's retreat after they were driven from their forts. The British lost two white officers, 14 Indian officers, and 270 men. Eleven officers, 140 infantrymen, and 40 gunners, all white, were wounded. Five hundred A. I tribesmen were killed.

Lord Willingdon reported that the British were unprepared for the onslaught, believing that the concentration of tribesmen was due to a celebration ending the Ramadan fasting period and the Moslem new year.

First, two light airplanes bombed the British outposts at Bannu and the British replied with artillery. A battalion of Sikhs and two battalions of Gurkhas advanced, but at midnight the tribesmen suddenly turned on searchlights from the hills and opened steady artillery and machine gun fire. Aerial bombs were also dropped.

British Troops in Flight.

The Sikh and Gurkha troops broke and the tribesmen, led by former officers of the former imperial Ottoman army, now in the pay of Afridi chieftains, captured the British outposts.

The tribal batteries were silenced at dawn, while highlanders and Gurkhas recaptured the outposts under the protection of tanks and airplanes. A number of Turks were discovered among the dead.

At the same time Baluchistan natives suddenly attacked Dera Ghazi Khan in the Punjab with the help of exiled Afghan supporters of former King Amanullah. The tribal attack was repelled after six hours of steady fighting.

Tribesmen participated in another attack at Hunza in Kashmir. Troops of the maharajah, Sir Hari Singh, the famous "Mr. A." of a London blackmail scandal some years ago, fled, and British troops are being rushed from Sialkot and Secunderabad northward. Two British battalions are leaving Egypt and another detachment is sailing from Malta in response to the viceroy's appeal for more white troops.

CHINESE BATTLE OVER U. S. WHEAT; ONE SLAIN, 5 SHOT

SHANGHAI, Feb. 13 (Saturday).—(AP)—American wheat intended for Chinese flood sufferers was the cause of a bloody fight today on the Shanghai docks. Coolies working on the docks have been doing a big clandestine business in whatever wheat they could lay their hands on. An attempt was made to stop their activities and they attacked a group of Chinese detectives placed on guard over the wheat. One guard was killed and five were wounded.

5 Nations Meet in Hungary to Fix Economic Union

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Meeting under the auspices of the Hungarian group of the Pan-European commission, representatives of Hungary, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania gathered here today to discuss the possibilities of closer economic coöperation. Their deliberations were not public. The conference will close tomorrow.

SENATE, HOUSE BODIES REPORT CREDIT AID BILL

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Glass-Steagall currency bill for emergency liberalization of federal reserve bank credit terms was unanimously reported from the senate and house banking committees today and scheduled for action in both houses next week.

At a hearing by the house committee various reasons were advanced by administration officials for seeking the legislation. Gov. Eugene Meyer of the federal reserve board said member banks of the reserve system hold 3½ billions of prime paper eligible to rediscount, but are afraid to put it to credit use so long as there is danger of depositors demanding their deposits. The provision of the bill for loans to the banks on their notes would operate to loosen this volume of credit, he thought.

Sees Aid for Banks.

"Many banks have failed because of unliquidity," said Mr. Meyer. "This bill will stop them from failing from that cause. It will not stop failures because of insolvency."

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills told the committee the legislation would release 750 millions of gold now held inactive in the reserve system because of lack of paper presented for rediscount. Senator Glass said the amount is 465 millions.

While the bill was being advanced through the committee stage there were rumblings in the lobbies of discord in the coalition of the Hoover administration and the Democratic leaders sponsoring the measure.

Views of Democrats.

According to the Democrats, the bill was conceived in an effort on the part of the administration to extricate itself from a tight place into which it was maneuvered by the French government.

For months the federal reserve authorities have been in a state of high nervous tension over the threats of the Bank of France and other French banking interests to withdraw the gold and deposits to their credit in this country which aggregate about 600 millions of dollars. It was feared that a "run" on America's stock of gold, although it is nearly half the world's supply, might force the United States off the gold standard.

Hand of French Seen.

Administration officials have professed to see in the raids on the dollar by French banking interests the hand of the French government. The French withdrawal of several hundred millions of dollars in gold from the United States last fall on the eve of Premier Laval's visit to Washington was attributed to a design on the part of the French government to put President Hoover in a sufficiently humble frame of mind to accede to what M. Laval came to get.

Again, when the French banks began several weeks ago the withdrawal of 125 millions of earmarked gold in the Federal Reserve bank of New York, the move was attributed by administration officials to a desire of the French government to frighten the administration into a modification of its refusal to join in the conferences on revision of reparations and war debts.

Claim Fear of Inflation.

From Paris emanated denials of these accusations together with explanations that the French gold withdrawals were the result of fears that the Hoover administration was entering upon a policy of inflation which would depreciate the dollar. Mr. Hoover's proposals for liberalization of reserve bank rediscounts, which were somewhat similar to the bill that has now materialized, were cited as an example of the inflation which European bankers feared might end in America being forced off the gold standard.

Whatever were the real motives of the French, the withdrawals of gold from the United States were an important factor in the Hoover-Laval conferences. M. Laval got what he came for, which was a promise by Mr. Hoover to give the French a free hand in dealing with reparations and not to butt in again with anything like his moratorium proposal without consulting Paris. In return M. Laval agreed that there would be no further withdrawals of gold by France from the United States except under agreement between the Bank of France and the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

This agreement had already been entered into by George Harrison, governor of the New York Reserve bank, and representatives of the Bank of France, who had come to America in advance of M. Laval. Now, in assenting to this agreement, the French negotiators, according to the Democratic versions of the incident, completely bamboozled Gov. Harrison and Gov. Eugene Meyer of the federal reserve board.

There was at the time in the New York reserve bank 125 millions of gold earmarked for the Bank of France. Recently the French bank began withdrawing this earmarked gold in ten installments. The French took the position that the agreement did not cover earmarked gold. At the same time the French bank began turning deposits into earmarked gold which can be withdrawn eventually without reference to the agreement. Thus it falls out that the agreement is a scrap of paper. The French can withdraw their deposits at will by first converting them into earmarked gold.

Millions Above Requirements.

Thus the danger of another French raid on the dollar still remains. But there are in the federal reserve system 465 millions of gold over and above the 40 per cent reserve requirements. The Glass bill would operate to release this gold for credit uses. With this gold released the French can be told to take home their entire 600 million of deposits if they want to. This according to the Democrats, is the object of the administration move for this legislation.

Administration officials deny that this is the purpose, asserting that the sole object is to "give greater flexibility to federal reserve operations."

The senate committee amended the Glass bill somewhat. The loans to groups of member banks on their notes are to be made "provided such banks have no adequate amount of assets to obtain sufficient accommodation through rediscounts by federal reserve banks." Section 2 of the bill providing for loans to banks having no assets eligible to discount is to be confined to banks of a capital of $500,000 or less.

Senator Glass asserted that inflationist provisions in the bill prepared by the administration have been eliminated. He thinks that aside from releasing free gold the legislation will not be invoked to any appreciable extent for the reason that the banks hold 3 billions of commercial paper eligible to rediscount and 5½ billions of government securities. Only 91 of the 7,599 member banks are without eligible paper and therefore properly subject to relief under the terms of the bill. In the Chicago district only five of the 955 member banks are without such paper.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, president of the reconstruction finance corporation, urged the legislation upon the house banking committee, insisting on talking behind closed doors. In sulphurous language and with much desk pounding he told the committee the time had come for congress to take orders from the administration to save the country.

FRENCH DEPUTIES PASS BILL FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Measure Must Still Face Senate.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The thirty-year battle for woman suffrage in France advanced a step today when a majority in the chamber of deputies adopted the sweeping electoral reform bill which enfranchises women and gives them the right to serve in the chamber on the same basis as men.

But the measure must still come before the senate which in past years has always defeated similar efforts. This time the suffrage leaders plan to put up a strong fight in the upper house.

Last Minute Amendment.

The woman suffrage section of the bill was tacked on as a last-minute amendment to the hotly contested measure which would put an end to the second ballot in elections to the chamber, used now when the leading candidate on the first ballot fails to get a clear majority. Under the new measure a plurality would elect.

"We're extremely happy over today's vote," said Marie Verone, one of the leading women lawyers of Paris. "It is significant because the senate, which has refused since 1926 even to discuss the question of enfranchising women, now will have to take action. What the result will be in the senate we don't know but we feel we have a chance."

So angry were the socialists and the radical-socialists at the suppression of the second ballot that 200 of them walked out of the chamber, following Edouard Herriot, the former premier.

Movement Begun in 1900.

One of them said later that they made that dramatic move so that the country would know they had no part in the adoption of the bill. Their action was not induced by the woman suffrage provision, he said, and the members will return on Monday.

The woman suffrage movement began in France about 1900, and Susan B. Anthony was a leader of the campaign. It made slow progress until recent years when the women became better organized.

In 1919 the chamber passed its first measure giving women the vote, but it was defeated in the senate. Since then the chamber has passed the bill several times, and each time the senate has killed it.

Spouts Into Air

A 36 inch water main burst last night at 22d and Loomis streets, close to the scene of the sanitary district tunnel disaster last summer. The broken main sent a fountain of water six feet into the air and flooded 22d street, stopping automobile and street car traffic for a distance of several blocks from the break.

DRUGGAN STILL ILL; IS GRANTED WEEK'S DELAY

Terry Druggan, who is under sentence of two and one half years for income tax fraud, was given another week's respite from his trip to Leavenworth penitentiary by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday. Druggan was scheduled to go to prison a week ago when his former partner in the beer business, Frankie Lake, went to serve an eighteen months' term.

Dr. Louis Schmidt again appeared for Druggan, and stated, under questioning, that his patient is still suffering with acute prostatitis and that it would be inadvisable for him to make the trip at this time. He said that "in all likelihood" Druggan could make the trip next Friday. The former beer baron is under guard of deputy marshals at St. Luke's hospital.

Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday indicated that he would enter an order today authorizing the removal of Philip D'Andrea, bodyguard to Al Capone, from the county jail to a hospital for an operation for hernia. D'Andrea has served three months of a six months' term for contempt of court.

One Is Killed, 30 Injured as Bus Sideswipes Pole

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 12.—(AP)—A woman was injured fatally, ten other persons hurt less seriously and 20 others suffered bruises and shock late today in the crash of a city transit bus which sideswiped an iron pole in an attempt to pass a street car. Amelia Risch, 25, died of a fractured skull several hours after the accident. Ten other persons remained in hospitals. Police charged the bus driver, George C. Mortan, 34, with manslaughter.

TWO HELD AS AUTO THIEVES.

CHICAGO GROUP TOLD U. S. MUST SLASH EXPENSES

Bureau Growth Assailed by Senator Glenn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Unless the growth of bureaus, commissions and similar activities of the government is stopped, there is a question whether the "government can continue as a government," Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] told representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Illinois Manufacturers' association tonight.

THOMAS S. HAMMOND.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Senator Glenn addressed the business men at a dinner arranged to bring together representatives of Illinois' industry and the state's representatives in congress to discuss issues dealing with the economic situation. Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.] and nearly all of the Illinois delegation in the house were present.

"We are impressed with the sincerity of you business men," Senator Glenn stated, after George W. Rosseter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, had voiced a plea on behalf of the manufacturers for drastic reductions in governmental costs. "We are also impressed with the seriousness of the situation.

Retrenchment Held Vital.

"No matter how unpleasant it may be for us to consider the prospect of cutting government budgets, I am certain that it must be done. The government must undertake retrenchment just as private industry has undertaken retrenchment," said Senator Glenn.

Thomas S. Hammond, vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, told the legislators that "unless real economy and deflation in expenditures is seriously undertaken by all governmental agencies, the present crisis will be rendered more acute and business recovery indefinitely retarded."

"In this emergency," he declared, "it is the manifest duty of every citizen and group to abandon hobbies which they have promoted at the expense of the taxpayers and to forego the benefits which may have resulted to them from special projects or services which have been engaged in by the government and which are not definitely essential to the proper functioning of the government at this time."

Tax Increase Opposed.

Mr. Hammond protested against the tax program which he said would impose a large proportion of the burden upon the manufacturing industry in the form of an increase in the present rates on corporate incomes as well as in the form of sales taxes that will "burden and retard the flow of manufactured goods."

The manufacturers' association also opposed the federal relief legislation expected to come to a vote in the senate next Monday. In a statement submitted by John L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the association, it was held that federal relief was unnecessary since present provisions for relief have proved adequate.

Other Leaders in Party.

In addition to Mr. Hammond and Mr. Donnelly, others in the delegation were George Rosetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce; Col. Isham Randolph, former president of the association; Harold C. Smith, executive chairman of the commerce association; Benjamin F. Affleck, president of the Universal Atlas Cement company, and D. A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company.

SEIZED AS SLAYER AFTER 29 YEARS OF RESPECTABLE LIFE

Columbia, Mo., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—George Presnell, 59, wanted since 1903 at Bakersville, N. C., on a charge of murder, was arrested last night at Prathersville, near here, where he had lived for 29 years as a respected citizen under the alias of George Miller.

He is charged with slaying Louis Buchanan, a farmer, stabbed to death in a fight over Presnell's first wife.

Leaving Bakersville after the stabbing, Presnell said he went to Oklahoma and later came to Columbia. He remarried in 1908. He served as justice of the peace and was a juror in two murder trials, in one of which the defendant was sentenced to hang.

CALL DELEGATES TO GENEVA HOME, BRITTEN DEMAND

Claims Arms Parley Has Already Failed.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Immediate recall of the American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference was demanded today by Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], ranking minority member of the house naval affairs committee. Mr. Britten asserted the proposals for naval limitation thus far submitted by the powers were so ridiculous the parley was certain to fail.

"The disarmament conference," Mr. Britten said, "will end in a fizzle. We might as well save all we can out of the extravagant appropriation voted to defray the delegation's expenses. This is no time to waste money chasing rainbows. I suggest we bend our energies toward the building of a navy that will insure peace even if the balance of the world becomes enmeshed in the present unholy slaughter in Asia."

Cites Discord of Proposals.

The Britten attack on the conference was occasioned by the character of the disarmament proposals. He asserted each nation made suggestions which it knew in advance would not be acceptable to other powers. He pointed to the European move to reduce battleship sizes and thus injure American naval defenses.

"Opening speeches by delegates representing seven of the world's most important governments show the widest possible range of discord between them," Mr. Britten said.

"If French diplomats know anything at all, they must understand the American opposition to any form of international dictation by the league of nations, and yet they have seriously proposed a treaty whereby all capital fighting ships of the world, all heavy artillery and all fighting aircraft should be placed at the disposal of the league of nations.

Aircraft Proposals Cited.

"All aircraft should be directly controlled by the league and no large civil aircraft capable of carrying torpedoes or bombs should be constructed without first obtaining the league's permission to do so. The Belgian delegate has indorsed the French position and so will her other political allies.

"The Japanese delegate has proposed a reduction in the size of aircraft carriers and the Italian delegate has proposed to abolish them entirely, while Great Britain, Japan, and Italy favor abolishing the heavy hitting, long range battleships, our greatest offensive and defensive weapon.

Spain Urges World Abolish All Offensive Armaments

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Feb. 12.—The anxiety of the world disarmament conference bureau to get as many countries as possible to speak today strengthened the theory that efforts will be made to mark time until March 22 when the conference will adjourn for Easter unless it is decided to rush through a treaty merely humanizing war.

It is considered highly possible that the conference will not reconvene and get its teeth into the real issues until after the French and German elections, or sometime in June.

Spain Has Bold Scheme.

The young Spanish republic today proposed a bold scheme calling for almost total disarmament with a reinforced framework of international obligations.

"Such an organization is inconceivable except on a universal basis," said the scholarly minister of foreign affairs, Luis de Zulueta, "and until the United States and the soviets become members of the league it is difficult to imagine how total disarmament can be brought about."

Zulueta referred to Spain's slashing reductions of her forces and the articles of her constitution by which she not only renounces war, but agrees to embody all principles of universal law in her own. He said that in view of the fact that time for almost total disarmament has not arrived, "this old country, alive with a new spirit whose interests are universal but not material," wants to abolish all offensive arms, including warships of over 10,000 tons, submarines of more than 1,000 tons and military aviation.

Czechs Back French Proposals.

The Czechs, through Eduard Benes, foreign minister, said they are willing to accept the French proposal to arm the league of nations and any others that are free of suspicion to get results. Benes expressed the hope that after the disarmament treaty is signed, the powers will get together and settle the problems that are "poisoning Europe."

The Danes declared that modern civilization is on the verge of an abyss and backed most of the measures thus far presented that seem to make a partial solution possible.

Woman Who 'Arrested' 2 Cops Is Seized Herself

Last May Mrs. Allen R. Bray, 401 Washington avenue, Glencoe, wife of a Chicago broker, was driving in Evanston when at Sheridan road and Foster street a police flivver drove through a red traffic light across the path of her car. She overhauled the police car and demanded that the occupants, Patrolmen Henry Engstrom and Henry Dricker, go to the police station with her. They were reprimanded by their superiors. Yesterday Mrs. Bray visited the station again, this time as a prisoner. Police charged that she was speeding at the rate of 38 miles an hour on South boulevard. She posted a $25 bond.

ENDS LIFE WITH POISON.

Al Chovin, 47 years old, 5821 Winthrop avenue, committed suicide last night by swallowing poison. Relatives told police he had frequent delusions that he suffered from an incurable disease.

HORNER URGES GROUPING OF 4 COUNTY COURTS

Consolidation of the Probate, County, Superior, and Circuit courts of Cook county into one court of general jurisdiction was urged in an address last night by Probate Judge Henry Horner before members of the Illinois County and Probate Judges association meeting at the Palmer house.

"The present system of courts in Cook county leads to inefficiency and delay," declared Judge Horner. "All the functions of the various courts should be harmonized in one court of general jurisdiction."

Other speakers during the day urged the abolition of the Circuit court and the extension of the powers of the County and Probate courts in all Illinois counties. All were unanimous in urging a simplification of the state judicial system.

"There is no need for the Circuit court," declared County Judge Alfred Isaac of Carlinville. "The ideal would be one court of universal jurisdiction. That, however, is somewhat too radical for us to consider at this time. The next best substitute would be the abolition of the Circuit court and an extension of the powers of the County court, with as many judges in each county as might be necessary."

125,000 BUILDING TRADESMEN TAKE 20% CUT IN PAY

Hope to Bring About New Construction.

Called "Forward Looking."

Oscar W. Rosenthal, president of the Builders' association of Chicago, described the agreement as a "forward looking action" and added:

"This should have a decided effect on business. Efficiency of labor is high and building costs should now be attractive to the public."

George W. Griffiths of John Griffiths & Son, general contractors for the Chicago postoffice, the Merchandise mart, the Civic Opera house and other large buildings, asserted that the union heads and workers should be congratulated on their foresight.

Edward Haupt, president of the Strobel Construction company, pointed out that this was the first occasion on which Chicago labor in the building trades had taken the lead in such a movement, asserting it was much to their credit and called it a "new era in the building industry."

Congratulates Organized Labor.

Edward M. Craig, business manager of the Building Construction Employers' association, said:

"Organized labor should be congratulated for recognizing the necessity for voluntarily accepting a reduction, particularly as the present wage scale has so long to run. This action should be greatly appreciated by the building public. I believe it will encourage a modernizing campaign and center attention on slum rehabilitation."

Last year only $46,000,000 in building permits were taken out in Chicago, the smallest amount since the war year 1918. In 1926 the value of the buildings for which permits were issued exceeded $366,000,000. As a consequence of the falling off in construction upward of 80 per cent of the men in the building trades have been out of work for a whole year.

Negotiations had been in progress for the cut for several weeks. It had been proposed that the cut should be 25 per cent or even more. The first proposal of the labor leaders was a 10 per cent slash and further conferences of the various unions were needed before the larger cut was taken.

FIGHT OVER JOBS

An interstate competition for jobs has been created by the depression in Kenosha and Waukegan, according to William Pocklington, member of the Lake county board of supervisors from Benton township. He charged yesterday that Lake county workers who are employed in Kenosha and other neighboring Wisconsin cities have been discharged because they did not live in that state and their places filled by Wisconsin residents.

The assertion was made to Theodore Blech, district manager of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and president of the Waukegan and North Chicago Chamber of Commerce, with the demand that the chamber of commerce urge Illinois merchants and manufacturers to deal similarly with any employés who live in Wisconsin. Supervisor Pocklington asserted that the county expenditures for charity could be substantially cut by the adoption of the measure by Waukegan employers.

"I personally know of two men who have lost their jobs in Kenosha for no reason other than that they live in Illinois. But when I went over to the Johns-Manville factory in Waukegan yesterday I counted 17 cars parked in front with Wisconsin licenses. Illinois employers should retaliate by following the example of the Kenosha factory owners."

Showmen Hold Annual Memorial Rites Tomorrow

The Showmen's League of America will hold its annual memorial services in Woodlawn cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be held at Showmen's Rest, where the bodies of many circus performers and show people rest. Showmen will gather at the Hotel Sherman and proceed by automobile to the cemetery.

TORTURE INQUIRY BEGUN IN KEGEL POISON CHARGE

Former Official's Indicted Wife Still Missing.

Mrs. Marie Sahlin Kegel, against whom an indictment has been returned on a charge of attempted murder by poison, remained hid yesterday as State's Attorney Swanson ordered an inquiry on charges by Gerald Lee, principal witness in the alleged poison plot, that the testimony on which the indictment was secured had been extorted from him by torture. Mrs. Kegel was reported to be suffering a nervous breakdown in a sanitarium near Chicago.

GERALD LEE.

Her attorney, Leo A. O'Reilly, said she might surrender today or Monday and post the $50,000 bond set. He declared the charges against Mrs. Kegel to be false and said he would demand an early trial to clear his client.

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, former city health commissioner, husband of Mrs. Kegel, refused to discuss the case. He said Mrs. Mary Ryan, 35 years old, formerly a domestic in the Kegel home at 429 Briar place, the alleged victim of the poison plot, "had suffered enough." He said he didn't know where his estranged wife was.

Finds Mercury Poisoning.

Mrs. Ryan is now in the John B. Murphy hospital, being treated by Dr. William D. McNally, former coroner's chemist and former toxicologist of the health department under Dr. Kegel. Dr. McNally reported that she is recovering, but she cannot be seen by investigators for several days. His analysis has revealed bichloride of mercury as the poison from which she is suffering.

The indictment was voted against Mrs. Kegel and Lee Thursday. It was returned almost immediately in the absence of Chief Justice Harry Fisher before Judge Rudolph F. Desort. The hurried return of the indictment was explained by J. Kent Greene, head of the indictment department of the state's attorney's office at the request of prosecutors so that Lee might be released on bond and that a capias could be issued for Mrs. Kegel.

Lee, who is a grocery clerk, was freed on a bond of $5,000. Following his released he retracted the story given to Prosecutors Charles E. Lounsbury and Charles A. Mueller. Through Attorney Jerome F. Kutak, Lee said he had been beaten before he gave his story and was threatened with further beatings unless he gave the story as evidence to the grand jury.

Denies Prisoner Was Beaten.

Prosecutor Lounsbury denied the truth of Lee's charges. He said Lee told a straightforward story before two disinterested witnesses, that he had seen Mrs. Kegel put a white powder in a glass of soda water which Mrs. Ryan drank in a drug store at Broadway and Irving Park boulevard Jan. 25.

Attorney Kutak said he is prepared to show by two witnesses and a record that Lee was not in the drug store at the time the poison was alleged to have been given.

State's Attorney Swanson announced that an impartial investigation will be made of the charges and the entire plot. He is to have Lee examined by physicians to determine whether he was beaten and will question prosecutors on the conduct of the inquiry.

Prosecutors in denying Lee's charges pointed to his identification by Mrs. Ryan as the man who sat with her and Mrs. Kegel at the drug store table and who remained there while Mrs. Ryan went to the cigar counter for cigarets for Mrs. Kegel. When she returned Mrs. Ryan was asked by Mrs. Kegel "to stir her soda, as the best part was on the bottom," prosecutors said.

Tells of Meeting.

Mrs. Ryan has declared she met Mrs. Kegel at the corner of Irving Park boulevard and Broadway near the drug store at Mrs. Kegel's request. With Mrs. Kegel, she said, was Lee, whom she knew as a grocery clerk who delivered liquor as a sideline.

The meeting was suggested by Mrs. Kegel, according to Mrs. Ryan, to urge her not to appear as a witness in the divorce action brought by Dr. Kegel last October. Dr. Kegel's bill charges his wife, a graduate chemist, with attempting to poison him. The Kegels were divorced previously on his charges of cruelty, but were reconciled and remarried last spring.

Mrs. Ryan had been expected to testify in the divorce proceedings that Mrs. Kegel administered small doses of chloral hydrate to her husband in coffee, according to the prosecutors. At various times Mrs. Ryan said she saw Mrs. Kegel pour "medicine" from a small vial into Dr. Kegel's drinks.

At the drug store conference Mrs. Ryan said she told Mrs. Kegel she had made up her mind to tell the truth. After the conference broke up Mrs. Ryan said she began to feel ill and two days later, Jan. 27, summoned Dr. Kegel.

According to her story of the doctor's visit, Dr. Kegel asked her almost immediately whether she had been poisoned. He had brought a stomach pump with him. She was taken to the hospital and Dr. McNally summoned.

Chicago Girl to Wed Man She Shot

MISS ALICE SILVERTHORNE.

RAYMOND VINCENT DE TRAFFORD.

ADMITS SHE WILL WED BRITON SHE SHOT IN FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 13.—[Saturday.]—Alice Silverthorne, formerly of Chicago, today announced that she will shortly become the bride of Raymond Vincent De Trafford, wealthy Briton whom she shot and seriously wounded in France in 1927. Miss Silverthorne, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Silverthorne of Riverside, Ill., and a niece of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, was tried by a Paris court for shooting the young Briton, but escaped with a fine when De Trafford refused to testify against her.

Her forthcoming marriage is the culmination of a romance which began when Miss Silverthorne was the wife of Count de Janze, which was marked by her shooting De Trafford and then turning the gun on herself. She was divorced from De Janze shortly afterward. Marriage banns were published yesterday in the mairie of Neuilly, where Miss Silverthorne lives.

"Yes, it is true we are to be married, but I can say little more than that about it," Miss Silverthorne said today. "We only decided to be married a few days ago. I must consult Raymond before I'll be able to say just where and when the wedding will take place. He's in Paris now."

THREE SAVE TRIO FROM DROWNING; TWO OTHERS DIE

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Three young Vancouver men were revealed today as rescuers of a man and two boys in the cold waters of Burrard inlet. Another man and a boy were drowned when their rowboat foundered last night.

Peeling to the bare skin after a cry for help, Calvin Walker, 21, swam 50 yards and rescued Donald Joplin, 11, and Tony Fial, 28. He made a futile effort to rescue the latter's brother, Frank Fial, 23. Herb Giddings and Reg Smith plunged fully clothed into the inlet and saved Tony Ryan, 13.

Giddings grabbed for Eric McDowell, 12, as he sank for the third time, but his numbed fingers slipped away. The three suvivors, paralyzed with cold, were released today after spending the night in a hospital.

POPE PIUS PRAYS FOR 'RETURN OF PEACE TO EARTH'

Thousands Cheer as He Speaks in Cathedral.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Pope Pius seized upon the tenth anniversary of his coronation today to further the cause of peace.

Speaking before thousands in St. Peter's, the pontiff said he hoped his words would be "comfort and consolation" and that all would be with him in prayers that "the Supreme Lord of all things earthly should cause peace to return to the earth."

It was the second time within a week the pontiff had referred to turbulence in the world. On Monday he sent a message to preachers of the Catholic church urging them to convey a Lenten message of optimism in the crisis of unemployment, struggle and suffering.

"An Anguished Time."

Today Pope Pius said the present was a time of "an anguished search for peace, and for means to ensure it."

The scene was an impressive one. The pope was carried in solemn procession from his apartments by 16 red-clad attendants, and as he arrived at St. Peter's, escorted by Swiss guards, noble guards, prelates and cardinals in purple, thousands cheered and shouted, "Viva il papa."

At the end of the ceremony, Pope Pius gave his benediction and was borne back through the shouting audience. Tonight messages of congratulations, including one from the king and queen of Italy, were pouring in on the Vatican.

Hurls Envelope at Pope.

Some excitement was created while the pope was proceeding up the aisle of the church when an elderly man advanced into the aisle as the pope neared the great altar and tossed an envelope toward him, shouting: "I ask a grace." The guards around the portable throne immediately surrounded the man and took him away.

Pius wore a white cassock, and in vivid contrast to it a red mantle, embroidered in gold and studded with jewels. On his head was the jeweled tiara, or triple crown.

Ambassadors and ministers of 33 nations who have formal relations with the vatican sat in the diplomats' benches. Students of the American college in Rome and the college for Latin Americans were present also.

IRELAND THINKS COSGRAVE MAY LOSE IN ELECTION

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Political observers were inclined generally to the belief today that President Cosgrave's government party stood a chance to lose its slender margin of power in the general elections next Tuesday.

Eamon De Valera, Republican leader, said he was told it would be a "landslide," but he said he was not overconfident. De Valera's chief of staff hoped for a Republican victory, he said, and felt that the party would be the largest in the new dail, but without an independent majority.

He said he was looking for a Labor-Republican alliance, which would mean a Republican government with Labor "applying the brake."

COMMITTEE JOBS DRAW AVALANCHE OF CANDIDATES

Some Mixup Caused by New Ward Boundaries.

A small avalanche of petitions for ward committeemen poured out of the mail sack in County Clerk Sweitzer's office yesterday on first day of filing. Competition among the Republicans is stronger than ever this year, while among the Democrats half a dozen hot fights are in the bag. In the 37th ward, T. J. Crowe, recently convicted of conspiracy in the sanitary pay roll cases, filed for Democratic committeeman, and fourteen others also filed.

Last day of filing is March 3, and some of the group slates are being held back. The lists printed below give the candidates of each ward in order of filing. The new ward lines have mixed up the present committeemen somewhat, and two new wards have contests between two Republican committeemen from old wards.

THE REPUBLICAN LIST

Second—*Louis B. Anderson, Jacob R. Tipper, Atlas J. Saunders, and William E. King.
Third—*Oscar De Priest.
Fourth—*Charles Krutckoff and Berthold A. Cronson.
Fifth—Charles Scribner Eaton, *John Leonard East, William Billings Gemmill, and Louis Christian.
Sixth—*Bernard W. Snow, Patrick Sheridan Smith, Joseph K. King, Edward Schwartz, and James F. Kearney.

WILEY, HOME BREWING JANITOR'S DEFENDER, TO RUN FOR CONGRESS

C. L. WILEY.

Charles L. Wiley, the American Legion member who was held to the federal grand jury when he asked leniency for Boleslaw Lidikewicz in the "home brew" case before Federal Judge John P. Barnes last November, announced his candidacy for congressman from the 7th district. Mr. Wiley, who lives at 3901 North Kimball avenue, will seek the Republican nomination in the coming primary as a means of vindication, he said.

Wiley's platform advocates repeal of the 18th amendment, no appropriations for prohibition enforcement, investigation of the prohibition service and investigation to determine what power is exerted on the government by dry organizations in obtaining appointment of dry judges and prosecutors.

Lidikewicz was the janitor of the building in which Wiley lived. Last spring Lidikewicz was arrested by prohibition agents, who entered his basement apartment without a search warrant and threw him in jail when they found a quantity of home made beer. Wiley defended the janitor before Judge Barnes, saying he had made beer only for himself and for a gathering of Legion men. Wiley was then held to the grand jury, but the case was not pressed.

DRY LEAGUE, HIT BY DEPRESSION, PLEADS FOR AID

Financial Woes Worry Its Leaders.

banks. It is now in process of liquidation.

"Not much will be lost in deposits, but the league, after deeply cutting expenses, has required some very large loans. They must be paid as they come due.

"We no longer deal with old time friends. Several notes have been rediscounted to outside banks which will also demand full payment at maturity.

Says Credit Is in Peril.

"Our league's credit is in peril. We turn for relief to you and other faithful friends. Our league's obligations, incurred in hard times, must be promptly met. What if this is not done? It would mean litigation and publicity with disastrous results. There's only one way. All must unite in sacrifice. We dare not fail.

"In view of this emergency, won't you kindly send by first mail a special offering in addition to your regular gifts to the state or national league?

"Please send just as large a check as you can, payable either to the Anti-Saloon League of America or to Harry B. Sowers, treasurer, in the inclosed envelope.

"Do not put this off. Do not fail to send something. We know you will do your best. Dr. McBride and Dr. Cherrington join me in this request. Please reply by return mail."

Founder Signs Letter.

The letter was signed by the league founder, Dr. Russell. To ascertain the cause of his apparent anxiety, an inquiry was undertaken at the league's various offices, which are scattered here and there along the quiet streets and which form the principal industry of this hamlet of 3,000.

The first inquiry was directed to the league headquarters, housed in a gray and dilapidated dwelling, whose living rooms and bedrooms are now crowded with desks and musty filing cases and whose walls are adorned with portraits of the apostles of prohibition, Pussyfoot Johnson, the Rev. Ernest C. Dinwiddie, Dr. George Doran, Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews and Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock.

Samuel Fickel, managing editor of the American Issue, an individual with steel rimmed spectacles and the countenance of a Savonarola, could supply no information, and suggested a trip across the street to a brick house, where, it appeared, Mr. Sowers held forth. The league treasurer adjusted his black tie in the niche of his collar, straightened the exposed papers on his desk and began unrolling his umbrella. A thunderstorm had broken outside, shutting off the lights, and the downpour caused a vapor to form on the office windows.

Mr. Sowers Noncommittal.

Would Mr. Sowers clarify the reference to "disastrous publicity" in Dr. Russell's letter?

"Draw your own conclusions," he said. Would he be willing to reveal the disbursement made of the loans procured by the league in three months before the bank closed?

"What does any business do with loans?" he demanded.

The inquirer suggested salaries, operating expenses and lobbying expenses as a plausible use for the loans. Mr. Sowers was noncommittal.

Would he, then, produce the last financial statement of the league, a statement such as the league might supply to its contributors.

"We don't supply such statements to our contributors unless they ask for it," he asserted. "There's one on file in our office at Washington if you want to go there and get it."

League to Pay, Founder Says.

The quest led to the home of Dr. Russell, an imposing brick and stucco structure on the borders of the local school of the United Brethren Otterbein college. Dr. Russell, a spry man despite his 70 years, was whacking croquet balls around the lawn.

"Did some one from the league send you here?" he asked, apprehensively. "Whom did you see down at headquarters?" Informed that the inquiry merely concerned the Westerville bank loans, the league finances and his own letter, Dr. Russell agreed to answer questions when the croquet game was over.

"The loans," he said, "will be paid. I don't know whether you can understand my language, but I have felt since I founded the league forty years ago that its welfare was in the hands of Him above. Divine guidance will not fail us now, for the great work is not yet accomplished."

Reporter Finds Speakeasy.

The reporter bid Dr. Russell adieu and strolled down to the main street, formed by the Three C's highway, over which the liquor trucks roll nightly on the route from Cleveland to Columbus and Cincinnati. In an alley behind the postoffice he found a speakeasy whose proprietor served every third drink on the house with a ribald toast to the Anti-Saloon league.

GLENN INDORSED FOR HIS STAND ON PROHIBITION

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] received a telegram today from representatives of practically all Republican groups in Chicago indorsing him for renomination, particularly because of his stand on prohibition, the world court, and retrenchment of government expenditures. The telegram follows:

"We, the undersigned, feel that your stand on the prohibition question, world court, and league of nations, reduction of government expenditures, and all the splendid work that you are doing in Washington is of such tremendous importance to the United States that you should not be taken away from it at this time. We pledge you on behalf of the organizations we represent in Cook county that your interests as a candidate for reelection will be our greatest concern. We feel that you can safely remain at your post of duty and allow not only us and our organizations, but all of the patriotic citizens of Chicago to see that you are triumphantly renominated."

MRS. QUINN FILES FOR G. O. P. PLACE IN 41ST WARD

Mrs. Mary Berkemeier Quinn doesn't see why the words "ward committeeman" should never be changed to "ward committeewoman. She filed as a Republican candidate for that office in the 41st ward yesterday under the sponsorship of the regular Republican organization. If she wins she will be the first woman to hold that job in Chicago.

Mrs. Quinn said that she and her colleagues felt that her candidacy was justified because of her training, her political activity, and her familiarity with the ward and its needs. She has degrees from Vassar, from the University of Wisconsin and from the Yale law school. She has worked with the regular Republican group in the ward and in 1928 she was candidate for Municipal judge. Her home is at 6239 McClellan avenue.

"I've lived in this neighborhood ever since I began practicing law in Chicago in 1924," Mrs. Quinn declared. "And I've kept well in touch with the area. Lying where it does, to the northwest, transportation is one of its most important problems. I should like to see the section there develop as it should, and better transportation would be a tremendous help."

HYDE PRAISES G. O. P. CODE IN LINCOLN SPEECH

Compares Crisis of Civil War with Today's.

After drawing parallels between the crisis of the times of Abraham Lincoln and that of present, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde told members of the Hamilton club last night that the Republican party need make no apologies for the present leadership of the United States. The cabinet member was the principal speaker in Chicago's observance of the 123d anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

"On the contrary," Secretary Hyde declared, amid loud applause, "we should boast of our leadership. When you consider that, despite the problems that have been unloaded at the White House door and the economic stress in other countries, there has been no major strike in this country, and that the American dollar is still a dollar in the United States and throughout the world, we should be proud of the leadership that comes from the White House.

Compares Lincoln and Hoover.

"There are many points at which the present situation parallels the trial by fire through which Lincoln went. Then as now, earnest, faithful service drew persecution and vicious criticism. Then, as now, men cried aloud for leadership, although they stood unwittingly in the presence of the most towering leadership the world knew.

"Now, as well as in Lincoln's time the occupant of the White House keeps steadily on his course, his sole objective being the welfare of America. Just as Abraham Lincoln came through in 1864 so will Herbert Hoover come through in 1932."

Secretary Hyde reviewed the political principles of Lincoln, reading the first declaration Lincoln made in 1832 as a candidate for a seat in the legislature:

"I am humble Abraham Lincoln. . . . I am in favor of a national bank. I am in favor of the internal improvement system and a high protective tariff. These are my sentiments and political principles."

A Republican Principle.

"That declaration stands today," Secretary Hyde said, "one hundred years after Lincoln made it, the chart and log book of the Republican party.

"The 1930 tariff act raised the rates on farm products 30 per cent; on industrial products 12 per cent. It increases the hold of the American farmer on the American market."

G. A. R. Vets at Ceremony.

Thirty-seven Union veterans who helped Lincoln keep the country intact in civil war days formed a nucleus at Memorial hall for a throng that heard the thirty-third annual Lincoln program there.

They paid rapt attention to the vigorous yet tender tribute which Rodney Brandon, state superintendent of public welfare, paid to the former commander in chief; they thrilled once again to the immortal Gettysburg address; they snapped to rigid attention as the Boy Scout contingent gave the salute to the flag, and they lifted their voices enthusiastically in the rollicking martial tunes they sang when they were soldiers.

Drawn up in formation in the museum just outside the hall, the Board of Trade drum and bugle corps of the Legion played martial music. And when 88 year old Cornelius Clark, national champion G. A. R. drummer, hitched up his drum and rolled out the "assembly" until the drumhead seemed about to burst, spontaneous applause broke from the group of younger veterans.

Woman's Club Ceremony.

Mrs. Harvey Fox, president of the Chicago Woman's club, conducted the fourth annual Lincoln birthday program of that organization, held in the club theater. Dr. Allen D. Albert was the principal speaker, on the theme, "Practical Tolerance."

Capt. R. D. Parker of Chicago related over radio station W-G-N the story of the nomination of Lincoln in the Wigwam in Chicago as a part of the observance on that station. His father was stationed that day inside a window of the convention hall, and as soon as the choice was announced he threw up the sash and shouted to a boy in the street, who ran to carry the message to THE TRIBUNE office.

Boy Scouts gathered yesterday at the Lincoln monument in Lincoln park, where a wreath was laid at the foot of the statue. A Boy Scout drum and bugle corps furnished music.

Mrs. Henry W. Hardy, president of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's organizations, at the monthly meeting at the Sherman, eulogized Lincoln as having embodied the spirit of liberty and fair dealing.

Hoover Points to Lincoln as Model for Land Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—A call for the nation to turn to the life of Abraham Lincoln for the courage and strength needed to bring back prosperity was sounded by President Hoover tonight in an address honoring the memory of the great civil war President.

Mr. Hoover spoke from the Lincoln study at the White House, his address being relayed by radio to the Lincoln day dinner held in New York by the national Republican club of that city.

In his address President Hoover predicted that history will record the current depression period as one of the most difficult in its strains and stresses upon the timbers of the republic experienced since Lincoln's time. At the same time he expressed confidence in the power and the courage of the nation to triumph over its present difficulties.

Toiled to Save Nation.

"It is a privilege and obligation for every American to join even for a few moments in a tribute to Abraham Lincoln," President Hoover said in opening his address.

"It was in this room from which I am speaking that Lincoln labored incessantly day and night for the preservation of the Union. No one can enter here without being sensitive to those invisible influences of the men who have gone before. It was from this window that for five years Lincoln looked across the Potomac upon a flag under which embattled forces threatened our national unity. Unafraid, he toiled here with patience, with understanding, with steadfastness, with genius and courage, that those wounds of a distraught nation might be healed and that that flag which waved over this house might be restored as the symbol of a united country.

Reach Another Crisis.

"We rightly look back upon that time as the period of the greatest strain and stress which has threatened our country. But its wounds have long since healed and its memories are of the glorious valor and courage of our race, both North and South. They bring into bold relief memories of a great son of America who freed the country from slavery, preserved the solidarity of the Union, revitalized the nation, reinspired the people with a new purpose, and set forth with a new destiny.

"While we are in the midst of the difficulties of this day we may well entertain the feeling that history will record this period as one of the most difficult in its strains and stresses upon the timbers of the republic that has been experienced since Lincoln's time. There are enduring principles and national ideals to be preserved agains the pressures of today.

Forces Less Tangible.

"The forces with which we are contending are far less tangible than those of Lincoln's time. They are invisible forces, yet potent in their powers of destruction. We are engaged in a fight upon a hundred fronts just as positive, just as definite, and requiring just as greatly the moral courage, the organized action, the unity of strength and the sense of devotion in every community as in war.

"I am confident of the resources, the power and the courage of our people to triumph over any national difficulty. They are rallying to their responsibilities. They are thus doing more than serving their immediate needs. They are buttressing the very foundation of self-government. They are defending the very principles of liberty and freedom. They are showing the patience and the steadfastness of Abraham Lincoln."

Inspiration to World.

"Lincoln deservedly shares with Washington the distinction of a nationally commemorated anniversary. Today, as throughout recent decades, his vision sets the guide posts of American conscience and American ideals. This humble man of the wilderness, who labored over grub hoe and ax in his youth, never saw a city until he was 20 years old, never opened a grammar until after he had attained his majority. Yet he became one of the few masters of the English language. There are no nobler utterances, no greater inspirations to people than his many appealing statements culminating with his Gettysburg speech. A race is fortunate that can contribute a voice calling to order and to conscience in the world which shall be heard above the froth and immaterial substance of every day life. It comes to few men to become that voice to their generation. Still fewer are they whose voices resound through the life of a people.

"Abraham Lincoln more than any other man gave expression to the heart and the character and faith of our race. Washington was indeed the father of our country. Lincoln was its greatest son."

"Drink More Beer" Drive Fails; It's Before Pay Day

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The brewers, who put on a "drink more beer" campaign during the recent Mardi Gras celebration, confessed today that they had broken no consumption records. The largest brewery in town sold 264,000 gallons in three days, but it was said the total would have been higher if pay day had fallen before the celebration instead of coming just after it.

BAR LUNCHEON TODAY TO PAY LINCOLN TRIBUTE

At noon today the Chicago Bar association will hold a Lincoln luncheon, with Judge Will H. Sparks of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals as the guest of honor and principal speaker. The jurist is an authority on pioneer life in Kentucky, Illinois, and Indiana.

Christian and Jew, Caucasian, Negro, and Mongolian will gather tomorrow night at the New England Congregational church, 869 North Dearborn street, for a race relations meeting in commemoration of Lincoln's birthday. The program will begin at 7:45 o'clock and is open to the public. There will be several selections by John Burdette, colored singer who was the musical sensation of the first Chicagoland Music Festival. The Olivet Baptist church choir of 125 voices will also be heard under the direction of William Henry Smith. The affair is under the auspices of the commission on race relations of the Chicago Church federation.

MOUNTIES CLOSE IN ON TIRING ARCTIC 'MADMAN'

AKLAVIK, N. W. T., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The end of a blind arctic trail over the snow carpeted foothills neared tonight for Albert Johnson as pursuing mounted police began to doubt the northland's belief the trapper is insane. So baffling was the trail the Rat river hermit had laid in the bleak barrens that his pursuers, sworn to capture or kill the man who murdered one of their fellows, conceded Johnson to be a smart trapper and bushman.

The terrific pace Johnson has set in his flight seems to be telling on him. His trail, viewed from the air by Capt. W. R. May, showed him somewhat "groggy."

At his heels were Sergt. R. F. Riddell and Sergt. Hersey of the royal Canadian signals, two of the best trailers in the arctic. They followed him on foot, far ahead of the main posse. Slayer of Constable E. Millen, Johnson was believed insane even before police made an attempt to arrest him.

KELLY AND BOGAN DIFFER ON FUND NEED OF SCHOOLS

1922-'24 Basis Favored by Business Men.

It seems obvious that the business-like thing to do would be to prepare a budget that is based on the 1922 and 1924 expenditures, rather than on the 1929 taxes.—D. F. Kelly.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

D. F. Kelly, speaking for his citizens' committee, has told the school board that the taxpayers cannot pay the $90,045,000 which the board proposes to spend this year.

D. F. KELLY.

Superintendent of Schools Bogan has told the school principals, in view of Judge Jarecki's decision, that "it seems as though we might be justified in revising upward present estimates of revenues for all board of education funds for the year of 1932."

In contrast Mr. Kelly said to the trustees: "May we again request that the passage of the budget be deferred until it can be shown that substantial savings will be made and the cost will be reduced to the level of the taxpayers' ability to pay."

Plea of Supt. Bogan.

However, Supt. Bogan told the school principals: "The penalty of underestimating the 1932 revenues would be a corresponding reduction in the tax levy, with the result that the schools would be unnecessarily deprived of essential services."

Mr. Bogan played a prominent part in the formulation of the budget. He was adviser to the subcommittee headed by Trustee Savage which did most of the work of forming the budget for 1932, which Mr. Kelly says the taxpayers cannot carry.

The Kelly committee recommends a budget based upon the 1922 and 1924 expenditures. The meaning of that may be shown clearly by comparing the proposed expenditures for 1932 with the expense for 1922, 1923, and 1924.

The Proposed Budget.

The expenditures which the board proposes to authorize for 1932—although it has tentatively agreed to trim out $3,775,000—may be summarized as follows:

Fund—	Amount.
Educational	$55,055,587
Text books	947,438
Playground	901,666
Building	28,905,217
Pensions	1,311,359
Bonds and interest	6,488,888
Lunchrooms	188,985
Special	21,000
Total	$93,820,145

Fund—	1922.	1923.	1924.
Textbk.	1,243,872	602,988	742,516
Playg'd.	315,407	408,689	509,614
Building	10,496,652	9,344,544	12,413,136
Pensi's	.....	.....	454,828
Tot'ls.	$45,886,311	$48,786,421	$55,139,253

For the three years the average expense was $49,931,329, as compared with a proposed expenditure of $90,045,000 for 1932. The board's chief defense of the increase is the claim that the junior and senior high schools should show an increase of 31,000 pupils.

$30,000,000 Trim Demanded.

The Kelly committee has collected data from the latest official reports of the board which indicate that the added pupils would cost $10,214,000 additional. So the business men want to know why $30,000,000 cannot be trimmed from the budget.

Dies as Parachute Fails in Leap from Building

Los Angeles, Cal. Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Rollie M. Lane, professional stunt man, was instantly killed this afternoon when he jumped from the twelfth story of the Pacific National building in center of downtown Los Angeles in an effort to demonstrate a new style parachute. The parachute failed to open.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs. of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C.

"P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter, but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but a few cents.

When reducing attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat.

To take off fat harmlessly and safely take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drug store in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back.

Urge Realty Owners to Pay Part of Contested Taxes

It is the opinion of the legislators that the state Supreme court will not hand down its ruling, until April of the decision of County Judge Jarecki that the 1928 and 1929 taxes are illegal and void. In the meantime the floating debts—including the unpaid pay rolls—will accumulate.

It is the opinion of all tax attorneys that eventually all of the owners of real estate will be compelled to pay taxes for 1928 and 1929, no matter what the Supreme court decides. If the Jarecki decision is reversed, the taxes will be payable as levied. If affirmed, there will be a reassessment, according to the tax lawyers, and the property owners will be called upon to pay. In either case the property owners will be compelled to pay some time.

Appeal to Property Owners.

In the meantime appeals are made to the larger property owners to contribute to the cost of government. If the taxes are too high, owners could pay what they deem fair, and contest the remainder in the court.

The legislature before it adjourns is expected to pass a law—which has been pending for some time without any opposition to it—which will give credit on subsequent tax bills for any excess payment an owner may now make.

On the North side, immediately north of the river in tax volume 479, are a number of properties on which the 1929 taxes have not been paid. These were due May 15 last.

Unpaid Properties Visited.

Nineteen properties are listed under item numbers 336, 337, 338, 339, 340, 341, 342, 344, 343, 345, 346, 347, 348, 350, 351, 352, 353, and 322, and are credited on the tax books to the Chicago Title and Trust company, Murray Walbach agent.

The value of these properties for taxing purposes is $970,791, which means that they were appraised at $2,623,000 by the board of assessors. No part of the taxes on any of these 19 properties, as listed, has been paid. These taxes aggregate $62,067.21. On each property a tax objection has been filed and an injunction has been granted which prevents the advertising of the properties for sale for taxes.

To James Conlan, exec., with an address on the tax books at 18 Bellevue place, is assigned four parcels of real estate valued at $58,524. No part of the taxes on these properties, totaling $3,681.19, has been paid.

$129,058 Property Listed.

Under item No. 551 in tax volume 479, C. A. and R. C. Cook are shown on the tax records to be the owner, agent or last persons who paid taxes on a piece of real estate valued at $129,058. The taxes on this property total $8,117.75. The records show that nothing has been paid on the 1929 taxes, although these men are shown to have paid a substantial part of the taxes on six other properties.

In this same tax volume, item numbers 629, 630, 631, 632, 633, and 634, include properties valued at $169,300. These are credited on the tax books to C. F. Durland & Co., agents. The tax on the properties, $10,649, is unpaid, the owner having objected to these assessments.

Real estate in volume 479 under items numbers 117, 119, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 130, 131, 134, and 135 is charged on the tax books to Fred Espert. These properties have a tax value of $378,037.

The $23,778 taxes on these properties have been objected to in court.

Opposite items numbers 6, 7, 145, 153, and 140 in tax volume is set the name of M. Espert in the tax books at 236 North Clark street. These properties are valued at $157,051. The taxes are $9,878.53. The records show that none of the taxes has been paid.

TEACHERS WILL TELL EXPERT OF THEIR TROUBLES

Heads of 25 Chicago teachers' organizations will give their views on the troubles of the public school system on Monday. The story of 14,000 men and women who have been paid only twice since April will be told to Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia university, who is in charge of the $100,000 school survey now in progress. The conference is to be held at his request.

"Until the survey has been completed," Dr. Strayer said, "no recommendations or suggestions will be made. I shall answer no questions. In making a survey of this kind I try to get all the available information. Therefore I have invited the teachers to tell me anything that might make for improvement in the system."

SEEKS TO ABOLISH LASH IN BRITAIN FOR JUVENILES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The abolishment of the practice of lashing juvenile offenders in Great Britain is sought under a bill introduced in the house of commons for second reading this afternoon. The measure raises the minimum age at which the death penalty can be imposed from 16 to 18 years of age, and reconstitutes and simplifies the Juvenile courts and allows them to deal with accused offenders up to the age of 17 instead of 16.

The bill was introduced by Oliver Stanley. Whipping of juveniles was once common. The practice is dying out, however, and there are now only about 100 cases a year.

ONLY $7,000,000 COUNTY REVENUE IN SIGHT FOR 1932

Little more than $7,000,000 in cash is in sight during the coming year for the county board with which to meet more than $30,000,000 in 1931 liabilities and 1932 obligations and expenses. This was revealed in a survey yesterday of the recently completed 1932 budget affirmed by County Efficiency Engineer J. L. Jacobs and Assistant Controller Michael J. O'Connor.

This cash will come to the county in the form of fees collected in the recorder's office, sheriff's office, county treasurer's office and the Superior, Circuit, Probate, and County court clerk's offices. It will be turned into the county treasury at the rate of about $508,000 a month.

The county can expect nothing from the collection of taxes. It is conceded by county finance officials that even if the 1930 taxes are placed in collection, scarcely enough to take up the $10,338,000 in 1930 tax anticipation warrants and $890,000 in accrued interest will be collected from the taxpayers. There are still unmet $1,650,000 in 1929 tax anticipation warrants and $239,000 in interest, because the 1929 tax collections were deficient.

See More Payless Pay Days.

These revelations mean, according to finance officials, that unless some miracle is performed in legislation at Springfield, the 3,600 county employés, now unpaid for three and one-half months, may whistle for their pay throughout most of the year and that contractors and business houses who have given the county credit in the past will be asked to extend that credit without being paid more than a small percentage of what they have coming.

The county has to meet $20,660,000 in current 1932 fixed charges, bills, pay rolls, and allotments for such charitable activities as mothers' pensions, relief for the blind, and children's home placing. In addition there are nearly $3,000,000 in unpaid 1931 bills, a 1931 deficit of $1,037,000, salary judgments extending back to 1929 totaling approximately $3,500,000 in principal and interest, and long overdue 1929 tax anticipation warrants totaling $1,889,000.

"For years the possibility of bankruptcy has been facing Cook county," said Mr. Jacobs. "But it is hard to see how the smash can be avoided this year.

Demands House Cleaning.

"The only possible remedy is for local governments to clean house and cut down expenditures and for the general assembly quickly to pass legislation which will go far toward the making of valid assessment rolls, restore the confidence of the taxpayers, and thus speed the collection of taxes."

Most of the $7,300,000 fees which are the only apparent source of revenue for the county this year, Mr. Jacobs declared, would be taken in meeting $4,786,000 in bonds and interest which fall due in 1932 if the county board should elect to meet that sum. The county commissioners have already found that defaulting on bonds results immediately in a loss of credit.

FLIES 620 MILES AT SPEED OF 201 MILES PER HOUR

Cleveland, O., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Hurtling eastward on the crest of a 60 mile helping wind, A. I. McClain, chief test pilot for the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft company, Hartford, Conn., today flew the 620 miles from Des Moines, Ia., to Cleveland in three hours and five minutes, an average speed of 201 miles an hour.

His ship was a standard military pursuit plane known as the Boeing 100, which he was ferrying from the Boeing Airplane company factory in Seattle, Wash., to Hartford to be used by his company in test work with military airplane engines.

McClain took off Feb. 10 from Seattle. He started today's flight from Cheyenne, Wyo. His flying time from Cheyenne to Cleveland was 6 hours and 15 minutes for the 1,220 miles, an average speed of 194 miles an hour.

160 Miles in 50 Minutes.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 12. — (AP) — A new flying time from Columbus, O., to Pittsburgh was claimed today by Pat Weaver and Bill Nei Berhoessen, pilots for the Transcontinental and Western Airways company. The pair landed at Bettis field late yesterday, 50 minutes after leaving Columbus. They averaged 192 miles an hour over the 160 mile course.

FUND FOR PUPILS SHRINKS; RUSH BENEFIT PLANS

Another decrease in the contributions to the Hungry School Children's fund yesterday further imperiled the permanence of the fund that is attempting to feed 10,000 needy children in the public schools. Only $72 was received, half the amount that arrived the preceding day. This makes a total of $404.80 in the fund since the balance was turned over to the board of education for assignment to schools on Wednesday. It takes close to $3,000 to provide lunches for a week to ten days.

The total depletion of the fund is speeding the effort among those in charge of the Washington bicentennial ball benefits at the Aragon and Trianon ballrooms for the fund on Feb. 22. From WGN, THE TRIBUNE'S station on the Drake hotel, yesterday came the announcement that the Harold Teen gang, the minstrels, Hank Moeller and Hal Gillen, formerly in the skit, Herr Louie and the Weazel, will appear at the Trianon, and Lawrence Salerno, Italian baritone, and Tom, Dick and Harry, will do their stuff at the Aragon for the entertainment of the dancers.

The gifts that arrived yesterday are as follows:

$25—Mrs. George Frazer.
$10—W. G. Adair, A Friend of Children, and Anonymous.
$6—Mrs. Jack H. Hirsch.
$5—Anonymous.
$2—Peters Machinery company, Mrs. Philip Weinman, proceeds of bridge club, the North Shore ladies' auxiliary, No. 76, B'nai B'rith.

Total	$ 72.00
Previously acknowledged	35,712.33
Grand total	$35,784.33

ROBS RESTAURANT IN LOOP.

A bandit, displaying a small revolver in the palm of his hand, forced Miss Helen Levantis, 1257 Lunt avenue, cashier in the Raklios restaurant at 200 West Madison street, to hand over $100 yesterday and fled into the street.

WOMAN 'DEAD' IN MORGUE 6 HOURS IS ALIVE, BUT DIES

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12.—(AP)—A faint spark of life in the body of Mrs. Esther Falk, who lay among the dead at the county morgue for six hours, flickered out this afternoon.

The autopsy, deferred when county physicians discovered the woman still lived, was resumed. Dr. Edward L. Miloslavich reported tentatively that her death was the result of exposure on the edge of an ice covered pool where she was found this morning and later on the marble slab in the morgue.

Meanwhile Chief of Police Jacob G. Laubenheimer ordered a searching inquiry of the manner in which a living woman was taken to the morgue.

During the routine tests for death, which precede all autopsies, Dr. Miloslavich detected signs of life. Circulation continued and pupils of the eyes dilated and contracted under a flashlight.

Mrs. Falk, 32 year old wife of a painter, wandered away from her home while her husband, La Salle, slept.

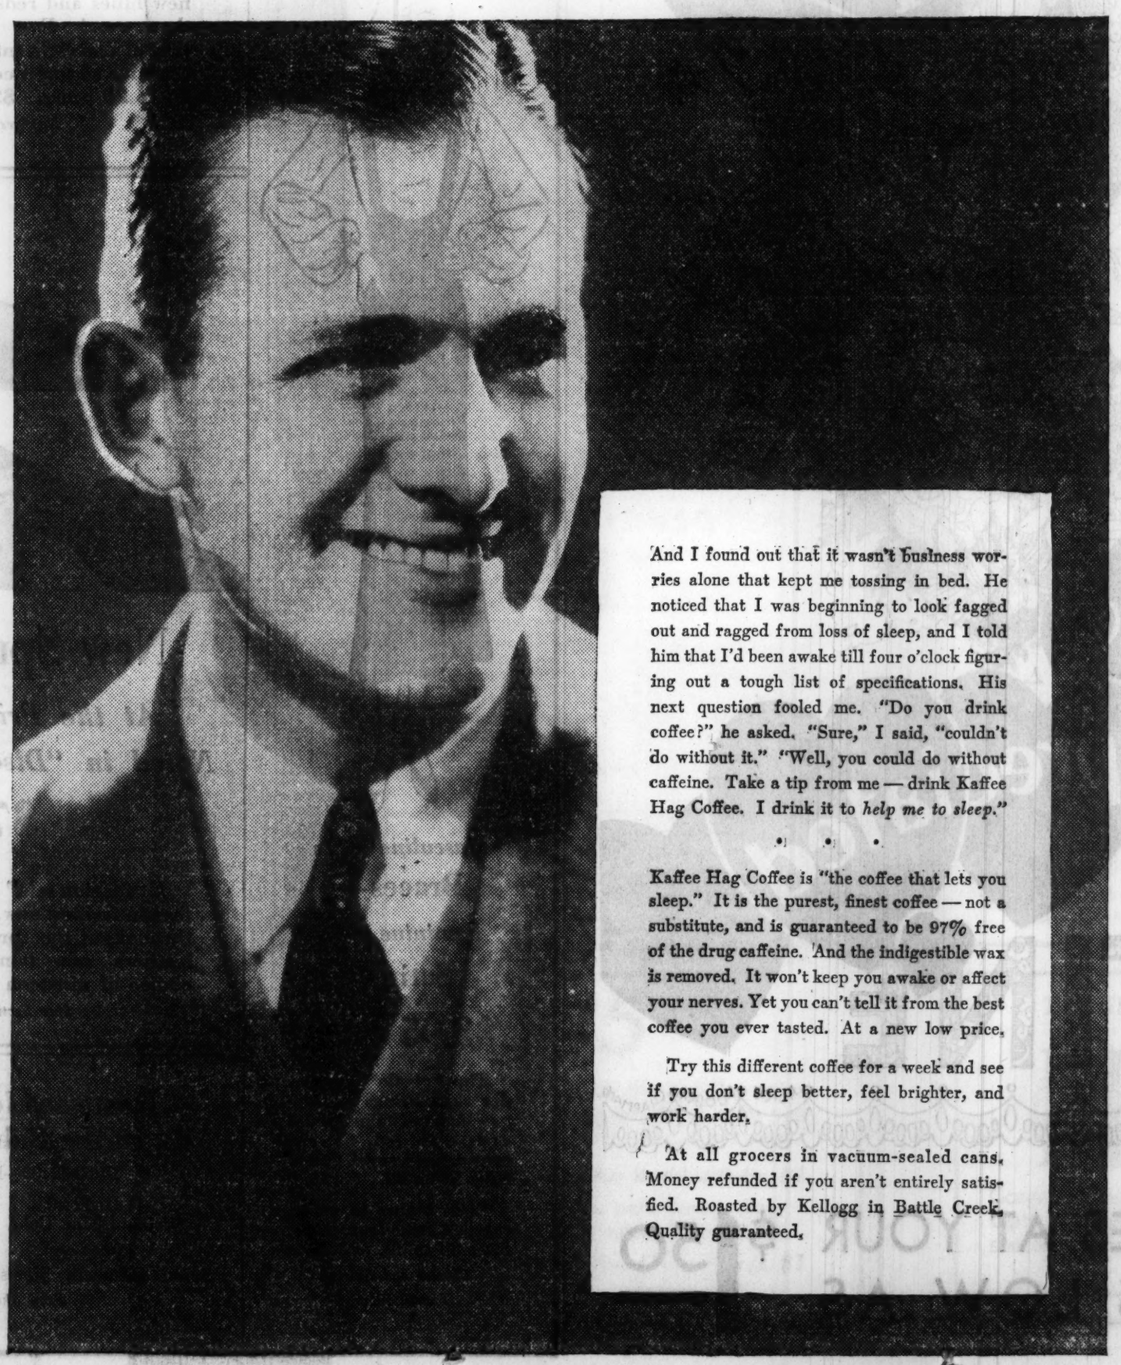
I took a tip from my boss



And I found out that it wasn't business worries alone that kept me tossing in bed. He noticed that I was beginning to look fagged out and ragged from loss of sleep, and I told him that I'd been awake till four o'clock figuring out a tough list of specifications. His next question fooled me. "Do you drink coffee?" he asked. "Sure," I said, "couldn't do without it." "Well, you could do without caffeine. Take a tip from me — drink Kaffee Hag Coffee. I drink it to help me to sleep."

PERIL TO CITY'S SERVICE SEEN IN FUNDING TAXES

Seek to Revise Bills Pending in Senate.

Complete condemnation of the "tax funding" plan proposed for the relief of Chicago taxpayers, which is pending before the state senate, was expressed yesterday by Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic federation and also of the governor's tax conference. Mr. Sutherland opposed the bill's passage through the house Wednesday.

"These bills are a fraud upon the rank and file of taxpayers and threaten suspension of school, fire, police, and sanitary services, and a complete breakdown of government by making it impossible to obtain further funds through sales of bonds or tax warrants," he said.

Merely Delay Collection.

"The measures do not fund or 'lift' 1930 taxes. They merely delay due dates on 1930 taxes, so that half will be payable Oct. 1, 1932; a fourth Jan. 1, 1933, and the last installment on April 1, 1933. In the meantime the only incentive to tax payments would be patriotism and a proposed ½ per cent per month discount. This would be taken out of the 1930 tax payments, against which obligations were incurred two years ago and tax warrants issued. It would further impair public credit."

A move to amend the bills so that they will hurry rather than delay the collection of taxes was started yesterday at a meeting in the Chicago club, attended by Mayor Cermak, D. F. Kelly, Corporation Counsel Sexton, Mr. Sutherland, Harris S. Keeler of the bureau of public efficiency, James Simpson, City Comptroller Szymczak, County Attorney Hayden Bell, Speaker Shanahan of the house of representatives, Minority Leader Thomas J. Courtney of the senate, and Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg.

Wants Date Moved Up.

"Great alarm is felt over the October collection date," said D. F. Kelly, chairman, after yesterday's meeting. "On March 1 the city will owe $45,000,000 to municipal employés and the school teachers. The bills have no provisions for allowing the city to continue to function. The payment dates should be moved up to as early as possible—the sooner the better.

"How can large taxpayers who look to the city for protection continue to withhold their taxes when the small taxpayers have paid theirs?" asked Mr. Kelly. "We are paying $1,000,000 per month in interest. I can't emphasize too much the absolute necessity of collecting taxes as rapidly as possible in order to keep the city functioning."

Legal experts will meet with Mr. Sexton this morning to attempt to revise the bills.

Condemn Park Bond Issue.

Severe criticism of the legislature's action in passing the $4,000,000 west park board bond issue, which does not contain a referendum clause, was given yesterday by Shelby M. Singleton of the Legislative Voters' league.

"It is the most vicious piece of legislation passed by the 57th general assembly," said Mr. Singleton, "and the roll call upon it will undoubtedly influence the league's report on the session which has been delayed by the special calls."

The measure was once killed in the house judiciary committee after it had been called a bad bill by Mr. Keeler of the bureau of public efficiency and others. It went through the senate while the house was battling over major planks in the governor's tax conference program, and slipped quietly through the house itself on Wednesday. Preceding it was a big undercover drive, helped along by the state administration.

The bonds may be issued by the board, without a referendum vote of the people, for the "maintenance, extension, and improvements of parks, boulevards, and pleasure ways."

Hunt 4 Bandits After $2,500 Insurance Holdup

The Englewood police yesterday were seeking four bandits who earlier in the day invaded a branch office of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company at 733 West 64th street and after forcing 35 employés, a number of them women, to stand against a wall, fled with $2,500. About $2,100 was obtained from collectors who had gone to the office to turn in their receipts and the remainder from the safe. Benjamin W. Bassford, 7649 Cornell avenue, the manager, told the police he saw the robbers drive away in an automobile.

Wife of Contractor Ends Life with Fire in Home

Mrs. Emily Strnad, 43 years old, mother of four children and wife of Louis Strnad, wealthy building contractor, set fire to her clothing in her home at 2501 Gunderson avenue, Berwyn, and died shortly afterward at the Berwyn hospital yesterday. She had been returned to her family recently to be placed in a sanitarium after being pronounced insane at the psychopathic hospital.

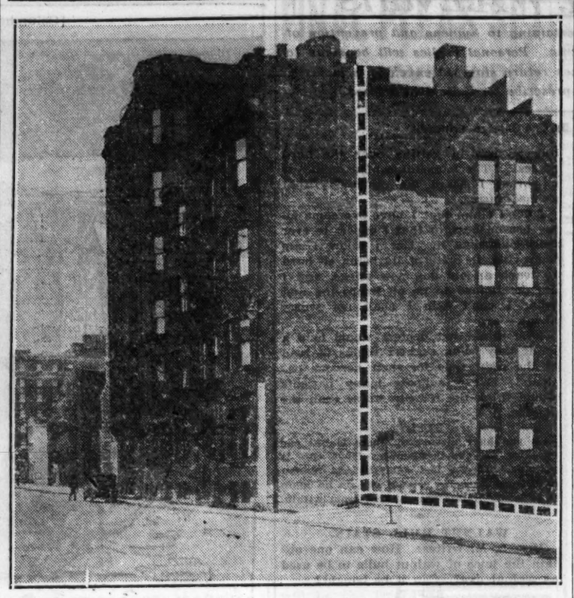
Moody Buildings Block Sidewalk



Looking south from center of La Salle street showing how the buildings at 900 to 906 North La Salle street, known as Salermo and Wakeman halls, occupy land condemned by the city for sidewalk purposes. PARLEY TO SPEED MOODY INSTITUTE STREET SETBACK

Hope to Remove La Salle Street Obstacles.

City officials will confer shortly with attorneys for the Moody Bible institute in an effort to obtain the removal of the institute's buildings back to the new building line along the newly widened North La Salle street.

The buildings, which front on La Salle street at Nos. 800 to 838, 849 to 851, and 900 to 906, now jut out from two to fourteen feet over land condemned by the city in the street widening project. As a result the city has been able to construct only 2½ foot sidewalks in front of this property, instead of 17 foot sidewalks and curb.

Inconvenient and Dangerous.

"Two persons cannot pass on a sidewalk two and one-half feet wide when the walk is narrowed by a building wall on one side and parked automobiles on the other," said a city engineer. "Such a condition not only inconveniences pedestrians, but in the event an automobile jumped the curb the life of any one passing would be in jeopardy."

City records show that the institute was awarded $896,227 for land condemned by the city from the above enumerated properties and from an additional lot at Nos. 1438-40. The city has paid $530,445, acording to the records, leaving a balance due of $365,782.

"Besides the balance due," said Irvin Rooks, attorney for the board of local improvements, "the institute has filed a damage suit against the city for temporary repairs that it claims were necessary because of damage to its buildings. It also claims interest on the judgment."

Joseph F. Grossman, second assistant corporation counsel, said that the city has no authority to take possession of condemned land until the property owner has been paid in full. "But in this case," said Mr. Grossman, "we had an agreement with the institute that its buildings would be moved when the city had paid a certain amount of the total award. The city has complied with the agreement."

Others Also Involved.

City officials pointed out other property owners who have failed to conform to the new building line.

The Chicago Policlinic has a 150 foot frontage at Nos. 935-47. Its buildings are on 14 feet of property condemned by the city, limiting the sidewalk to approximately a 2½ foot width. The records show that the Policlinic holds a $376,000 judgment against the city on which no payment has been made by the city.

The only other obstruction to a full width sidewalk is the building at Nos. 1301-09 on property listed by the city as owned by the St. Paul German Evangelical Lutheran church. The building juts out 2 feet and 7 inches over the new building line. The sidewalk in front of the building is 14 feet wide. The records show that the city owes $44,567 on a judgment of $55,000.

Filling Station Attendant Found Beaten to Death

Clarence Gordon, 53 years old, 14115 South Dearborn street, Ivanhoe, was found beaten to death yesterday in a gasoline station at 147th street and Indiana avenue, in which he was employed as an attendant. County highway police found a two pound hammer covered with blood 200 yards from the scene of the slaying, but were unable to obtain finger prints. The cash register had been rifled of $20.86.

CLOSE COLUMBIA FRATERNITY TO NEIGHBORS' GLEE

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Delta Kappa Epsilon house at Columbia university is dark today, having been closed by university order following complaints of wild sounding parties among students resident there.

H. E. HAWKES. [(C) Bain News Service.]

Dean Herbert E. Hawkes confirmed reports that student members of the fraternity had been forbidden a week ago to live there for the time being. He denied, however, that he had issued the order closing the building. "It is not within my jurisdiction. The alumni can close a house. I cannot."

This morning Associate Dean Nicholas M. McKnight called upon residents in the building adjoining the house at 608 West 113th street. After his visits tenants said he had asked them if they had ever been bothered by noisy parties. The tenants said they very decidedly had.

NEW OFFER MADE TO BUY $2,000,000 CITY TAX WARRANTS

A new proposition for the purchase of tax warrants from the city was made yesterday to Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, by B. A. Eisluk, who said that he was prepared to purchase $2,000,000 worth of 1930 corporate fund warrants in small denominations. He offered to give for them $1,000,000 in cash, $500,000 worth of large denomination 1930 corporate warrants, and $500,000 of school board tax warrants. The offer is approximately the same as one made by the Associated Bond and Share corporation for the purchase of $20,000,000 worth of warrants, consideration of which has been postponed by the finance committee.

Britten Will Speak at Washington Event Feb. 22

Congressman Fred A. Britten is to be the speaker at a meeting in celebration of the George Washington bicentennial Feb. 22 in the Lincoln Park chapter hall of the Royal Arch Masons, 1205 North Dearborn street. Arrangements are in charge of a general committee of which George H. Hough is the chairman and W. J. Wallace the secretary.

UNCLE SAM'S TAX BOOKS MUDDLED BY CHICAGO JAM

One of the results of the chaotic tax situation in Cook county has been a complication of the government's task of auditing income tax returns for the year 1929.

According to J. S. Seidman, an income tax expert, the government has two years after the filing of the return to make additional assessments against the taxpayer. Most of the 1929 returns were filed on March 15, 1930, and accordingly the time for the additional assessments would be out on March 15 this year.

Taxpayers who report on an accrual basis, setting up reserves for taxes to be paid later, have deducted their taxes in the 1929 returns, though they failed to pay them in 1930. Many property owners have withheld payment of their local taxes and Judge Jarecki has found the 1929 tax lists invalid.

To meet this situation Internal Revenue Agent C. W. Herrick has sent to some of the taxpayers a letter requesting that the government be allowed until Dec. 31 to complete its audits, the matter of the state and county tax deduction remaining in abeyance until then. It is understood that unless this is done the local tax deductions will all be disallowed for 1929. Income tax experts said that corporations usually carry their tax reserve funds on the accrual basis and that few individuals are affected.

HARVESTER CO. BUYS $300,000 RELIEF PAPER

As "a cold business investment" the International Harvester company has purchased $300,000 worth of the tax warrants being used to finance the $18,500,000 poor relief fund recently voted for Cook county by the legislature. George A. Ranney, vice president of the concern, made this announcement yesterday. The purchase brought the total sales to $4,250,000.

"In my opinion no one should think he is doing a favor to Chicago or to Chicagoans by purchasing these notes," said Mr. Ranney. "The favor is being done by the state of Illinois in allowing people to buy these obligations backed by the entire credit of the state and especially at the high rate of 6 per cent. The total bonded debt of Illinois is less than $193,000,000 and the assessed value of 1929 is nearly $8,500,000,000.

"These notes will undoubtedly be retired by a bond issue as soon as a referendum can be held. In that event the total bonded debt of the state will be less than 3 per cent of the total property valuation. It is my opinion that many of these notes will be purchased by outside corporations because of the safety and yield."

Mother Slays Daughter and Ends Her Own Life

Mandan, N. D., Feb. 12.—(AP)—A despondent mother, investigators said, today slew her daughter by shooting and then committed suicide. The victims were Mrs. S. G. Anderson, 47, wife of a railroad engineer, who was away from home, and Alvera, 21, until recently a University of North Dakota student.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

It might surprise and it might also astonish a number of sober citizens convinced that this is the best of all possible governments to have discovered to them how admirably the bureaucracy has put itself in position for a makeover to communism. It need not be insisted that the bureaucrats and all their friends in the little groups have Red purposes, but they are doing without shouts or alarums what the comrades couldn't do with uproar and violence. All the comrades at present can undertake is disorder, but the far flung bureaucracy is right in the heart of things already.

With a change of title we have:

The people's commissars for credit and finance. (The Reconstruction Finance corporation.)

The people's commissars for agriculture. (The farm board.)

Three governmental groups with billions of government credit at their disposal are in position to take over agriculture, transportation and banking. Private enterprise then could not stand alone in any other field of activity. Nationalization of industries, mines and shipping would encounter little resistance.

Radio control is at the open door of government supervision of transmission of information and opinion and for the government promotion of policy by a national network of communication by air. Other forms of communication would soon fall. In prohibition enforcement the government has learned the methods of the cheka. Mr. Woodcock's organization, already perfected in the arts of the dragonnade, could expand to the proportions of the G. P. U. without a disturbance of morale or machinery.

It must be apparent that a government which has taken over authority and responsibility for the sustenance of citizens must eventually determine what they must do in return for it. Whatever disaster may result when it imposes labor as well as furnishes sustenance would be less immediate than if only sustenance were furnished and no control of labor exercised. The dole must lead to government dictation of employment. It is also apparent that a government which is authorized to buy agricultural products, sell them and gamble in expectations is prepared to expropriate these products when that is necessary.

We lack, then, only the army to make the farmer like his lot and the laborer his job. Two or three million of the sturdiest unemployed, enlisted with good pay and an assurance of power and position, would enable the American citizen to salute Commissars Brookhart, La Follette, Norris, Borah, Wheeler, et al.

The bureaucracy has dug itself in. True, it is going broke, but that does not discourage the little groups. Bankruptcy may only hasten the day when to save the bureaucracy the positions taken must be consolidated and operated from the central soviet command. Uncle Sam may turn a corner and find he's Red. We should learn the "Internationale." The best singers may be the most secure.

REPUBLICAN REVOLT AGAINST PROHIBITION.

The movement inaugurated in Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia to defeat the influence of the Anti-Saloon league in the Republican party will undoubtedly grow rapidly in power and extent. It is a patriotic revolt against fanatic domination and the time is ripe for its success. It is preposterous that the Republican party should be bullied longer by an agency which, originating in the north to combat the evils of the saloon and the organized liquor traffic, fell into the control of bigotry and has come to be directed more and more by the political clericalism of southern states which, until the religious issue of the last presidential campaign appeared, always voted against the Republican party. Republicanism was discredited by so unnatural an alliance and should repudiate it.

The rank and file of the party, as well as that of the Democratic party, differ on the subject of prohibition and liquor regulation, but the best thought and character of both parties are deeply stirred by the conditions prohibition has brought about, and the formation of the Republican Citizens' Committee Against National Prohibition is welcome evidence that the Republican convention will find the "irrepressible issue" of our time can no longer be compromised.

The Anti-Saloon league, in the hands of bigots and reform racketeers, is chiefly responsible for the most disastrous departure from constitutional government in our history. It is responsible for the demoralization of party character, for trimming and inconsistency which have mocked party loyalty and confused political thinking and action throughout the nation. Its influence has rapidly declined, but what remains should be challenged and defeated in the party counsels. This can only be done by organized political opposition such as the new committee and other associations against prohibition are now offering to our revolting citizenship. The new committee appeals to contributing members of the Republican party and should be able to sweep the vestiges of Anti-Saloon league influence out of the Republican convention.

LABOR AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

Railroad labor has given an encouraging example of the ability of labor leadership to face compelling economic facts and deal with them practically in the interest of the common enterprise. In contrast we have Mr. Green of the American Federation of Labor and 100 other leaders marching to the White House to present a memorial marked chiefly by sophistry and the evasion of controlling facts and considerations.

The memorial perverts the issue of federal food relief, a contribution to the unemployed millions about as helpful as feeding a child doped pain killer to keep him quiet. There is no lack of sympathy for the hungry in this country. They are the anxious concern of communities, citizen organizations and individuals throughout the nation. The objection to federal expenditure for this relief is founded on the understanding that it can be better provided by the states and local agencies than by the central government. The objection is not against provision for the hungry, as Mr. Green and his associates should be honest enough to recognize, but to exacting from the people of the nation a vast debt the returns of which are to be left to the distribution of federal politicians, for unproductive enterprise at the expense of the private enterprise which must be depended upon to relieve unemployment. The memorial dodges this sane consideration of means and methods and it ignores the fact that relief of the banks and corporations to which it objects is relief of the public. If Mr. Green and his associates think that the results to labor of the failure of banks and corporations can be compensated by a government handout or by billions spent to give temporary jobs on unneeded public work, the unemployed are in need of wiser friends.

We had hoped the representation of labor in the A. F. of L. understood that the wage earner, employed and unemployed, paid as heavily as any other class for the vast unproductive expenditure and heavy taxation which is the chief obstruction to recovery. The memorial proves the need of some straight thinking or some honest speaking in labor leadership.

As for the other proposals of the memorial, they exhibit a similar dodging of issues. If the proposal for a five day week implies the present six day pay for five days' work it involves a heavy increase of costs at a time when business is already reduced to a minimum and is barely able and in many cases is unable to keep going on present revenue. If the proposal means five days' pay for a five day week, business may agree, but will labor?

The memorial is obviously insincere in its charge of a "relentless wage cutting" in 1931. Wages were cut and employés discharged, as Mr. Green knows, because business was in desperate straits and could not find revenue to meet its wage charges or its capital charges. No doubt there were instances of reductions or discharges which might have been avoided, but any reasonable mind knows that in business generally these measures were postponed as long as possible, even against the warning of many economists who believe that wage reduction and drastic economy are essential to the restoration of prosperity. The same refusal to face the problems of business appears in the demand "to create work opportunities." Mr. Green and his associates have their jobs with comfortable salaries paid by union members. They do not have to find money to pay employés and it costs them nothing to demand that business executives find work for more employés although every executive is trying to the limit of his ability to find means to keep his present organization employed. Business executives would be glad enough to find work for more employés.

The way to help the unemployed is to help American business to employ them. The memorial offers no such help. It offers help to the politicians and the spenders of the people's money. There is no word in the memorial of protest against political graft or government extravagance. There is no word of protest against the growth of bureaucracy and the piling up of taxation. The politicians with whom Mr. Green is now coöperating are in favor of more bureaucracy and more taxation. Labor will have to pay a good part of the bill in more ways than one.

Editorial of the Day

CAN'T TALK ABOUT A STATE THAT WAY.

[The Pantagraph, Bloomington, Ill.]

It is unusual for the Vice President of the United States, sitting in the chair of the senate, to chide a senator, speaking from the floor, for his disrespect to one of the sovereign states of the Union.

That happened just the other day, and one of our own senators, Otis F. Glenn of Illinois, was the subject of the gentle reminder from the Vice President.

Senator Glenn was speaking on the general subject of economy and the necessity for the same in the government, national, state, and municipal. He had just said, speaking of the states, that every one of them "has been extravagant in its appropriations and in the burdens which it has placed upon the shoulders of the taxpayers."

It was just here that the Vice President from his chair interrupted Senator Glenn by saying: "Under the rule the senator has no right to refer to a state in that way."

Senator Glenn then withdrew his public remark concerning the states, but he added that "My thoughts are the same as before the rule was invoked." He then asked if there was any rule about talking "that way" about municipalities.

The Vice President told the senator to "proceed in order," and Senator Glenn resumed the thread of his discourse, saying: "To all those people who have followed the extravagance of the national congress let us lay down a rule of strict economy that will radiate from Washington to every part of this great nation, and we will soon have a respect for the congress which we do not have now, a respect for the financial sense of the congress which we do not have now. We will set an example which will be welcomed all over the country and which will be in the interest of the national defense."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE FILIPINOS are quite hurt and angry at Secretary of War Hurley because in his report he said they were incapable of running their own government. "We are far more capable of governing ourselves," said Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, "than many independent peoples." Which has all the earmarks of a dirty dig, and we would say in reply, Señor Quezon, that if you are referring to some of our cities that are unfortunately right now unable to pay their teachers, policemen, firemen, and other bills, and that indulge in racketeers and kidnaping and gang battles, or if you are slurring us because our great and glorious government is something like three billions in the red, let us tell you, Señor Quezon, that any way the gentlemen here in the U. S. A. tuck their shirts into their trousers before they parade the streets and do not wear them with the tails flaunting in the wind as is done in a certain other country that we know of. There, Señor Quezon, that for you!

RETREAT.

Today I shall pack up and leave the city.
It's through with me, and I am through with it.
My dreams, desires—all but my vain self-pity,
I toss them, willy nilly, in my kit.

I'm tired of all these weary smiling faces
And tearless, anguished eyes that stare and stare;
I'm sick of seeing things and going places,
I'm surfeited with striving not to care.

There is a woodland world that I remember,
A world back yonder, miles and years away;
A world, snow-bound and silent in December,
That wakes to youth and melody in May.

And smiles are not a mask for hearts that long,
Where Nature paints the petals of the roses,
And joy of life provokes the birds to song.

There is a spring that rises in a mountain,
A brook that rushes seaward down a glen,
And there are children playing by the fountain,
And longing in their young hearts to be men.

I shall go back and warn them of the ocean,
Whose surging waters welcome and efface,
And of the city's tubulent commotion,

EOLUS.

UNCLE ANDY MELLON took the oath as American ambassador to the court of St. James's yesterday, and the usual question came up as to whether he will wear knee panties in London when he goes to the king's parties. We hope Uncle Andy is entirely indifferent as to what pants he wears so long as the pockets are sewed up.

DOWN IN TEXAS the autos are blossoming out with "Garner for President" tags. The idea is spreading and friends of all the various candidates will soon be adopting the idea. We've been measuring old nine seventy-seven to see if there's room on it for the name of our esteemed fellow townsman and favorite son of Illinois. We believe there's room, but the tag will have to go pretty well around the car. "James Hamilton Lewis for the Democratic Nomination for President of the United States." Short name candidates are going to have the best of it this campaign.

"YOU CANNOT," said Mussolini sternly to the photogs who were pursuing him into a church in Rome, "you cannot take a picture of me when I am praying." Oh, Mr. Mussolini, we do so hope you meant "shall not."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN seems to have been well and fondly remembered by Americans generally yesterday. And yet there was no Sol Bloom or a large federal commission to make us Abraham Lincoln conscious. And probably George Washington might be able to squeak through on his birthday without Sol and the bicentennial committee. At least we would love to take the chance.

IF THE CHINESE could only get together in peace and show the same spirit and ability that they do in war—oh, what a mighty nation they would be.

THE PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT people down at Washington admit with great sorrow that after years of exhaustive experimenting they cannot find a denaturant that some smart alky runner or bootlegger cannot remove from alcohol. All right, the prohibition enforcement department will keep on fooling around until they take our advice and put the stuff in it that rum devils can't take out—Limburger cheese! Go on, prohibition enforcement bureau—try it.

FOR DONNA NOVELLA.

Since you have been away
All these many months,
These several years,
Have been but things
To put upon a shelf,
To be covered dim and grey
With dust.

Your beloved candle light
Flickering softly
Among the shadows
Will never again find treasure
For me, in a little hidden measure,
Joy, for me in a long forgotten
Childhood toy,
Nor beauty for me, in an old book.

Now I dare not look
Upon my yesterdays,
Or ponder my probable tomorrows,
Their darkness, deadness, and their dearth
Frighten me . . . who blew the candle out!

AN EXPERIENCE.

G. M. F. writes: I was much interested in the article recently on nervous breakdowns. I have read everything on that subject that I could because I have needed it, and have been much benefited by some of my reading.

I think perhaps I had nearly everything in my background that has usually been considered conducive to nervous trouble. My parents had very little nervous stability, my home was broken by the death of my mother; I lived with grandparents who were very strict, fault finding, melancholy, and pessimistic. Consequently, I grew up sensitive, feeling that no one liked me or wanted me, with habits of dwelling on unhappy things, worrying, and expecting the worst. My compensations were at school and church, where I excelled in my studies and music.

Marriage and children made me somewhat happier because I felt wanted and needed, but I still had my bad habits, and a difficult mother-in-law and severe sicknesses of my children made me more nervous, so that even our family doctor said that he didn't wonder that I was nervous.

However, when in my late thirties I was so bad that I felt almost continually depressed, and found it practically impossible to think of cheerful things, and unjust criticisms would constantly rankle in my mind, I knew that somehow I must overcome this trouble, or it would get the better of me. Of course, I knew I should not do these things, but how to stop? That is where doctors' advice often fails.

I got hold of some literature. The claims seemed so extravagant and unreasonable that at first I doubted the value of any of it. Later I saw articles in other magazines on mental hygiene and similar subjects. I discovered the underlying idea in all of them was the same—to cultivate the habit of thinking thoughts of cheerfulness, of faith, confidence, courage, relaxation, and quiet serenity.

At first some of the affirmations suggested seemed foolish, but I found that repeating statements containing those thoughts does help to form the habit. I found, too, that I could not wait until I was in some hard trouble and expect to overcome my nervousness. It was only as I built up these good habits, day by day, little by little, that I had any success in getting over the hard places. "The momentum of a habit" is a phrase I heard the other day that seemed fitting.

I don't claim that I have overcome all my nervousness, or that I expect to ever fully overcome it. But I know I am improving, in spite of its being so hard to teach an old dog new tricks, and I am determined to go on improving and what I can't help I shall not worry about.

I do think that doctors would help a lot if they could suggest things to read of the right type for their nervous patients. But I suppose many patients would think the remedy worse than the disease.

REPLY.

As you have discovered, there is but one cure for nervous breakdown. That cure is training. In the last analysis, the patient must cure himself. Others can do no more than lead. Habits are changed from within.

WALNUT HULL STAIN.

Mrs. L. M. writes: How can one obtain the juice of walnut hulls to be used as walnut dye? Can it be bought?

REPLY.

You can make it from black walnut hulls. You can buy it in drug stores. Any drug store that has none can order it from the wholesale house.

RED PEPPER FEET.

T. F. K. writes: Your "Chilblains" noted. As a boy when I left my native "Sunny" California and went to my first snow in Oregon, my feet became chilled and I was in misery. An old Indian woman said to me: "Make your feet dry, shoe, too. Catch a little red pepper and put him inside your shoe. Pretty soon look, see how your feet." I have had great relief, even in France and Russia during the war, with this simple remedy.

COLD RESISTANCE.

Mrs. W. E. H. writes: 1. Please give some things to increase a child's resistance to colds.

2. What causes a child to perspire excessively when he is first put to bed? He is 5 years old and is just over a spell of scarlet fever. However, he perspired before his illness.

REPLY.

1. Life in the sunlight and open air is the best medicine for building up resistance. Cod liver oil, viosterol, and radiated foods help.

2. I suspect that he is somewhat rickety. Susceptibility to colds and rickets go hand in hand. They have the same remedy.

APARTMENT LEASE.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a "B" form lease on an apartment from May 1, 1931, to April 30, 1932. I recently lost my position, and, while we're paid up on our rent, would like to move before the lease expires. I'm willing to give thirty days' notice and pay for that period and move from the state. 1. Can the landlord stop me from moving if the rent is paid up to the following month? 2. Can landlord go into court and get judgment against me? 3. I own a piece of property that is held in joint deed which is mortgaged. Can he collect from this property, which is in another state? R. S. S.

1. If you were merely moving out of the apartment and were paid up to date the landlord could not interfere, but he would be entitled to collect the subsequent rent. If he is in a position, however, to prove that you intend to leave the state, he might have you arrested under ne exeat proceedings.

2. It seems probable that your lease contains the usual clause authorizing the entering of a judgment by confession. In such a case, the answer is "yes."

3. We do not understand your question. Collect what?

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RUBBISH HEAPS.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[Friend of the People.]—The vacant corner at Lawrence and Springfield is getting to be a nuisance. The merchants burn their rubbish there and the rats eat there and live under the sidewalks. There has also been a moving van parked in the 4800 block all the year. It does not help to make Chicago clean. H. E. T.

Report is made that moving van referred to has been removed; vacant lots were put in good condition and notices served on those responsible for burning rubbish on lots to discontinue this practice. Location will be kept under observation.

REPORT TO FACTORY INSPECTOR.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise through your column [1] if it is illegal for brokerage houses to have their girls about 25 to 30 years old on bookkeeping machines work the last three or four days of every month from about 14 to 16 hours a day. 2. If not, what legal procedure can be taken? E. G.

1. No, it is not.

2. Report the facts to the state factory inspector, Transportation building, in Chicago. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

SHANGHAI, July 26.—It is reported that the 12,000 Chinese troops which left Taku July 20 for Corea, convoyed by eight gunboats, have landed on the peninsula. The gunboats escorting the transports had instructions to fire upon the Japanese if the latter obstructed the landing of the army. The other troops which left Foochow for the Loochoo islands are also reported to have safely reached their destination. It is said that if the report of the landing of the Chinese troops unopposed is correct the prospects of a peaceful settlement of the dispute between China and Japan are improved, as the Chinese fleet of transports and gunboats could scarcely have escaped the vigilance of the Japanese war vessels, if the latter had been preparing to oppose the landing of the Chinese troops. This is believed to show that Japan is now more amenable to the counsels of the treaty powers.

YOKOHAMA, July 26.—The Japanese troops in Corea yesterday commenced a forward movement against the positions occupied by the Chinese troops in the peninsula. A battle is daily expected.

BERLIN, July 26.—The Cologne Gazette says the treaty concluded in 1885 between China and Japan empowers both governments to demand that the king of Corea maintain a force of troops sufficient to guarantee public safety and also to employ foreign officers to organize the Corean army. At the same time both parties to the treaty agreed not to send their own officers to organize the Corean army. Beyond the contention of Japan that the king of Corea has not attended to the maintenance of public order the terms of the treaty do not afford any grounds for Japan's interference.

CHEFOO.—The British steamer Fu Ping, when leaving Port Arthur, was fired upon by Russians. Three Chinese members of the crew were wounded. The Russians afterwards apologized for firing on the vessel. The Fu Ping upon its arrival at Wei-Hai-Wei filed a protest with the British commissioner. The American consul has reported to United States Minister Conger that the Russian authorities have refused to allow the American steamer Pleiades to leave Port Arthur. The Pleiades sailed from Seattle on Feb. 2 with a cargo of flour.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Russia is evidently not prepared at this time to give an answer to the note of Secretary Hay of the United States on the subject of the neutrality of China. The military authorities must be consulted, and the czar doubtless will refer the matter to Viceroy Alexieff, if he has not already done so. Russia, it can be said, is certainly as anxious as the United States that the war cause no risings or disorders in China; indeed, the attitude of China is already causing some misgivings here.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Viceroy Alexieff in a dispatch to the ministry of marine announces that the Russian torpedo transport Yenisei has been blown up as the result of accidentally striking a mine at Port Arthur. The Yenisei sank and Capt. Stepanoff, three officers, and ninety-one men were lost. The czar has ordered an army of 600,000 men to be in readiness to resist the invasion of Manchuria by the mikado's troops. The ukase, dated Feb. 10, orders all troops in the military district of Siberia to be placed in readiness for war.

CHICAGO.—One of the close friends of Jean Crones, suspected poisoner of the soup served at Archbishop Mundelein's dinner at the University club, was arrested last night. Through him the authorities expect to get trace of the man who is a known anarchist and poison expert and who had a hand in preparing the bouillon. The man arrested is John Allegrini. When Crones is caught it is thought the mystery which endangered the lives of the 200 guests at the dinner Thursday night may be solved.

CHICAGO.—Mr. and Mrs. Carter H. Harrison announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edith Ogden Harrison, to Cyrus Edson Manierre son of William R. Manierre of 1507 North Dearborn street.

LONDON.—The French have begun a new offensive in the Champagne district, the scene of the hardest recent fighting on the western front. A sudden attack, mainly with hand grenades, resulted in the capture of 300 yards of German trenches near Mesnil. The fighting still continued after the Germans made an unsuccessful counter attack.

VIENNA.—Italian troops have fought their first battle in the Balkans, according to an official announcement from the Austrian war office. The Italians in strong force attacked Austrian positions on the heights west of Tirana, ten miles east of the Albanian port of Durazzo, toward which an Austrian army is advancing. The war office claimed the repulse of the attacks.

HOARDING BY HOODLUMS.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Hoarding, like taxation, has now become a first page topic. However, hoarding, like taxation, did not begin with this depression.

Mr. Hoover, following precedent, has organized a "drive" to handle the matter. As usual, excellent intentions mark this effort, but it is difficult to believe that mere economic evangelism will prove effective as a cure for hoarding. With their usual loyalty, the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor have pledged themselves to assist the campaign, but nobody believes these boys are hoarding anything—in fact, I doubt whether they are holding anything.

There is one measure Mr. Hoover could take which would prove an effective offset to the withdrawal of money from circulation. To do this, however, would be to offend the principal elements which support his administration. Restoration of the legal sale of alcoholic liquors would restore to legitimate channels of commerce a flow of money amounting to probably $2,000,000,000 per year. In many respects the effect of prohibition upon our financial system has been similar to the well known effect of Asiatic tyranny upon the circulation of money in the orient, which is not so surprising when we recall that in its psychic roots prohibition is Asiatic.

It is well known that the velocity of money is greater in western industrial society than in the primitive peasant societies of the orient, where ages of tyranny and loot have made hoarding almost an instinct.

Until very recently India absorbed and hoarded $150,000,000 worth of gold a year, and this, by the way, is one of the causes of the present monetary troubles of the world.

The hoarding instinct has always been powerful among men engaged in surreptitious or criminal activities. The petty criminals of the pre-prohibition era always had cash stored away which they called "fall money." We have every reason to believe that the bootleg turnover in this country is around $2,000,000,000 a year, and the profits are certainly not less than $500,000,000.

In 1923 I wrote a story for THE TRIBUNE on the increased issue of $500 and $1,000 bills and pointed out at that time that many, if not most, of these large bills were going into the hoards of bootleggers or were kept in their pockets for emergency bail or bribery. I have been reliably informed that many of these gentry in New York and Chicago keep stacks of one grand notes with their shirts and socks for pay-off purposes.

It is notorious that the hoodlums in Chicago have safety deposit boxes stuffed full of money earned in bootlegging and rackets. Others accustomed to living by the gun and having no faith in American institutions, public or private, keep their money in their homes, under constant guard, and laugh at the idea of putting their money into banks. Nevertheless, these bootleg hoards were accessible to good real estate and security salesmen for a while, and there is much hoodlum capital invested in legitimate enterprise. But since the prosecution of Capone and others for violation of the income tax laws, the tendency of the racketeer to hoard his money has been stimulated. The failures of banks have also added force to their natural instincts.

It is my belief that prohibition is responsible for half of the money now withdrawn from legitimate commercial purposes. HARPER LEECH.

EXTENDING THE DOCTRINE.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—If England's request for the abolishment of the submarines is prompted by sincere and unselfish humanitarian motives, the writer suggests by way of a test of her sincerity and an offset to the barbarous destruction of human lives inflicted by these weapons that food blockades against hostile nations, whereby women, children and other noncombatants are threatened with starvation, be also prohibited by international laws governing modern warfare. ARMIN SEITZ.

THE FURNITURE BOOKLET.

Deerfield, Ill., Feb. 9.—To say the least I derived considerable pleasure from today's letter telling why the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers requested government help to boost their business.

Is there any wonder that Hoover had to build the multi-story and multi-block long palace to house the ever growing department of commerce? Is it a government's place to tell you whether to use oak, maple or pine chairs, tables or dressers? What has Uncle Sam become, a high pressure press agent or the runner of a super-information bureau, to whom we can come to when crying for help? Haven't we any getup left, or backbone left, that we cannot even buy a piece of furniture without being offered some of his unwanted advice? The government printing office will never need to look for work as long as we have a congress; so why can't these associations give out their printing to a private concern, of which I am sure there are a few who could stand more business?

By the way, which branch of the department of commerce can I write to to find out how to stop the yeasty taste in my home brew, or can some good old out-of-work brewer tell me?

A. R. J. SCHNEIDER.

MAKING THINGS WORSE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 9.—My business as a salesman brings me in direct contact with executives in almost every line of industry both large and small. They all seem to have the same slogan: "We are not buying anything."

How can they expect to get business and start the wheels of industry going again when they are so reluctant about spending a few dollars? One solution, as I see it from actual observation, is for some of the chronic kickers to get a sample case and go out on the road and get repulsed and rebuffed a few times. Then they will soon realize what they have been giving the poor traveler every time he tried to approach them in his effort to make a sale.

If the executive will buy he has a good chance to sell, and as industry is regulated by supply and demand it will help considerably in getting things going again. JOHN LESSICK.

HE PAID HIS TAXES.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—When I paid my real estate taxes last spring my neighbors jeered and laughed at me, saying that I ought to be wiser and to resist till the court had passed upon the matter. Now they claim to have won, and I am again the subject of mirth and laughter. Are we not in a terrible mess? If it appears that I overpaid will the excess be, by legislation or otherwise, applied on the next tax bill? Lawyers are not in accord on that question.

ALFRED O. ERICKSON,
Judge, the Municipal Court of Chicago.

FREE SPEECH, AND LOUD.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Why did the police arrest the old gentleman that walks around in the loop streets preaching with a Bible in his hand? There are many eccentric people in the loop district, and some of the country's foremost inventors, manufacturers, writers and statesmen of the past and present are eccentric people.

I say, let him preach. He does not obstruct pedestrian traffic. No crowds form because you can hear him a block away. SAMUEL E. FINLEY.

HAWAII 'INVADED'; TROOPS LANDED UNDER GUNFIRE

War Game Is Called Off "On Account of Rain."

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONOLULU, Feb. 12.—One division of infantry, a brigade of marines and two battalions of artillery of the "blue" forces effected a landing at Pokai bay, on the west coast of Oahu island this morning and began an assault on the Pearl Harbor defense from the rear in the joint army and navy maneuvers.

Soldiers and marines, under command of Brig. Gen. Fred L. Bradman, swarmed through the brush up the steep mountains back of Honolulu. The "black" troops defending the island, under Maj. Gen. A. J. Bowley, were in the mountains fighting the advance.

After the invaders had advanced twelve miles the umpires called the war off late this afternoon. The rain perhaps had something to do with it. The umpires felt sorry for the troops, struggling in the matted brush on the steep mountainsides which form a natural barrier to the city.

Analyze Game Next Week.

Next week the technical possibilities of the action will be taken up and a study will be made as to whether a siege, such as that at Vicksburg in the civil war, is possible to reduce the island by a sea attack.

The landing at Pokai bay was somewhat of a surprise, as it forms a pocket with only two outlets, one down a beach road which is supposed to be impassable and under fire all the way of the thirty mile march to Pearl Harbor, and the other over the mountains.

The one main pass here, Kolekole, has a sheer drop of 1,600 feet toward the sea and is a place where a small body of men could keep out an army. There are two other narrow trails through tangled trees and bushes 2,900 feet above the sea, which are at times only the width of a goat trail.

"It would take 100,000 men to make an actual landing here in time of real war with any chance of success," said an officer of the blues as he stood on shore and looked at the problem.

The landing began at dawn and by afternoon the blues advanced to Mailiaation. Ahead of them the road came to a narrow place between the had prepared to meet the invasion with a thousand machine gun nests in roadside jungles and hills.

A Great Spectacle.

The landing of the blue forces was a great spectacle. The invaders put down a smoke screen at 4:30 a. m. The battleships and cruisers began a bombardment of the defense. Blue airplanes went out to protect the landing, which began at 7:35 a. m. Black planes came out to meet the attack. There was an aerial battle as a prologue to the shore work.

Soldiers of the 30th infantry of San Francisco, under command of Col. Charles B. Stone, were the first ashore. They were rather slow getting on the beach and the soldiers looked as if they had been seasick. This formed the left wing of the maneuvers. The right wing, led by marines, landed later.

The ships were three miles offshore, and it took more than an hour for the launches to get to the beach. There are no surf or reefs here and there were no accidents.

Troops Jump into Water.

Most of the troops jumped into the water when they got near enough and crouched to fire from behind sandbags. The marines used snappy, earnest, picturesque language.

They did not notice an old boat on the beach and found that a machine gun nest of blacks was hidden there. A black plane broke through the circle of blues and bombed a boatload of soldiers. Fire was drawn from the shore of the bay and the hills opposite. Marines dragged machine guns and ammunition through the sand and took up a second position on the railroad track.

DRUGGIST'S ASK BEVAN RETRACT BOOTLEG CHARGE

Daniel P. Seibert, president of the Chicago Retail Druggists' association, yesterday demanded that Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, Chicaog surgeon and former president of the American Medical association, publicly retract his remark before a senate committee that Chicago druggists sell liquor illegally.

The demand followed a meeting of the executive board of the druggists' association. Mr. Seibert asked why, if Dr. Bevan was in possession of facts relative to the violation of the Volstead act, he does not reveal the names of men individually instead of trying to incriminate the whole medical and pharmaceutical profession. "I challenge the statement," said President Seibert, "as representative of 2,000 pharmacists in this city."

When he appeared before the Bingham senatorial committee in Washington on Feb. 3 Dr. Bevan charged that 90 per cent of physicians' liquor prescriptions had a bootleg taint.

LABOR PROTEST ON WILKERSON DELAYS HEARING

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Hearings before the senate judiciary subcommittee on the appointment of Judge James H. Wilkerson to the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago were today postponed to give Senator Glenn [Rep., Ill.], who is urging Wilkerson's confirmation, opportunity to secure some Chicago information regarding the musicians' union strike in 1928.

Attorney Donald R. Richberg, representing 21 labor organizations opposed to the appointment, today charged Judge Wilkerson with having issued too stringent judicial orders in that case.

Referring to the recent conviction of Capone, which drew Judge Wilkerson into national limelight, Attorney Richberg said: "Judge Wilkerson seems hardly entitled to the peans of praise by the population of Chicago for convicting one gangster through the ordinary processes of law when there are still hundreds of gangsters in the city."

BECOMES MOTHER

CROWN PRINCESS MARTHA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 12.—Crown Princess Martha of Norway gave birth to a second daughter at 4:36 o'clock this morning. The arrival of the new princess took the royal family as well as the nation by surprise, as only yesterday a court circular was published directing all clergymen to pray for the princess on next Sunday.

Two days ago the princess attended a public concert and last evening, together with Crown Prince Olaf, visited their new home on the outskirts of the capital. A few hours later the daughter was born.

The capital was bedecked with flags today and at noon a salute of 21 guns was fired from the old Fortress Akershus.

CANAL LAWYERS' FINAL PLEAS SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Fate of 55 Will Be Up to Supreme Court.

Oral arguments on behalf of the 55 lawyers employed by the Chicago sanitary district during the "whoopee" régime, against whom the Chicago Bar association petitioned for disciplinary action by the Illinois Supreme court, will be heard before the justices at Springfield next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

JUDGE THOMAS TAYLOR.

The hearing will be the final opportunity for the attorneys to offer mitigating evidence against the charges that they countenanced or profited directly by the padded pay rolls of the district. After the arguments are completed the judges will take under consideration the 20,000 word report and the recommendations of Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor Jr., who acted as a commissioner for the high court during extended sessions in Chicago last winter. The court also will consider the final recommendations of Attorney W. R. Matheny, representing the bar association.

Expect Ruling in March.

The ruling which will determine the course of punishment or dismissal of charges against the lawyers is not expected before the March term of court.

Judge Taylor's recommendations were made public last Oct. 21, the day before the report was dispatched to the clerk of the Supreme court at Springfield. In that report he suggested that nine of the lawyers be permanently disbarred from practice, that eight others be suspended for a period of two years, and that eleven be suspended for one year. Seventeen lawyers were recommended for censure and nine were cleared of the charges. One attorney's case was referred to the court for further directions.

Earlier Report Modified.

In an earlier draft of the report made public in July Judge Taylor had considered 22 of the lawyers worthy of more drastic punishment, although no others had been recommended for permanent disbarment. Subsequently he allowed two weeks in September and October for arguments against his findings before drawing the ultimate form of his report.

The verdict of the high court will establish for the first time in the Illinois courts the ethical duty of an attorney to his clients. Judge Taylor has explained that he approached the question of the guilt of the lawyers who appeared before him with the premise that the duty of an attorney for a public body is even higher than that due an individual client, because a lawyer for a governmental body must safeguard public welfare.

MANY QUIT SHIP AS FOG DELAYS OPENING OF BAR

New York, Feb. 12. — (AP) — The liner Berengaria, its bar still closed and its passenger list shortened considerably, steamed from its pier early tonight, its departure on a four day holiday cruise to Bermuda already delayed 24 hours because of thick fog.

Nearly 300 passengers had packed their luggage and stalked down the gangplanks because of the delay in sailing. They had entertained themselves or slept while waiting for the liner to pass the 12 mile line when the bar would be open.

Officials sought to pacify the voyagers as a tide of cancellations set in. The 1,188 passengers had planned to spend Saturday in Bermuda and be back in New York Monday morning.

A few hours before the Berengaria's postponed scheduled departure at 9 p. m. the Cunard line announced the remaining passengers had voted to extend the tour to Tuesday, instead of Monday, so they could spend a day in Bermuda as originally planned. The Berengaria consequently will leave for Europe at midnight Tuesday instead of Monday.

Thousands Hunt Way to Say It with Valentines

A good many people in Chicago yesterday were hovering over counters, haunting flower shops and telegraph offices searching for the most appropriate ways of saying it with a valentine tomorrow. Lacey valentines and flowers continued to hold their own in popuarity, while into the mails went thousands of messages and packages containing more practical valentine gifts. Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder said there was a noticeable increase in packages and letters.

The Charming Cheat

SYNOPSIS.

Ricardo Dane visits New York in search of his aunt, Miss Filomena Stanley, his mother's half-sister. Ricardo's mother had recently died and left him heir to the ranch and mountain land in Romedu valley, California, where he had spent most of his life. He intended to find his sole remaining near relative and bring her back to Romeu valley. He had understood this to be his mother's dying wish. His aunt, an actress, had been out of favor with the family, although his mother had sent her checks.

Ricardo locates a Filomena Stanley, but instead of an aged aunt he finds a beautiful young aunt. She is living in a Bohemian studio with a Follies girl, named Frances. Ricardo readily believes this lovely creature, who acknowledges the relationship. His arrival was fortunate for Filomena, who had been out of work for weeks and was in a sad state financially. Ricardo showers her with gifts and moves her into a better apartment. He moves into the same building on another floor. Webster Sutton, a college friend of Ricardo's, visits New York. He and Eunice Greenway, a girl from home, who is studying in New York, are entertained by Ricardo and his aunt. Eunice is a friend of Ricardo's fiancée, Rachel Beatty. She heartily disapproves of Filomena. Web believes his friend is being trimmed and, before he leaves, tells him so. Ricardo learns that Web was right when Filomena is called home, due to the illness of her father. He goes with her and brings her back to New York to have his revenge. After another search, Ricardo finds his real aunt. She is acting in a Broadway production. Ricardo takes Filomena to the city hall, where they obtain a marriage license. His plan is to have her prepare for the wedding and leave her waiting at the church, while he'll be on his way back to Romeu. Filomena sets the day and the evening before they have a celebration. Next morning Ricardo is awakened by the delivery of a telegram.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

THE END OF THE GAME.

It was eleven o'clock. Upstairs, far away from him, Filomena, brisk and practical in the morning sunshine, trim in her green jersey frock, was probably practicing at the piano.

The telegram lay on the floor. With an effort he leaned over far enough to pick up the message. Probably the entire ranch had been swallowed by an earthquake.

He laid it on the table and telephoned down to Edward, imploring him to obtain hot coffee for him. He could not possibly face bad news until he felt less a physical wreck.

Ricardo succeeded in dismissing his benefactor, with largesse. He bathed and dressed. Then he decided he could bear to face the telegram.

"You go to the devil," cried Ricardo.

The actual fact was that Rachel was on her way to New York and within twenty-four hours would be here with him. Her father was on a business trip. She was coming along. Confirming her letter. Her letter? The letter, of course, that he had not yet opened.

Today was today, not last night, which was lost forever. He himself, with his head throbbing and his knee very sore (some one had kicked him on the knee, a dirty underhand thing to do), could not in the clear sun of December noontide recapture last night's reckless mood.

He could have wept in self-commiseration.

Rachel would be here in less than twenty-four hours. Last night was irrevocably lost and there was now no escape. Escape? Escape from Rachel whom he loved?

But he had lost Filomena.

He would have to go back to Romeu valley and live out the rest of his life there, as he had always meant to do, as his fathers had before him, in the shuttered old house on the hill. It was a dreary picture.

A brisk businesslike knock at his door broke his melancholy reverie. Still torn with self-pity, he opened it.

Filomena stood there, the pert daylight Filomena whom he had fancied upstairs at the piano, in her green dress and hat, her fur coat over her arm.

"Well," she said, and looked at him with merriment in her eyes.

"Come on in," he invited gloomily.

She stepped within the door. "You make a snappy comeback," she observed. "You were dead to the world a few hours ago."

"Thanks for dragging in the body."

"Don't mention it. No trouble at all." She paused, looked questioningly. Her eyes had gone past him to the table. For a moment he thought it was the telegram. Then he saw that her gaze rested on the sapphire pin that glinted blue on the bare dark surface of the table. He had left it lying there, had forgotten it. That showed what a state of mind he'd been in.

She saw that he followed her glance. "Very pretty," she remarked.

"It's—I got it for a—Christmas present," he began. "You see, the fact really is——"

"For me, Ricardo?" she touched the gleaming stone with the pink tip of one finger, gently, if casually.

"No," he replied, with a tremendous effort. "Not for you, Filomena. For—Rachel."

"O, I see. And Rachel is——"

"The girl I—I'm going to marry."

Her eyes did not falter. She reached toward the brassbound box and took out a cigaret.

"Nice girl, I hope," she said, striking a match. "Think I heard her mentioned."

"I've known her for a long time," he began, realizing that Rachel's photograph still lay face down at the other end of the table.

Again she touched, delicately, the deep blue glitter of the sapphire. "Right costly trifle, I should say," she commented, "but worthy of her, I'm sure."

"That would lend her an air of respectability," said Filomena. "Well, lots of luck to you and the honorable children."

She turned toward the door.

"Wait a minute, can't you?"

She paused inquiringly.

"Couldn't we—couldn't you come out and dance tonight? Or—or something? One more night——"

"These last nights," she looked a little bored. "These farewell parties. They get a little bit—one can have too many of them. You could scarcely improve on last night, you know, really."

He colored. "Last night——"

"Another night would be just an anti-climax, seems to me," she observed.

"Fil, can't you——" He stepped around to her side suddenly, tried to take her hands. She withdrew them definitely and he went on quickly: "Fil, darling, I love you so much—well, I won't say that now. But you'll just have to forget everything that I said last night, and—I'm going away, if you could remember——"

"I know," she said, too quickly. "I understand. You're going back and marry this Rachel. She's a good, honest girl, the kind they have out there where all those horses are. Well, we won't pollute you and your romance by any more frisking around with these naughty New York chorus girls. It's all right with me.

She had backed away from him. She was at the door.

"But, Filomena——"

"As for what you want me to remember—I'll remember you always, Ricardo Dane, because you're the first man I've ever loved. I suppose maybe you'll be the last." Her voice trembled as she stopped.

"Fil, if you wouldn't say that——"

"I have to say it, because it's true. I knew all the time, somehow, inside, that it wouldn't go on; that something would happen. I didn't think of—this."

"Fil, if you only wouldn't——"

"And you were engaged to this Rachel all the time. And you called me a liar. And you told me—you said—but I remember now. You never did ask me to marry you. You never meant——"

"No," he admitted. "I never meant to."

"Wasting two good dollars on that license," she pondered. "I never knew they really did it. I never supposed, outside a movie—O, were you going to have a fake preacher? Dicky, were you? If you were, I wish I hadn't found out about it. Were you, darling? That would just be too——"

"No, I wasn't," he cried angrily.

"You must have meant something." Comprehension lit her eyes suddenly. "You were just going to let me down. Is that it? O, I see."

"Fil, darling," he caught her arm. "I don't know what to say to you, I don't know what to do. I know I haven't treated you decently, but I can't let you go off like this—I love you too much——"

"But how get around that marriage license?" she inquired, a bit too coolly. "It's hard for me to see——"

"Darling, I can't see myself. There's no excuse I can make, no way to explain, or anything. I feel like—like a——"

"Cad is what you mean, of course," she supplied helpfully. "Do go on and say it. I never heard a man call himself a cad, and I've always wished——"

"You go to the devil," cried Ricardo, recovering spirit. "You know what I mean. You started this thing, and now——"

"And now," said Filomena, who had got the door open, "I'm the one who will finish it, Dicky, dear." She blew a kiss, as she ran toward the stairs.

Ricardo was left alone, with his wretched head, with the sapphire pin gleaming on the table, and with Rachel's photograph face down before it. Filomena had had the last word, but at least she had not made that word good-by.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Hat Out of Place.

Recently my husband and I attended a formal dinner. Because it was a cold, windy night, I decided to wear a hat, intending to leave it in the car when we arrived at our destination. But I forgot my good intentions! Imagine my embarrassment when I discovered after entering the festive home that I was grandly attired in evening slippers, gown and wrap, while on my head perched last year's oldest, most weatherbeaten red felt hat. BOOKS

Stefan Zweig Studies Three Mental Healers

Two Viennese and Eddy Are His Subjects.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Mental Healers," by Stefan Zweig [Viking].

"Apocalypse," by D. H. Lawrence [Viking].

Both published today.

Stefan Zweig, one of the outstanding serious writers of Germany, has added today to his previous three volumes on "Master Builders"—two of which have already been published in translation, and the other on the publishing fire—a volume called "Mental Healers."

STEFAN ZWEIG.

The first of the four volumes to reach English readers was "Adepts in Self-Portraiture," which contained biographical-critical essays on Casanova, Stendahl and Tolstoy.

The second was called "Three Masters" and was devoted to Balzac, Dickens and Dostoievsky. "The Struggle with the Daimon," which is being stewed in its own juices until the English translation is completed, questions the lives and theories of Holderin, Kleist, and Nietzsche—more typically German subjects than those of any of Herr Zweig's other books. "Mental Healers" has two Viennese and one American in its trilogy of portrait-subjects. Franz Anton Mesmer and Sigmund Freud of Vienna, Mary Baker Eddy of Lynn and Boston, Mass., U. S. A.

The author says in his introduction to the book: "I do not here propose to undertake a systematic history of every kind of mental healing. My only desire is to portray ideas as embodied in certain human lives. A thought grows in a man's brain, and then leaps from this man to invade the whole world. It seems to me that such a spiritual happening makes the idea more concretely intelligible than could any formal or detailed history of its origin and spread. I have therefore chosen three persons, who, going their several ways, have worked upon the same principle and brought healing to hundreds of thousands. Mesmer, by means of suggestion, strengthening the will to health; Mary Baker Eddy, by the anesthetic ecstacy of faith, conjuring pain and sickness out of the world; Freud, by rendering the patient aware of the conflict that burdens the unconscious and thus enabling him to escape its spell."

Herr Zweig goes on to say that he has never practiced any of the methods himself, that he isn't fanatically convinced of the efficacy of any of them, and that he isn't moved to write about them out of gratitude.

The volume is an integral part of the vast literary structure of his "Master Builders" series. It is a biographical and critical presentation of ideas as they have become widely influential in human thought rather than of specific human beings, although to most readers "Mental Healers" will seem merely the life stories of two men and one woman who earned fame [and in one case vast fortune] by healing the sick. To the author they were just three human beings, not in any sense saints—or sinners. The followers of the long dead Mesmer have mostly disappeared off the face of the earth so that his cult cannot rise up either in pain or paean at Herr Zweig's words. Christian Scientists will find in his short biography of Mrs. Eddy disturbing sentences, to put the statement mildly, but anti-Christian Scientists will also find in the pages such statements as "this self-taught woman, standing apart from the wisdom of the schools, has acquired a permanent place among the pioneers of psychology, of the science of the soul," and an analysis of that place which may surprise them.

The followers of the Viennese psychoanalyst have not—at least publicly—looked upon his teachings as a religion so that they are not so vulnerable to the thrusts of Herr Zweig toward their idol, but on the other hand Herr Zweig finds Freud the human purveyor of an idea of such infinite importance that any Freudian would have hard work to get perturbed at the author's pages about the father of modern psychoanalysis.

"Apocalypse," by D. H. Lawrence, is, to me at least, the least interesting book from that recently stilled pen. Lawrence wrote it as he was dying, and it has a strong groping for religious comfort in it, the kind of groping that often takes the form of denial of existing forms of religion to comfort human hearts. It is interesting that Lawrence's moribund gropings toward an understanding of life should have been read with Herr Zweig's volume on the successful search of more fortunate humans for an explanation of the ways of God with man. "Apocalypse" contains none of the beautiful writing that has made Lawrence a famous literary figure, and likewise practically none of the direct assertions of the elder Lawrence about sex. There is an excellent, an almost tenderly understanding introduction by Richard Aldington. To me the introduction is much more interesting than the text of "Apocalypse."

Robbins' Journal, by Archibald Robbins [Conde Nast Press], relates the experiences of a shipwrecked crew among the Arabs.

Await Life Story Written by E. V. Lucas

Swinnerton Gives Forecast of Coming Work.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

E. V. Lucas has at last done what all his friends and admirers have long hoped that he would do. He has written his autobiography. It ought to be one of the very best and most interesting of literary autobiographies, for Mr. Lucas has had a long and active experience of men and affairs. He is that unique being, a scholar-humorist. His edition of the works of Charles Lamb is the standard edition; his essays are known and loved wherever essays are read; his novels [which some would say are the novels of an essayist] are filled with tender feeling and wit. He is publisher and author, a member of the "Punch" Round Table, friend of many authors, a traveler, a lover of Vermeer, a cricketer, and a man for any company of wits and gourmets.

E. V. LUCAS.

With all these sides, and more, to his character, with all these approaches to life, Mr. Lucas unites a mind of astringent quality. Though his manner is gentle, his judgment is keen and relentless. He is one of the great publishers' readers of this century. He has long been the intimate companion of men like Sir James Barrie, Maurice Baring, H. G. Wells, and Arnold Bennett. If, as I expect, he has written of these men with the understanding which only Mr. Lucas can command, his autobiography should be a refreshing and delightful book.

Louis Golding is the latest English novelist to "go saga." Following the example of several of his more celebrated fellows, he has written an enormously long novel which covers the lives of innumerable people. Some are Jews and some are gentiles, but all live in the same street in Manchester. It is the street that gives a unity to the book, indeed, for one side of it is entirely occupied by Jews and the other side is entirely occupied by gentiles. Mr. Golding begins very well indeed, and tells with great tenderness the love story of a young sailor and his sweetheart. This part of the book, which pictures the Jewish community always with humor and sympathy, is full of beauties, and I think it will be much liked by those with a taste for pleasant sentiment. As the book proceeds, however it takes the war in its stride, and we are shown the effects of the war upon the community in "Magnolia Street." [That is the title of the book.] Here it becomes a little more difficult to follow, and such readers as may have a distaste for very long novels will perhaps wish that the author had not entered the field. A street becomes too unsatisfactory a link in so many lives. It does not quite allow Mr. Golding to prove it an epitome of life in general. His attempt is interesting and, as I have said, it contains many tendernesses and much humor. The idyll with which the book opens could hardly be bettered. It is only upon the question of unity that I think the book breaks down. There one feels the author to have been inspired not by an irresistible force of imagination but by a deliberate plan.

A young novelist of great distinction whose work should be watched by those who bear new talents in mind is Miss Barbara Noble. Miss Noble wrote and published last year, when she was only 21, a first book entitled "The Years That Take the Best Away." It enjoyed in London a fair success, and was taken seriously by those who read it. Now Miss Noble has written, or has at any rate nearly finished writing, another novel, which is to be called "The Wave Breaks." In many respects this book shows an increase of power. Its construction is peculiar, and may not be immediately appreciated, although it does not present any difficulties in understanding. What Miss Noble has tried to do is to show the various branches of a single odd and interesting family, partly as they are seen through the eyes of an alert and intelligent and imaginative girl, partly as they reveal themselves in the family circle itself. I think very highly indeed of Miss Noble's work, and believe that she may presently write a book upon a large scale which will be wholly successful. If she has not quite done that in "The Wave Breaks" she certainly demonstrates the possibilities of her talent very clearly, and I think she will find new and enthusiastic readers.

To the Man Who Knows Its Origin Every Word Presents a Picture

ABET

A Word that Grew from the Baiting of Wild Animals

From the ancient sport of bear baiting, the English language has taken an exciting word and fitted it to a milder use. Abet goes far back to an Old German or Scandinavian origin that conjures up a picture of hardy men going to the chase with their packs of hunting dogs. Icelandic beita meant "to feed" or "to hunt" with dogs. Low German betan meant "to cause to bite." Probably from these sources the Old French derived its word beter meaning "to bait" a bear, and abeter, "to excite or incite," which is the immediate source of our own abet. No longer applied to animals, it signifies in English the encouraging or inciting of persons and, in modern language, is used chiefly in a bad sense. There are thousands of such stories about the origins of English words in

Old Valentines Not Cautious in Their Verse

Speak of Love and Ask Hand of the Fair One.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Like Pendennis, I have fallen in love—not with the Venus of Milo, but with the lovely lacy valentines our grandmothers received in the days when flowers were "posies" and letters "missives." The dashing young gentlemen meant the sentiments they expressed, never once seeing a breach of promise in the offing.

"But our modern beaux—they dare not venture beyond a big red candy filled heart, with 'To my sweetheart' inscribed on the top. Why, that is just what my valentine will be tomorrow," laughed one of society's most beloved matrons, whose name I have promised not to divulge. Yesterday she carefully unwrapped one of her first valentines—a lacy missive with Cupids darting from the corners and rosebuds nestled in the center. It carries the proposal she accepted on her 18th birthday, "To my Valentine: The charm that best can sweeten life is found to be a faithful wife; the wife I seek—good, kind, and true—love whispers I shall find in you."

A tear dropped as she folded the tissue around it again. "There are so many pleasant memories," she said. "I wish valentines were still so beautiful. Profuse as the verses were, they helped more than one young gentleman over love's stile."

And those were the days—the forgotten forties, fifties, and sixties—when the valentine was at high noon. Of course, there are a few who contend that the pretty custom goes back to the time Adam presented Mme. Eve with a flower and that Ben Jonson's "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" is a valentine. But even for historic reference it is unnecessary to search back of the revival of the Roman Lupercalia in the third century and the story of the Christian martyr, Valentino, who wrote a message of love on Feb. 14, the day of his execution, to his jailer's daughter.

Any one interested in valentines, especially those dating back a century, should certainly know that our city boasts two fine collections, one in the Art institute and the other at the Chicago Historical society. In fact, the collection the late Mrs. Emma B. Hodge gave to the institute is one of the two finest in the country. It recalls the story of Miss Esther Howland whom student at Mount Holyoke college will toast tomorrow as the maker of the first American valentine and the very first valentine in which printed verse was used.

Two years after her graduation from Holyoke in 1847 Miss Howland told her father, a Worcester stationer, she could improve on the valentines he was importing from England. With lace paper, colored paper, and paper flowers she went to work and made the little missive now in the Art institute. One led to another until she soon found herself with a factory producing $100,000 in valentines annually. Also in the collection Mrs. Hodge gave to the institute are the workbox Miss Howland used for her first valentine, three rare books—"New Gentleman's Valentine Writer," "Cupid's Annual Charter," and "The Girdle of Venus"—and a series of valentines issued in celebration of Queen Victoria's marriage.

⊸

Another of Miss Howland's first tokens is at the Historical society with valentines contributed by early Chicagoans. A romance covering a quarter of a century is revealed in the pretty messages sent by Peter Frost to his future wife between 1849 and 1874. There is the first comic valentine known to have been received in the city. The envelope bearing a postmark of 1851 is addressed to Miss Emma Taylor, then of 85 State street. Humor has prevailed since then, however, reaching its height in the messages sent during the world war. John McCutcheon drew the illustration and George Ade wrote the verse in a valentine sent to a doughboy in France. It shows a mother who has censored her daughter's mail and reads: "Mr. Soldier Man—I cannot send what my daughter wrote. It might set fire to the darned old boat."

The Art institute collection has inspired the decorations and costumes to be used this evening at a party at the Jackson Park Yacht club. The ballroom will be a red satin Valentine box and the guests the quaint ladies of a by-gone day who sang Ophelia's song:

"Tomorrow is St. Valentine's day,
All in a morning betime
And I a maid at your window
To be your valentine."

'Beast of City' Is Different Crime Movie

Cholo.....J. Carrol Naish

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Until Frank Loesch, Judge Wilkerson, et al, got busy most of us had an idea that city cleanups of crime were in the nature of a sweet Utopian dream. We're beginning to know differently. To further encourage our budding hopes in the future spotlessness of our town comes Walter Huston as one Jim Fitzpatrick, who wears proudly his insignia of chief of police and to his last triumphant gasp proves true to this oath of office:

"I promise to uphold the constitution of the United States and to fulfill my duties as chief of police to the best of my ability."

⊸

The picture that draws Walter Huston's services gets a lucky break. No rôle is too insignificant to claim this actor's concentrated attention while he is playing it. "Abraham Lincoln" is, undoubtedly, the greatest thing he has ever done, but to the portrayal of Corlaix in "Woman of Monte Carlo," the warden in "The Criminal Code," Rossiter in "The Lady Lies," Fitzpatrick in "Beast of the City" he brings the same splendid "I Will" spirit with which he imbued his "Father Abraham." This undeviating conscientiousness, coupled with his remarkable ability, argues well for his long continued presence on our screens.

By this time you've mentally cataloged "Beast of the City" as "another crime picture." You're right. It is. And for several reels it's not unlike the rank and file. Then it starts in to be different. The finale is a knockout—in more ways than one.

Jean Hersholt, fine character actor and of the Huston caliber, is a properly beastly "beast." Wallace Ford, as the chief's weak young brother, a detective on the force, gives a convincing portrayal of unstable youth at the mercy of his passions and associates. Jean Harlow plays well the hussy who does all things for the glory of Sam Belmonte, the "beast" whose octopus arms slimily enfold municipal activities.

Tully Marshall as the underworld king's lawyer does a rarely good job. His speech to a jury in behalf of certain unsavory clients is a gem! The supporting cast was well chosen as to type and the members are players of ability. Direction is sure.

"CAIN."

Produced by Talking Picture Epics.
Directed by Leon Poirier.
Presented at the Castle theater.

THE CAST.

Cain.....Thomy Bourdelle
Zouzour.....Rama Tahe

"Cain," a French production, photographed on the French tropical island of Nossibe, is about seven-eighths silent. It holds your attention without particularly interesting you. It has a basic idea that becomes apparent only in the last reel and is acted capably but with no spark of unusual talent.

The story told is of a French ship's stoker, who, rebelling at authority, decides to become à la Robinson Crusoe. He leaves the boat while the latter is in port off Madagascar, taking with him considerable in the way of gewgaws and money belonging to the passengers who have gone ashore. After some trying days in an open boat, where he suffers from hunger, thirst, heat and fear of sharks, he is cast on an island. Here he proceeds to go native, taking to wife a wild woman he captures and hauls off to his homemade retreat in true cave man fashion.

Years and babies come. Then Cain grows restless. He longs for his own kind. Finally the ship he had deserted spots his signals. He is rescued. Before the boat weighs anchor, however, he finds himself once more rebelling at orders to "Button that coat!" and "Go down in the stoke hole!" A radio voice yowling news of wars and disasters of various sorts occurring back in the world from which he had taken leave of absence further disturbs him.

He turns a wavering eye islandward—and there in a boat is his Zouzour, pulling frantically out toward the ship. Overboard goes Cain. Back to the primitive. Idea—civilization isn't all it's cracked up to be.

Photography, sets and scenery are pleasing, and there are two of the cutest monkeys——!

Remember Your Child Problem Is Not Unique

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Misery loves company! By written word and spoken word I hear the following again and again.

"At least it's a comfort to know that mine is not the only child who . . . " and after the dots may be listed any one of a dozen of the troublesome things in children's behavior. Perhaps it's hating to go to bed, or not eating, or fighting against naps, or it may be turning grouchy or touchy as they get into their teens. But whatever it is, parents seem to experience a great sense of comfort when they find that many other perfectly normal children are acting as theirs do.

"Does your daughter do that, too?" a mother will exclaim with a sigh of relief. Or, "I thought there was something terribly wrong. I'm so glad to hear other children go through these times."

It's a real help to parents simply to know that certain troubling ways in which their children behave are not unusual or abnormal. Then, when they find how other mothers or fathers have cleared up the trouble, they are still further encouraged. Either they can emulate their example—or more calmly, feel encouraged to seek a solution that meets their individual case.

The letters about children are used in this column for a number of reasons. Sometimes because they are simply too good to keep . . . Sometimes because they help by showing what not to do. And sometimes because they simply "hold the mirror up to nature" and comfort parents by showing them that their children are not abnormal exceptions—that certain child behavior is universal—that "children are like that."

Sane Paintings at Club Show Win Approval

Refuse to Retreat Before Modernism.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Association of Painters and Sculptors of Chicago is an organization of artists who, despite the threat of modernism, have not faltered in their stride but have continued and do continue to accomplish sane and beautiful painting. Their present exhibit at Shawnee Country club, Wilmette, is illustrative of their manner. The paintings are diversified in technique and subject, but the entire show hangs together as being the product of men and women who know how to draw and draw accurately; who know how to use color and use color intelligently.

There is so much that is weak in the novelty painting which is being just now thrust upon a long suffering public that it comes as a decided relief to find an exhibit for which one does not have to make apology. Frequently this is true of a one man or three man show, but when a group is in question, usually there is a weak brother who must be interpreted. None of these painters need interpreters. All of the paintings speak for themselves.

⊸

Rarely will you find as delicate and lovely a portrait as "The Little Dancer" Ingeborg Christensen offers. The child with her soft cloud of hair and her soft brown eyes is curled in a chair, the pink skirts of her costume a radiance about her. It is a beautiful canvas.

Othmar Hoffler shows a large painting, "Easter Morning," with a little girl just from her tub ready for a good rubbing at the hands of her patient mother. There is a flavor of Brittany about the painting and we are strongly reminded of other figure paintings by Mr. Hoffler which have had a turdy beauty to commend them.

"Siesta," by Walter Krawiec, shows tired horses in a stable and is excellently handled. "Portrait of Dr. Spence," by Elizabeth K. Peyraud, is a superb piece of painting. "Tea for Madame," by Anna Lee Stacey, is an attractive study of a maid with a tea tray in her hand standing by a door. The coloring in this is subtle and fascinating.

John F. Stacey shows a beautiful landscape, "Misty Morning on the Seine." Antonin Sterba has one of his finest portraits in "Luciana Torres, Gardner," a very effective figure painting.

Among the other artists represented, and their various pictures would greatly enhance the value of the current Art institute Chicago Artists' exhibit, are Frank V. Dudley, Karl Plath, Gerald Frank, Oscar Gross, Florence White Williams, Joseph P. Birren, Lucie Hartrath, and Ethel Louie Coe.

British Censors Issue Warning on U. S. Movies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Pajamas, cocktails, bedroom episodes and illicit love of which Hollywood films are accused by shocked British censors simply will not be given approval henceforth and Parisian papers also please copy.

Not only the outward manifestations of racey incidents in them will be disapproved but the censors hereafter will be frowning on the exhibition of films which they consider mainly dependent on sex for their interest.

Hollywood is not singled out in the censors' report which will be issued soon, but 19 films which were rejected last year were mostly American. The report is described as a blanket notice to all producers. A film banned by the board of film censors can only be shown if local authorities want to ignore the ruling.

Oil Shampoo Gains Favor; Great Aid to Hair Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

There isn't anything new about treating oily hair with oil. It's been done for some time. And has been found, in many cases, a satisfactory form of treatment. It's only new to have some one inquire when you call up for a shampoo treatment if you want an oil shampoo or the regular kind. This happened recently, indicating a growing popularity of the oil shampoo.

The oil shampoo is not the same thing as a hot oil scalp treatment. The hot oil treatment is intended to counteract dandruff and dryness of both scalp and hair and to correct other scalp disorders. The oil shampoo is purely a cleansing process. The claim is that the oil has certain revitalizing properties.

Anyway, with an oil shampoo you get good and vigorous massage movements. The idea is to loosen the scalp tension, also any débris from scale secretions. And this is followed with a thorough rinsing of the oil and dirt. In some places you get with the cleansing and massage a vibratory treatment with its subsequent benefit to scalp and hair through nerve and blood stream betterment.

The prejudice that the oil cannot be removed without some oil residue being left on the hair after the treatment has been disproved. To remove plain olive oil or castor oil without soaping, however, is almost impossible. The shampoo oils are soluble in water. The principle of the oil shampoo is that the oil dissolves the scalp dirt and dandruff.

I note with gratification the growing tendency of women to have hair and scalp treatments for no other reason than to possess a more beautiful quality of hair. And why shouldn't the scalp and hair be just as much in line for expert treatment as is the skin for expert massage care? If anything, the hair needs the treatments more. The face does get some daily greasing and cleansing.

The hair, on account of its wave, is slighted. The scalp is included in the slight. It may go for a year with no more attention than is involved in a shampoo treatment, and latter may be indulged in only once in two or three weeks.

Covent Garden Abandons Summer Opera Policy

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Covent Garden opera syndicate tonight announced its decision to dispense with the usual summer season of international opera this year, devoting its reserves instead to the production of opera in English next autumn. The reason given is that prevailing conditions are imposing the necessity of limiting expenditure and avoidance of exporting capital since international opera involves the engagement of foreign artists.

Letter Tells of Dr. Stamp, Fiance of Frances Bosworth

BY JUDITH CASS.

A LETTER from London brings the news that Dr. Trevor D. Stamp, who is coming to Chicago in less than two months to claim pretty Frances Bosworth as his bride, is 24 years old and a dark, fine looking young man of medium build. Miss Bosworth's friends have been wondering, of course, what her fiancé is like, and although they have seen his picture and heard Miss Bosworth rave about him, as all fiancées since the world began have enthused over their prospective husbands, still perhaps the friends will be glad to have an impartial opinion of his looks. Our correspondent also writes that Dr. Stamp is working in bacteriological research at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, but that he says there is no probability of his following his work into field work in the tropics.

The wedding will take place in Evanston on Tuesday, April 5, and on the following Friday Dr. Stamp and his bride will sail on the Olympic for England. Sir Ernest and Lady Bain have given the Stamps their lovely country place, Ledhall Grange, at Harrogate in Yorkshire, in which to spend their honeymoon, and our London newsgatherer writes that Dr. Stamp has about decided to take a flat in the new and beautiful flats overlooking the Thames at Hurlingham as a residence for himself and his bride. Dr. Stamp and his parents, Sir Josiah and Lady Stamp, and Miss Bosworth's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Padley, who reside in London, will sail on the Majestic on March 23.

Wedding to Be Held in Home of Bride.

The wedding is planned to take place at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bosworth, at 225 Hamilton street, Evanston, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with only members of the families present, but this will mean quite a good sized company, for the Bosworths and the Daweses are related and there are any number of Daweses in Evanston. A larger reception will follow the ceremony. Mrs. Padley will be her sister's matron of honor and Miss Mary Dawes, daughter of the Henry Daweses, and Miss Margaret Dawes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dawes, will be bridesmaids for their cousin. Mr. Padley will serve Dr. Stamp as best man. Sir Josiah and Lady Stamp will go to Canada immediately after the wedding and will sail for England from New York on the Mauretania on April 15, but the Padleys will remain in Evanston for about a month with Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth. The Padleys have a house in Chelsea, a part of London which vies with Mayfair for precedence as the address of distinguished people, we are told.

⊸

Our London correspondent also writes that Mrs. H. E. A. Doree is another Chicago girl who has married an Englishman and has settled down to the English tempo of life. She was, before her marriage, Miss Elizabeth Pope of River Forest. The Dorees have one little son, about a year and a half old, and their home is in Hendon, a northwest suburb of London.

Bullard-Colt Wedding Plans.

A wedding of interest to Chicago society that will take place on Sunday, Feb. 21, in Windsor, Vt., is that of Miss Barbara Bullard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bullard of Boston and Windsor, and Schuyler Van Ingen Colt, son of Mrs. William E. Colt Jr. of Chicago. The service is to be read at noon in the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. Dr. Sydney B. Snow of Chicago, an uncle of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Norman O. Hutton of Wellesley, Mass., formerly of Chicago. The bride's two sisters, Mrs. Daniel J. Neal of Boston and Mrs. Clark Stetson of Cambridge, will be her only attendants, and Norman Hutton Jr. will act as Mr. Colt's best man. The Bullards are having a house party of about 50 at their country estate for the week-end, and Talcott Griswold of Chicago will accompany Mr. Colt and his mother east for the event. Mr. Colt and his bride will be at home at 15 East Division street after March 1.

Graham Aldis, president of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, will preside at the luncheon at the Palmer house today preceding Quincy Wright's discussion of the question, "Does War Exist in the Orient?" Also at the speakers' table will be Mrs. Wright, who speaks frequently on international affairs before the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Aldis, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord, Mr. and Mrs. J. Waller Marshall, and Dean Kalow of the University of the Philippines.

Among those who intend to be present are Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. William Nitze, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Walter Ayer, Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mrs. William B. Greenlee, H. Stillson Hart, Mrs. Ralph Winston, Mrs. John Holabird, Charles L. Strobel, Mrs. Henry A. Rumsey, and Clay Judson.

The Alliance Française will give a reception tomorrow afternoon in Curtis hall of the Fine Arts building to welcome to Chicago the new French consul, M. Jean Jacques Rene Weiller, and Mme. Weiller. All of the consuls and their staffs have been invited, and Dr. Hugo Simon, German consul general, will give a brief talk. Miss Grace Nelson, the pianist, who is remembered for her performance with the Chicago Symphony two seasons ago, will give a program. Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, vice president of the alliance, is chairman of the affair and will head the receiving line.

Valentine Parties Hold Sway Tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaring have invited three dozen of their friends to a Valentine party this evening at their residence at 1250 Lake Shore drive. The decorations will be good old fashioned red and white hearts, arrows, and all the familiar reminders of the little god of love.

Many members of the South Suburban Winter club of Flossmoor are having house guests over the week-end and taking them to the club's Valentine party this evening at the Olympia Fields Country club. Mrs. J. V. Lawrence is chairman of the hostess committee, which has announced that guests may choose either fancy dress or formal.

The South Shore Country club is also to have a Valentine dinner dance tonight, with decorations and menu appropriate to the occasion, and the Opera club, too, will observe the feast day at its theatrical party this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick Jr. left yesterday for their ranch near Santa Fé. We understand that the McCormicks have left Chicago for good—that is they are giving up their apartment at 900 North Michigan, although they will visit here often, no doubt—and that they expect to live on the ranch in the future.

Hope for Peace in Orient; Travel Notes.

The young Frederick Hellyers, who have an apartment at 1400 Lake Shore drive this winter, are hoping affairs in the Orient will be settled before April 1, the time they have planned to sail for their annual six months' stay on their Japanese tea plantation, for they want to take their 7 month old daughter, Elsie, with them. Mrs. Hellyer's mother, Mrs. Lewis S. Louer of the Ambassador, is making no plans for a trip until after her daughter and the new and only grandchild depart, for she doesn't want to miss any of their stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift have given up the idea of an Australian trip this winter, but they plan to take a jaunt to Arizona a bit later in the winter.

Mrs. George R. Nichols will leave next week to spend three days in New York with her son, Frank, during his Washington birthday holiday from the Choate school. Mrs. Hunter Marston of New York, who was to have arrived in Chicago this week for a visit with Mrs. Nichols, has changed her plans and instead will come back with Mrs. Nichols when she returns from the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins of 210 East Pearson street are leaving Tuesday for a three weeks' West Indies cruise.

Mrs. Charles D. Peacock of 504 Barry avenue is leaving soon for a ten day visit in the east, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Frederick L. Tubbs.

Mrs. Ezra J. Warner, Mrs. C. Frederick Childs, Mrs. Keene Addington, Mrs. Kersey C. Reed, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mrs. Samuel Slade, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, Mrs. James O. Hinkley, Mrs. Hary B. Clow, Mrs. Harry Lobdell, Mrs. Charles S. Pearce, and Mrs. Warren Wright are among the women who have made reservations for the first of a series of duplicate contract games to be given, beginning next Thursday, in the Ambassador East. The games will be under the direction of Mrs. Richard F. Peyton, heard recently at the Woman's Athletic club in a series of lectures on the Culbertson and Official systems, and Mrs. Harry G. McLellan. Duplicate contract games have been the rage in New York's smartest circles for the last few years, and, although contract has been a favorite diversion of Chicago for some time, duplicate is just becoming popular.

Surprise Held Way to Revive Lost Interest

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have kept steady company with a young man for four years. Six months ago he stopped calling on me. A month after he stopped I phoned him and asked him to come over and see me. I wanted to know the reason why he was so very much changed.

"He told me the reason was that he didn't care to get married just now; that there wasn't any other girl. Then, two months ago I wrote him a letter telling him just what I thought of him for playing a game with me. I asked for my letters and photographs back. I told him if he didn't care to see me any more, he should return them.

"Instead, he sent me a gift, but he himself did not reappear. Should I go after the letters and photograph? —Mary C."

What is it you want back most, "Mary?" The man, or the letters and photograph? I'll wager that it is the man. If so, I'd concentrate on getting him back and not give a care whether the things are returned. In fact, I'd forget about the photo and letters.

As a matter of observation on affairs pertaining to letter writing, it strikes me a girl must be a glorious optimist, these days, to expect letters to be saved. Or, am I "off" on this? Do men go in for saving love letters that way?

However, that is not the issue at stake. It's the gentleman of four years' promise. Four years is quite a little slice out of a girl's life and one that would justify her in an attempt at reinstatement if that is what she wants and she is quite sure that there isn't any other girl. Only it is best not to make any approach in the direction of the wavering male armed with demands.

Here's where you have to buckle on all your most fascinating glamour. And where perhaps, it might be well to create the illusion of a new "Mary," a very much sweeter, more companionable darling than the man last saw, let's say. You simply cannot browbeat a man into taking you on again—but you can lure him back.

In that long courtship of yours, "Mary," you both probably got to taking each other too much for granted. You didn't do much struggling, either of you, to keep interest up. The man tired. He walked out on you and that probably gave you the surprise element that now intrigues you. Now, you give him one.

Bust of Mrs. Hoover Placed on Display at Hotel Here

A bust of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, the work of Helen Adele Lerch-Miller, a Chicagoan, is now on exhibit in the Stevens hotel. The bust will remain there until after the Republican national convention, at the request of Mrs. Jacob Baur, national Republican committeeman. The artist executed her work last fall at the same time Baroness Violet Bernice Wenner, also of Chicago, painted the portrait of President Hoover at the White House. The portrait has just been completed.

Troubles of Cake Baker Can Be Avoided by Great Care

BY MARY MEADE.

WE have been receiving a number of letters lately from homemakers telling of their cake troubles. One woman writes that her holiday fruit cake crumbled when it was cut and asks the cause of the crumbling. Unfortunately, we who are on the receiving end of the complaints never receive quite the whole story from you.

Fruit cake will crumble in the cutting if it is dry, for the cake is a very rich one. The trouble lies in the keeping of the cake after it has been baked. Fruit cake must be kept moist. To accomplish this satisfactorily, the cake must be wrapped well and put away in an airtight container. Look at the cake periodically, perhaps once every week or ten days in the beginning, and if it shows a tendency to dryness wrap it in a cloth wet with cider or cooking wine. You will remember that the famous fruit cakes of English literary history were always bathed in brandy after each serving, and so were preserved for years, the flavor improving and ripening with each year. Our American cooking forbears treated their cakes to frequent brandy baths to keep the cake moist and achieve the same flavor. But in the absence of these liquors the cider or cooking wine will serve your purpose just as well. Sometimes, if the fruit pieces have been cut in too large pieces before being mixed with the cake batter, the same crumbling will occur.

The next wail of trouble is from a woman who says she always burns her cakes on the bottom before the cake is thoroughly baked. That is indeed a tragedy, particularly after one has just beaten up a lovely light butter cake. This is a trouble which can be readily corrected if there is nothing wrong with the heating of your oven. The cake burns because the oven is too hot—and too hot under the bottom of the cake. Move your pan another layer higher in your oven and this burning should be eliminated.

One of the simplest and best ways I know of always securing a nice bottom for butter cakes, in fact, any cakes, is to cut out a piece of parchment paper—any unglazed paper will do—exactly the size of the pan or pans you are using. This paper must be accurate in size and fit the pan well. To accomplish this, place your pan on the paper and run a sharp knife around the edges of the pan, cutting out the paper. Now take the paper, grease it well, and put it in the bottom of the cake pan. Do not grease the sides of the pan! If you do, the delicate cake batter faces a handicap in trying to rise against the slippery sides of the pan during the baking. I am always reminded of a young boy trying to "shinny up" a greased tree trunk, or of trying to walk up an icy hill—both cases being that the individual takes one step forward and slides back two—but by dint of much effort finally reaches the top. So don't ask your nice cake to take the "one step forward, and slide back two," but let it come up the side of the pan and have something to cling to!

2 slices of white bread.
Cabbage leaves.
1 lemon.
1 teaspoon of sugar.
2 eggs.
1 large onion, chopped.
1 small bottle of catsup.
Salt and pepper to taste.
2 tablespoons of butter.

Season the chopped meat with salt, pepper, catsup and onions. Add the soaked bread and eggs [the bread having been soaked in the eggs]. Scald the cabbage leaves until soft. Roll the meat into balls and wrap in the cabbage leaves. Put in a kettle with butter and add about one and one-half cups of boiling water. Cook slowly for half an hour, and then add the lemon and sugar. Cook slowly for ten minutes longer, and serve.

Barbara Schurman to Wed Explorer Day After Return

PEIPING, China, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A tale of romance was borne out of the Mongolian desert today by the hardy and bronzed explorers of the Haardt-Citroen Asiatic expedition—a romance that escaped disaster by a hair's breadth.

Tomorrow the principals in the strange story—Miss Barbara Schurman, daughter of the noted American diplomat, Jacob Gould Schurman, and Vladimir Petropavlosky, a Russian member of the expedition—will be married at the American legation.

Miss Schurman had not seen her fiancé for almost a year until the expedition rolled through the gates of Peiping today after an 8,000 mile trek across Asia. She came here a few days ago to meet him.

But Petropavlosky almost missed being with the tractor-borne caravan on the last lap of its triumphal journey. It came about thus:

Petropavlosky, as an aide in organizing an auxiliary unit, started on a journey from Peiping to meet the main expedition at Aksu in Chinese Turkestan, on its way to China.

He reached Hami, Chinese Turkestan, to guard supplies. While he was there the city went under siege by Mohammedan rebels, and for three months he was virtually held captive in the oriental town.

Finally Petropavlosky escaped from the rebels with a Chinese colonel and eventually made his way to Urumchi. He was just in time to join the main expedition, and continued with it to today's meeting with his fiancée.

Georges-Marie Haardt, the noted French explorer, and his sturdy band of 28 companions left Beirut, Syria, in April of last year. They made a slow journey, almost on the trail Marco Polo used centuries before them, collecting scientific data and photographs as they went.

Miss Beatrice Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk of 229 Lake Shore drive and Lake Forest, made her literary debut with the recent publication of some sophisticated paragraphs in a local monthly magazine. She studied abroad before making her bow to society in the winter of 1930.

How Husband and Wife Train for Stage Love Parts

New York, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Herbert Marshall and Edna Best, called the most devoted couple on the English stage, never have spats, they said today.

But—on the day of an opening, when they are to co-star in affectionate rôles, they do not see each other.

"We take no chances," remarked Miss Best. "Can you think how terrible it would be to have to go on in a play like the one we are doing now after a quarrel?"

"So she goes her way and I go mine," Marshall chimed in. "In the evening I send flowers, and then we meet at the theater."

The Marshalls arrived from England this week, where they have been playing "There's Always Juliet" for a year. Before it opens here Monday they are rehearsing a few changes in the lines for American audiences.

Miss Best is blond and piquant; Marshall is tall and dark haired. She has a graceful, agile way of perching on chair arms or curling up on stage sofas. He is so adroit in stage manner few would guess he lost a leg in the war.

They were married in America in 1928, but had played together some time before that. She is his second wife. They are husband and wife in "Michael and Mary," "Come with Me," "Paris Bound," and others; were sweethearts in "The Swan," and once played father and daughter in "Bill of Divorcement."

"But we could often hear somebody in the front row whisper 'That's his wife!'" said Miss Best.

Sigma Kappa Delta Holds Initiation Dinner Tonight

The annual initiation banquet of Sigma Kappa Delta fraternity will be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the main ballroom of the Steuben club, Edward W. Andrews, alumni program chairman, announced yesterday. Henry Fox is president of the fraternity, one of a group at Armour Institute of Technology, and George Von Gher is student program chairman.

Flowers Bloom on Brims and Crowns of Spring Hats Shown in Paris Shops

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The first spring millinery from Paris has flowers springing from brim and crown. Every modiste of importance in the French capitol is planting blossoms on the first straw bonnets fashioned in her ateliers. These hats are so charming, and so feminine there seems little doubt that they will go over with an immediate success. The flower trimmed hat is a logical successor to the feather-laden chapeau of last fall.

The shape of these flower garnished hats is shown in the accompanying sketch. Shallow crowns and brims that dip over the face, bandeaux in back—these make the hat that Paris christens as the style for early spring. Straws, usually synthetic, and either rough or exceedingly smooth, are used to make them.

At the top is LeMonnier's "Sylvain," a jaunty little hat of black picot straw trimmed with narcissi, the yellow centers of which are a feature. A garland of these flowers circles the shallow crown, and the bandeau at the back is banked with narcissi.

At the bottom is Talbot's flower trimmed millinery entry. This hat is made of a satin surfaced brown straw with a curving brim shading the forehead and at the back are wood violets, banked high.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Radio for Patient.

"A friend of mine is trying to secure a small radio set for a patient in a tuberculosis hospital who has but a short time to live. He has head phones and loves to listen to the programs but has no set. He would appreciate one so much. MRS. D. B."

Wouldn't you like to be the one to provide this simple pleasure for the patient who hasn't much longer to live? A small radio, in working condition, would bring him no end of enjoyment.

Annual Assembly Tonight.

The thirty-sixth annual assembly of Delta Kappa Epsilon will be held this evening in the Blackstone hotel. The right wing of the grand march will be led by Roy Black Jr. with Miss Virginia Powers, and the left wing by Miss Cornelia Waite with Emmons Riddle.

OFFICIAL CONTRACT

BY CHARLES TRUE ADAMS.
[International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight."]

The American people have always had a particular regard for the under dog. If a big man is fighting a little man we are quite sure to be pulling for the little chap, and when David licks Goliath we always cheer.

In yesterday's play-a-problem West was unquestionably the Goliath. This was the hand:

NORTH
♠—Q,9,8,5
♥—3,2
♦—Q,J,9,3

WEST	EAST
♠—K,J,3,2	♠—None
♥—K,Q,J	♥—6,5,4
♦—A,K,2	♦—8,7,6,5,4
♣—Q,9,5	♣—J,10,8,7,6

SOUTH (Dealer)
♠—A,10,7,6,4
♥—A,10,9,8,7
♦—10
♣—A,K

South dealt and bid two spades. West doubled. North bid three spades and East passed. South then showed his second suit with a bid of four hearts, West passed, awaiting the final outcome, and North showed his preference by a bid of four spades. East again passed. South passed and West quite naturally doubled.

It is to be noticed that South holds four high card tricks. West holds four and a half high card tricks plus. North holds a half high card trick plus. East holds none. Consequently West holds as much high card strength as North and South together. In spite of all this the Western Goliath gets licked and severely criticizes himself for having doubled at all.

West opened the ♦ K, which, of course, took. South's fall of the ten made him feel reasonably sure that South had no more diamonds and he did not care to take a chance by setting up North's diamonds by leading the ace and having it trumped. He therefore led the ♥ K to the second trick, which South captured with the A. South then led out the ♣ A-K, and to the fifth trick led the ♠ 4. West came up with the ♠ K, taking the trick. He then led back the ♥ Q, which took, and next led the ♣ Q, which South trumped with the ♠ 6. South now led the ♥ 8, which he trumped in his dummy with the ♠ 8. Dummy led back the ♦ 9, which South trumped with the ♠ 7. South now led the ♥ 9, West discarded the ♦ A, North the ♦ J. South then led the ♥ 10, West trumped with the ♠ 2, being forced to do so, North overruffing with the ♠ 9. North then led the ♦ Q, which South trumped with the ♠ A, and, to the last trick, he led his ♠ 10 to dummy's Q. North and South made their four-odd and the game—doubled.

If at trick ten, in place of discarding the ♦ A, West had played a low trump, North would, of course, have trumped with the ♠ 9, and to the next trick would have led the ♦ J, which South would have trumped with the ♠ 10 and led back the ♥ 10, trumping with dummy's ♠ Q, his own ♠ A being good for the last trick. Either way the game is made. It is well to note that if South attempts to lead out trumps he cannot make his game.

NORTH
♠—J,10,4,3
♥—K,Q,6,4,2
♦—None
♣—K,9,8,6

WEST (Dealer)	EAST
♠—A,Q,9	♠—K,8,7,5,2
♥—9,5	♥—J,10,8,3
♦—A,K,9,8,6,5,2	♦—J,10,7,3
♣—4	♣—None

SOUTH
♥—A,7
♦—Q,4
♣—A,Q,J,10,7,5,3,2

Bid and play this hand and then compare your result with the one printed.

New Fox Boss Gives Officials a Rude Shock

Tells Them Days of Waste Are Gone Forever.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 12.—Edward R. Tinker, new president of the Fox corporation, gave his solemn magnate colleagues a shock when they gathered to give him a welcoming luncheon this week. The affair was really more of an occasion of inspecting Tinker and his newcomer associates from New York than it was a friendly welcome.

Taking up the subject of alleged errors on the part of past officials at the Fox studio here [now no longer in charge] Tinker said they ran counter to the corporation's by-laws by handing out contracts which were not submitted for approval of the corporation's especially appointed finance committee. The new Fox boss said those contracts were being shelved, and declared "for some reasons the lessons which older businesses have learned seem never to serve the new industry. Today the film industry is the young growing giant which holds the center of the stage."

"I have repeatedly been told that it is so different from any other line of human endeavor that it is a law unto itself and that economic law and business experience governing other enterprises are not applicable," Tinker continued. "How familiar this all sounds to one active in those days when the motor industry was the young, growing giant, so strong that it also was a law unto itself. There seems unbounded demand for its product, be it good, bad or indifferent. Its improvements and developments came with astounding rapidity. Its leaders, arising from all walks of life, became, to the public, marvels of the age.

"Then came the awakening. It became apparent that only those managements and organizations which could produce the best articles in a given class at the lowest price and could market the same through the most efficient distributing organization could survive. Out of this turmoil of passed dividends, dissatisfied stockholders, reduced salaries and overhead charges, arose the new giant motor industry of today, sound and stable.

"I believe at this moment the film industry is passing through this final stage of growing pains. The speed with which this will be accomplished depends largely on the coöperation which can be attained within the industry itself."

No one had ever before talked in this manner to a roomful of movie millionaires who pride themselves on their handling of the studios for the last ten years. Not even Will Hayes in his private conferences involving the low down on film matters, had so disdained taking pains to dress his eye-opening remarks in pleasing language.

It would be foolish to say that Tinker's speech pleased a roomful of De Mille's, Graumans, Laemmles, Cohns, Levys, Loebs and Mayers, but in all ranks of the movies this talk is heralded as the trumpet call of the new efficiency rule of films, here to stay, marking the sunset of nepotism and office politics which have wasted countless millions during the easy money era of motion pictures.

Charles "Chuck" Reisner, comedy director for M. G. M., received a check for $13.50 today. It's his 1931 royalty for his song, "Good Bye, Broadway; Hello, France," which he wrote during the war.

When John Barrymore yesterday announced the expected arrival of a second Barrymore heiress or heir this May, it marked the definite retirement as a motion picture actress of Dolores Costello, his wife.

Wesley Ruggles and Mrs. Stan Laurel are the latest additions to moviedom's hospital colony. Ruggles had his appendix removed. Mrs. Laurel was taken back to Cedars of Lebanon hospital after a halt in her recovery from a recent operation.

Renée Adorée is reported recovering sufficiently to be removed shortly from a tuberculosis sanitarium in Prescott, Ariz., and taken to her own home in Prescott, where she will be attended by a nurse and a cook.

Throngs Attend Lectures on Ways to Improve Lawns

BY PAUL POTTER.

Property owners and tenants in the Chicago region are turning more attention these days to improved appearance of the home site, if the record crowds attending the three lectures each week by Garfield park conservatory experts are any criterion.

The next lecture will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, and there are twelve more lectures, some of them illustrated, in the annual spring series sponsored by August Koch, the west parks florist, and three members of his staff. The lectures are free and last week they outgrew the horticultural hall, making necessary larger accommodations by the commissioners in the Garfield park boathouse on Washington boulevard.

Monday afternoon F. K. Balthis will give an illustrated talk on landscaping the home grounds. On Thursday afternoon R. T. Van Tress will describe the shrubs for berried effects suitable for the Chicago region. C. J. Hudson will describe rock gardens Friday afternoon.

All these talks are of an elementary nature, the interest in which is bringing out persons who hitherto have given home improvements but little attention. Later the forcing of dormant twigs into bloom, making and maintaining a lawn, providing flowering shrubs from spring until fall, cacti in the home, evergreens, roses, water gardens, and the care of house plants after flowering, will be described in detail.

Rockefeller Plays Golf Again After 2 Weeks' Illness

Ormond, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr. played his first golf game in more than two weeks today, following recovery from a slight cold.

He played four holes over the Ormond Beach course and from all indications his absence from the links affected his game very little.

Mr. Rockefeller started on the second hole, played back to the first, and repeated the performance.

The only difference noted in his game was a tendency to slice slightly.

When he did connect, however, he hit the ball as far as ever. Although his approach shots did not come as close to the pin as he wished, his putting was good.

Missing a seven foot putt for a five on the second green, Mr. Rockefeller tried another ball that went straight and dropped into the cup.

He played with his house guests, Miss Betty White and her father, J. P. White, both of Cleveland, and Dr. G. H. Brooks, Boston.

Elizabeth Gerard Returns from Study Abroad.

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—With the experience of 42 operatic performances in 7 European cities behind her, Miss Elizabeth Gerard of Texas returned to America on a freighter today, prepared to storm the citadel of the operatic art in her native land—the Metropolitan opera.

Three years ago, after Giorgio Polacco of the Chicago Civic opera had heard her sing at a Dallas, Tex., musicale, he hailed her as one of the few natural mezzo-sopranos in the world. She was a student in the high school there, living with her mother, Mrs. Paul Gerard.

The Federated Music club of Dallas decided to give her the "big chance," and financed three years of study in Italy. Miss Gerard went to Milan, where she was a pupil of Luisa Villany.

"It was hard work," she said today when she arrived in the freighter Savoia of the Pruda Quatrona line, "but I wanted to justify the hopes of my friends in Dallas. I enjoyed every minute of it. After two years of steady work, of hours each day spent in practicing, I made my debut. For the last year I have been, in a measure, obtaining some of the fruits of the gruelling study. I have filled 42 engagements and have sung in 7 cities. I have become accustomed to the stage and to audiences. I feel that I am ready for America now, if America wants me."

She letters to Gatti-Casaza and Martinelli of the Metropolitan opera, and intends to apply for an audition as soon as possible.

The freighter on which she came home took five stormy weeks to make the crossing.

"I enjoyed the trip and I liked the storms," said Miss Gerard. "I had to save money—that's why I didn't take one of the faster passenger liners."

ACCUSES NILES VILLAGE COPPER OF EXTORTION

Motorist Says He Paid $10 on Faked Charge.

BY HAL FOUST.

A warrant charging extortion by threat was issued yesterday by Police Magistrate M. J. Conter of Park Ridge against Policeman Rudolph Skelning of the village of Niles. The complaining witness was Walter A. Cruice, Milwaukee real estate man. Cruice charges he paid the policeman $10 to escape a false charge of speeding last Thursday.

"The village police car stopped me on Harlem avenue," the Wisconsin man told Leslie J. Smith, Chicago Motor club attorney, who prepared the affidavit. "I couldn't have been going very fast because I had just made a stop, but the policeman said I was going 56 miles an hour. I told him I was a world war veteran on the way to the Edward Hines Memorial hospital for treatment and asked him to let me go. He refused.

Freed for $10, He Says.

"When we got to the station he beckoned me to a washroom and asked me how much it would be worth to me to have the case dropped. He finally agreed to let me go for $10, which I paid. He didn't take my name or address. He wore star No. 102, and the number of the license on his car was 320-656."

At the Niles police station last night Policeman Skelning, with star No. 105, not No. 102, denied that he arrested a Wisconsin driver shortly before noon on Thursday. He said he was not at the station at the hour of the alleged extortion.

The Niles police department star No. 102 is worn by the custodian, Frank Gruzalski. He said he never arrested anybody. The license Ill. 320-655 is the village police car.

Ask Inquiry on Justice.

Mayor William A. McKee and Chief of Police Harold Johnson of Park Ridge last night announced that they will include the office of Justice of the Peace Alexander Falk of Niles in their request to State's Attorney Swanson for an investigation of an alleged speed trap in Niles.

Mayor McKee and his chief of police have telegraphed State Highway Engineer Sheets requesting the removal of a new stop sign on Touhy avenue at Waukegan road, where a number of arrests have been made by the Niles police recently.

OFFICIAL TO SUE FOR $80,000 IN CLOSED BANKS

Following a test case decided yesterday by the six judges of the Circuit and Superior courts of Lake county, Indiana, County Clerk George W. Sweigart said that he will start action against his predecessor, Mrs. Alvina Killigrew, for $80,000 in county funds which she had on deposit in Lake county banks when they closed.

The test case was a friendly suit brought by Prosecutor Robert G. Estill against Swegart. A check for $110, for fees of the prosecutor's office collected by the county clerk, was mailed him Dec. 31 by Mrs. Killigrew. The bank in which the money was deposited in her name as county clerk closed while the check was in the mail.

Estill sought to have Sweigart ordered to pay the $110 to the prosecutor's office out of other county funds. The six judges, sitting en banc, ruled that Sweigart was responsible for only $5 of the sum, collected after he took over the office from Mrs. Killigrew. On the basis of that ruling, Sweigart will seek to hold her responsible on her bond for all monies which she collected and had deposited in banks when they closed.

ROBBERS KIDNAP 3 GIRLS AFTER PAJAMA PARTY

Police were searching last night for two nervous but polite bandits who kidnaped three young women, wearing pajamas beneath their coats, in Oak Park Thursday night and robbed them of an automobile and a small amount of cash. They were released shortly after midnight in front of the home of Mrs. Chester Morse at 906 South Lyman avenue, Oak Park, where the pajama party was held.

The victims were Miss Eleanor Workman, 22 years old, 212 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park; Miss Ann Homolka, 25, of 1413 South Home avenue, Berwyn, and Miss Blanche Gruss, 23, of 803 South Euclid avenue, Oak Park.

The bandits seized the girls and commandeered Miss Homolka's car in front of Miss Workman's home. One wore a fedora hat and a light topcoat and the other wore a leather coat and did not have a hat.

After driving around for three hours while they debated what to do with their captives, the robbers took them home and freed them with an apology and a promise to give back the car when they got another.

CANADIAN SENATE RENEWS PROBE IN GRAFT SCANDAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 12.—Senators Belque, Chapais, Copp, Donnelly, Graham, Griesbach, McMeans, Robinson, and Tanner were named members of a committee of nine by the Canadian senate today to further investigate the Beauharnois Power corporation scandal, which involves gifts of nearly $1,000,000 in political campaign funds mainly to Liberal party candidates.

Senators Wilfrid L. McDougald and Donat Raymond of Montreal and Andrew Haydon of Ottawa, all Liberals, who were named in the last senatorial Beauharnois inquiries, are threatened with loss of their seats in connection with the inquiry which will start next week.

SLAYER ADMITS ROBBERIES.

Charleston, Ill., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Joe Dennis, 22, Shelbyville, Ill., held here as the confessed slayer of Virgil Swank, gas station operator at Mattoon, last month, said he held up fifteen stations during the last year and was carrying the shell that killed Swank as a souvenir.

IS THE SAFEST TIRE EVER BUILT!

Three years ago Goodrich saw developing the need for a stronger, safer tire. Greater speeds—quick action brakes—smaller wheel sizes—glassy, oil filmed roads—congested traffic—all were placing greater responsibility on tires. . . . It took Goodrich three years to build the tire to meet these conditions. Sixty-seven different designs were developed. Eighteen types of tires were actually produced. . . . These experimental tires covered more than 1,257,000 test miles on cars of the Silver Fleet, before final selection was made. . . . Now Goodrich—oldest and most experienced tire manufacturer, climaxes 62 years of pioneering with the new SAFETY SILVERTOWN . . . the tire demanded by 1932 motoring conditions —the best anti-skid tire on the road—the tire that is SILENT—at any speed—the tire already accepted by thousands of car owners who value the safety of their families . . . the tire that is causing Goodrich sales records to be broken every day. Outgrowth of the Silvertown Safety League—proved, tested, praised—this is the SAFEST TIRE EVER BUILT.

and HERE IS THE PROOF!

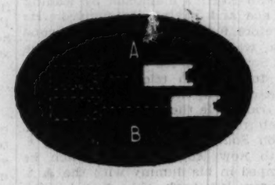
PROTECT YOURSELF —PROTECT OTHERS

Join the Silvertown Safety League

During the last 10 months, 500,000 car owners have signed the pledge of the Silvertown Safety League. The rules in the pledge have proved their ability to prevent accidents. Join now—participate in this nation-wide movement to save lives. Go to the nearest Goodrich dealer. Sign the pledge. Display your emblem.

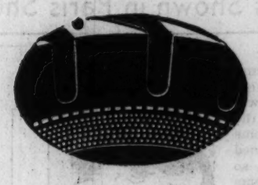
ELECTRICAL EAR PROVES SILENCE OF NEW SILVERTOWN

Top line indicates silence of the new Safety Silvertown in operation as contrasted with operating noise of three other prominent makes of tires (as indicated on chart). This is not guess work. Not a claim. This is a scientific fact. Based on exact measurements made with the acoustimeter (electrical ear), in the Burgess Laboratories. Beyond any question of doubt, the new Safety Silvertown surpasses all other makes of tires in giving you silent speed—less nerve fatigue while driving.



BETTER GRIP ON THE ROAD

Here is the last word in safety performance. Evidence that you can now have positive control of your car. Exact tests with the dynamometer prove that the new Safety Silvertown offers far greater resistance to skidding. Safety Silvertowns bring you to a safe stop at (A) when you jam on your brakes. The next best anti-skid tire in our test brings you to a stop at (B) as indicated in the illustration. In any emergency you can depend absolutely on the new Safety Silvertown. Drive a car equipped with this new tire. See the difference. Feel the difference.



MORE ANTI-SKID MILEAGE

15% Thicker Tread

GREATER PROTECTION AGAINST BLOW-OUTS

OLYMPIC SKI JUDGES GIVE TITLE TO RUNNERUP

HORNSBY, NEW CUB BOARDERS LEAVE TONIGHT

They'll Number 20 at Catalina.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Room and board for an indefinite period begin tonight for ten members of Rogers Hornsby's Cub rookie squad, which is sheduled to pull out of the North Western terminal at 9:30 o'clock in the direction of the Catalina Island, Cal., training camp. At different points along the line of march there will be additions, and when the island empire of the late William Wrigley is reached Tuesday noon Boss Hornsby will have 20 men present for ten days of labor prior to the arrival of the regulars.

ROGERS HORNSBY.

Just so that matters would be taken up on a systematic basis, Hornsby assembled his two lieutenants, Charley O'Leary and Johnny (Red) Corriden, yesterday as soon as the latter arrived from his winter hiding place. The trio went into session with President William Veeck and it was announced that the purpose of the affair was to discuss every name on the player roster. Some of the youths probably didn't rate very highly while the talk was going on, but Hornsby is going to look 'em over just the same.

Rog Frets About Legs.

What worries Hornsby more than the class of his rookies is his own pair of legs. Last season they gave unmistakable signs of old age and the manager was forced to rest up at stated intervals, with a consequent loss of his hitting value. Should the manager discover, after a few weeks of strenuous training, that he still is youthful enough to stand the grind he will begin to nurse the idea that he can again become a regular, either at second or third.

In view of the accomplishments of Billy Herman, both as a hitter and fielder, in the few games he played last fall there is no cause to fret about second base, but third might develop complications. The present scheme is to hand the job to Stanley Hack, purchased for a large sum from the Sacramento Coast league club. Hack, playing his first season in professional ball, is highly touted by all who have seen him and he banged the opposition pitching to a .352 tune last year. But you never can tell what they'll do against big time pitching until they actually look at it.

What! No Holdouts?

Speaking of holdouts, there just aren't any, so far as President Veeck is able to determine. All the rookies fell into line in time to avoid being barred from the training expedition. One or two of the regulars are reported to be carrying on negotiations, but the differences are not much more than the price of a ton of coal.

Hartnett, the veteran catcher, who will start out with the youngsters, dropped in the Cub headquarters yesterday during the annual roundup and declared himself just about ready to conduct himself in midseason style. The loquacious Irishman, who became alarmed last season when he became second fiddle to Rollie Hemsley, has been drilling all winter to make sure that nobody crowds him out of the spotlight this year. As recent reports have indicated that Hemsley is not abiding by the warnings given him last fall, it is probable that Gabby will have to be counted in on most of the season's work.

Along with the two coaches, the veteran scout Jack Doyle is being included as part of the advisory staff which will direct the development of the youngsters.

Grid Rule Chiefs Start 3 Day Meet at Hanover

Hanover, N. H., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The football rules committee, with Chairman Edward K. Hall presiding, opened a three day meeting behind closed doors today. Chairman Hall said the board would concentrate on ways and means of eliminating football injuries rather than consider many changes relating to the technique of the game.

BECK LEAPS 232 FEET, BUT RUUD IS NAMED CHAMP

Norway Teammates Divide Honors.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 12.—(AP)—To the worry and strain of weather more suitable for maypole dancing there was added tonight the comic opera relief of a set of judges choosing the wrong winner of the Olympic ski jumping championship event and then waiting three hours before announcing the name of the other fellow.

BIRGER RUUD.

By a recount, over which arguments lasted far into the night, the judges of the leaping contest on Intervales hill today decided that Birger Ruud, 19 year old Norwegian, and not Hans Beck, equally young Norwegian from the same tiny mining town of Koenigsburg, had won the international title with jumps of 218 and 226 feet.

Beck Breaks Record.

Beck broke the course record with one jump of 232 feet, a beautiful effort on the slippery ice slide, washed bare of its protective snow covering by the rain of yesterday and the bright sunshine of today.

Taking a quick glance at Beck's accomplishment, the three judges, Johan Klercker of Sweden, Dr. Francois Lacq of France, and Sigurd Lockeberg of Canada, decided Beck had won, and their points awarded for each jump still indicate that. All three marked Beck a point better on form on the first jump and another on the second. But after a three hour huddle, while every one waited for the remaining finishers, the judges decided Ruud had a grand total of 228.1 points and Beck 227.

Kaare Walberg of Norway was third, and Ivan Eriksen of Sweden fourth, with Casper Oimen of Canton S. D., fifth, highest place an American jumper ever attained in the Oympic games. Behind Sigmund Ruud came Goro Adachi of Japan, also setting a new high for his country in ski jumping competition. Goro has only recently recovered from a practice jump that landed him in the left field bleachers on one side of the course three weeks ago.

Norway Nears U. S. Total.

The Norwegian sweep of the first four places, adding 19 points to their unofficial team total, lifted the Norsemen perilously close to the United States. United States tonight has 78 points, Norway 68, Canada 36, and Sweden 27, with the rest scattered among eight nations.

Crowds estimated at from 25,000 to 45,000 swarmed into the tiny Adirondack village with its normal population of 3,500, swamping its facilities, only to find that spring had gotten here first, forcing postponement once more of the one event every one wants to see, the four man bobsled races down the deadly slope of Mount Van Hoevenberg.

2—Hans Beck, Norway, 232 feet, 208 feet, 227 points.
4—Ivan Sven Eriksen, Sweden, 214 feet, 210 feet, 218.9 points.
5—Casper Oimen, United States, 207 feet, 220 feet, 215.7 points.

THREE PUNCHES AND MAIER PUTS MANDELL AWAY

BY FRENCH LANE.

They were to go eight rounds, but at the end of 2 minutes and one second Maier shot a left to Mandell's chin. Then he connected with a right. A second later Maier's left again reached Mandell's chin. Down went Mandell, face to the floor. The timekeeper and referee, chanting a duet, tolled off the count of ten.

Maier's followers from Milwaukee and Chicago who expect to see him annex the world's light heavyweight championship stood on their seats and cheered. It was one of the quickest victories he has scored since he started his drive for the title.

Mandell Has No Chance.

Maier won so quickly his admirers hardly got a glimpse of him. Mandell wasn't capable of offering any defense for Maier's terrific left. Maier weighed 173¼, and the St. Paul fighter scaled 191.

Billy Gladstone, profiting by the example set by Maier, made short work of Benny Goldblatt. Scarcely a minute of the first round had elapsed when Gladstone unleashed a right cross that landed with tremendous force on Goldblatt's chin. Benny tried to get up but the count of ten still found him wobbling on his knees. Both boys are from Chicago, and each weighed 136 pounds.

Mickey Patrick of Chicago gave Sid Novak, Milwaukee, a severe six round drubbing. However, at the end of the sixth round Novak was still on his feet and fighting back gamely. They weighed 165.

Colima Whips Bozak.

In the other bouts Baby Colima, Mexico, 124, defeated Joey Bozak, Chicago, 124, in six rounds. Joey Cohen of Milwaukee earned a four round decision over Bobby Allen of Chicago in a bout that was a slugfest all the way. Cohen weighed 124, and Allen 121. Joe Miller, Chicago heavyweight, was given the four round decision over Pat McLaughlin, also of Chicago. Charley Zhanle, Deerfield, Ill., beat Johny Lullo of Chicago in four rounds. They weighed 138. Ed Litz of Chicago won the opening four rounder in his bout with Hoe Sutter of Milwaukee. They are middleweights.

DAY ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINALS IN MIAMI GOLF MEET

Coral Gables, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Winfield Day of Chicago and Lee Chase, Buffalo, N. Y., led favorites into the semi-finals of the Miami Biltmore St. Valentine's invitation golf tournament today.

Day won, 6 and 5, over Ray Kilthau, Great Neck, L. I., by leading Kilthau early in the match. He was never in danger as he piled up an increasing lead.

Chase won, 6 and 3, from H. J. Smith, Schenectady, N. Y. Day and Chase will meet in tomorrow's semi-final play.

Gus Novotny, La Grange, Ill., whipped Don Soccoli, New Britain, Conn., 9 and 7. Howard Tryon, young amateur of Detroit, eliminated John Brown, Portland, Me., 5 and 3. Novotny and Tryon will play the other semi-final match.

CHICAGO BEATS OHIO GYMNASTS EASILY, 1,169-948

The University of Chicago gymnastics team, perennial champion of the Big Ten, decisively defeated Ohio State, 1,169 to 948, in the opening dual meet of the season at Bartlett gymnasium last night.

West Section Ready for Its Golden Gloves Quest

The west section Golden Gloves preliminaries start Monday. And when the first flyweights climb into the Ashland Boulevard auditorium ring, it will be the inaugural of the fifth annual campaign which ends when Chicago's best face the New York champions in Madison Square Garden.

Two hundred and sixty-nine amateurs, a record number, will box Monday and Tuesday nights. And when near midnight on Tuesday the final bout is concluded, the west side will have qualified sixteen boys for the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium. That tournament, the third of its kind in Golden Gloves history, brings into competition the championship teams from 21 cities in five states and 48 Chicago qualifiers.

All for 75 Cents.

The west side preliminaries, as far as admission is concerned, is the first of unparalleled boxing shows. Seventy-five cents is the admission. And with a minimum of 40 bouts scheduled for each night, the price of one match is less than two cents. No seats are reserved. The first to arrive may sit in the first row or he may have his choice of the 3,000 seats in the auditorium.

The tickets will be on sale at 6 o'clock Monday night. And if last year is a criterion, there will be a long line waiting. The first bout starts at 7 o'clock.

All contestants in the first four classes must report at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock for physical examinations and to weigh in. This first group — flyweights, bantamweights, featherweights, and lightweights—will fight Monday night. On Tuesday night between the same hours the other four weight divisions report.

Boxers Allowed One Pound.

Dr. Lewis K. Eastman will be in charge of the corps of physicians who will examine the boxers. Clerks will weigh them in. One pound is allowed. That is, if a boy in the 112 pound class weighs 113 pounds he still may compete in that class. If, however, he is over 113 pounds he must move up to the next division, the 118 pound group.

The entries for the last of the Chicago trials close Monday. All boys who wish to box in the Golden Gloves preliminaries of White City must have their blanks in Monday night. Letters postmarked Feb. 15 will be accepted, although they are not de-

Detroit Gets First Golden Gloves Treat

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—Competition for Golden Gloves took another metropolitan center by storm tonight. A crowd of 17,000, the second largest in Detroit's ring history, packed every seat in the Olympia arena to see eight young men whose names a month ago were unheard of in sporting circles, battle their way to championships in The Daily Mirror's first amateur boxing tournament.

The attendance was limited by the capacity of the hall. Hundreds were standing along the wall in upper balconies and about 5,000 were turned away from the building unable to obtain tickets.

The huge gathering, thrilled by the fastest bouts it ever had seen, got an additional kick out of the unexpected appearance of Jack Dempsey, who presented a silver loving cup to the winner of the heavyweight title match.

No boxer ever was received with wilder acclaim than Dempsey was at Olympia tonight. His arrival momentarily interrupted the show. Thousands rose to their feet yelling frantically at him to get into the ring. Deploying behind fine interference by four police stalwarts, Jack climbed into the spotlight where he was introduced as the champion of champions.

It required most of the police detail at the arena to get Dempsey away from the hundreds who rushed to the ring seeking his autograph or a chance to shake his hand.

The bouts moved along with the speed and precision that has characterized Golden Glove shows in Chicago and New York. The eight boys who earned the most prized emblem in amateur boxing were the survivors of a tournament that attracted 660 entries. This is only one-fourth of the field that contests for Chicagoland's Golden Gloves but what Detroit was missing in quantity it made up in quality.

The most polished workman of the evening was a colored heavyweight from the University of Michigan named Stan Slater, who won his match by a knockout in the third round.

16 Pass First Tests in Wisconsin Golden Gloves

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12.—Sixteen boys, the best amateur boxers in Wisconsin, came through the second round of Golden Gloves qualifying trials here tonight at the Milwaukee Eagles club. Once more each of them will step into the ring and then Wisconsin will have chosen its team to enter the Tournament of Champions at the Chicago Stadium.

Twenty-five hundred saw the bouts tonight. For more than two hours the warriors traded wallops, attacked and counter attacked in one of the finest exhibitions Milwaukee ever has seen.

Tonight's show ran the gamut of emotions. Hundreds thrilled to hard fought bouts in which the decision went by a hairline margin. Or again they cheered the gameness of one who, faced with certain defeat, carried on with all the strength at his command. Then there were those whose skill did not match their earnestness, but their inexperience did not detract from their bouts.

Wisconsin Team Powerful.

Wisconsin's Golden Gloves team will be one of the best in the tournament of champions. That much now is assured. Two boys remain in each of the eight weight classes, and tonight it would be difficult to pick the better in any. What a set of championships Milwaukee will see next Friday night.

Ernie Kratochvil, defending lightweight champion from Racine, came through tonight after a splendid exhibition of counter punching. He defeated Gil Woolweber of Cudahy, a lanky, bobbing string of a boy whose agility made him a most difficult target. Kratochvil's best round was the first and after that Woolweber seemed to improve. The lads, so the fans say, have slight regard for each other and their actions bore out the statement.

Trouble Ahead for Ernie.

Ernie will have his hands full next week, however, if he expects to retain his title for Billy Miller stopped his 135 pound opponent, Tony New of the Ace Boxing club, in two rounds. Miller is seconded by Joe King, who took Frankie Knauer to the Chicago tournament last year. Miller was even better tonight than in his first fight. None of his punches travel far, but he has an accuracy most amateurs might envy. Kratochvil is one of three Racine boys to reach the finals.

Two are from Janesville—the clever Walsh brothers. Green Bay and Darien each will have one boxer in the title bouts while nine boys are from Milwaukee. The Ace Boxing club placed five of these, Neary's gymnasium, and the Eagle's club one each, while two lads fought unattached.

Knox Defeats Illinois College Quintet, 34-29

Jacksonville, Ill., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Stalling out the last five minutes, Knox defeated Illinois college, 34 to 29, in their Little 19 conference basketball game tonight. Knox had a 21 to 18 edge at the half, and the lead shifted five times during the contest.

THREE TEAMS TIE FOR LEAD IN SIX DAY BIKE RACE

Audy and Peden Ahead on Points.

Standing

3 A. M.—126TH HOUR.

Teams—	Miles.	Laps.	Pts.
Audy and Peden	2320	9	187
Letourner and Guimbretiere	2320	9	144
Pijnenburg and Van Nevele	2320	9	138
McNamara and Horan	2320	8	323
Ritter and J. Walthour	2320	8	170
Georgetti and Spencer	2320	8	153
Grimm and B. Walthour	2320	7	190
Bulla and Wals	2320	5	230
Kroschel and Schenk	2320	4	130
Stockholm and Hill	2320	3	213

Leader—Letourner.

Three teams were tied for first place going into the last day of the six day bicycle race in the Stadium, after another rather hectic night of racing, during which the lead changed quite frequently. Little Jules Audy, blond haired and blue eyed Montreal youngster, and William [Torchy] Peden, his rugged partner from Vancouver, B. C., were the technical leaders of the grind on points, having accounted for a total of 183. Jean Pijnenburg, Hollander, and Adolphe Van Nevele of Belgium were in second place with 129 points, while Alfred Letourner and Marcel Guimbretiere, the French Red Devil pair, were third with 122 points.

There were three teams in the division one lap behind the leaders. This group was composed of Reggie McNamara and Harry Horan, Franco Georgetti and Freddie Spencer, the Italian-American pair, and Charley Ritter and Jimmy Walthour, the former from Newark, N. J., and the latter from New York City.

Grimm Team Second.

Bill Grimm, Maplewood, N. J., rider who won the last two races in Chicago was three laps behind the leaders with his partner, Bobby Walthour, and five laps behind were George Kroschel and Fritz Schenk, the German team, with Max Bulla and Cor Wals, the Austrian-Holland pair, while trailing the field was the Chicago-California team of Carl Stockholm and Norman Hill, six laps behind the leaders.

The field was reduced to ten teams shortly before eleven o'clock last night when the team of Mickey Rodak of Chicago and Predent De Lille of Paterson, N. J., withdrew from the race. They were ten laps behind at the time and De Lille had quite a few slivers in his shoulder. He was treated by Dr. Eastman after he had retired.

Thirty Laps Stolen.

Thirty laps were gained in the jamming last night, bringing the total up to 516 for the week. Letourner and Guimbretiere, Pijnenburg and Van Nevele, Ritter and Walthour were in the lead in the race at 8 last night. At 9 o'clock the standing was unchanged in spite of the repeated jams. Wild riding between nine and ten accounted for five teams being upon even terms at 10 o'clock. They were McNamara and Horan, Letourner and Guimbretiere, Ritter and Jimmy Walthour, Audy and Peden, Pijnenburg and Van Nevele.

Shortly after 10 Audy and Peden had three-quarters of a lap lead, and probably would have gained a lap but Audy took a nasty tumble and the race was halted.

The riders appeared more cautious last night. With the grind ending tonight the teams are watching one another at all times and are not taking many chances.

Race Ends Tonight.

The race is scheduled to wind up at 11 o'clock tonight, with an hour of sprinting between 10 and 11. During that hour sprints for points will score 72 for first, 4 for second, 2 for third, and 1 for fourth.

Results of the 2 a. m. sprints:

First — McNamara, Ritter, Stockholm, Guimbretiere.
Second—Hill, Letourner, Audy, Wals.
Third—B. Walthour, Stockholm, Pijnenburg, Schenk.
Fourth—Hill, Letourner, Audy, Wals.
Fifth—McNamara, B. Walthour, Schenck, Stockholm.
Sixth—Grimm, Hill, Van Nevele, Letourner.
Seventh—Guimbretiere, Schenk, Pijnenburg, Stockholm.
Eighth—Hill, Horan, Van Nevele, Wals.
Ninth—McNamara, B. Walthour, Schenk, Stockholm.
Tenth—Grimm, Horan, Georgetti, Van Nevele.

Spring Comes to Lake Placid, So Olympics Are Still Sport

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 12.—With probably 15,000 customers come from near and far to see them run the risk of serious, if not fatal, injuries, the daring company of Olympic bob runners found themselves almost expunged from the Olympic winter program today when the warmth of the weather, which the chamber of commerce sadly described as quite unseasonable, further reduced the deposit of ice and snow in the mountain chute.

Dramatized for weeks in the public press as something not far removed from group suicide, the bobsled race naturally was responsible for much of the inflow of fresh customers with fresh money to spend for room and board, for Canadian beverages and taxicab hire in Lake Placid in the closing days of the first winter Olympic games ever held in the United States.

Six Dollars a Bargain.

There was a $6 round trip in the day coaches from New York, a remarkable bargain, which accounted for 2,400 head in the packed community and 1,000 Pullman passengers crawled out of the cars in the railroad station early in the morning, all to confront a spring day and a town humiliated.

There were also hundreds of automobiles sloshing into town sprayed with mud like early vertebrates crawling out of the slime, and the attendance of 15,000, give or take a few thousand, at the ski jump in the afternoon, was a fair gauge of the crowd that might have seen the intrepid but slightly goofy bobbers bob down the mountain, if the bobbers had been allowed to bob.

But the slide was honeycombed from the rain and the thaw, and the sleds might have crumbled the banks if they had been told to go, so the pièce de résistance of the winter games was postponed until Sunday, weather permitting. Sunday is the last day on which any Olympic event may be officially solemnized, so, if it is possible for the bobbing bobbers to slide at all, they will have to crowd in all four slides in the space of time allotted for two. There is no guarantee, of course, that the weather will turn square by Sunday and it is no fantastic dream that the main event of the winter sports will have to be called off on account of summer.

Skiers Jump, Anyway.

The ski jumpers jumped, notwithstanding patches of dead grass showing through the worn and melted snow deposit on the flat zone where the boys slew around after their leaps and wheel to graceful stops amid the plaudits of one and all. There were even rumors of crocuses or crocl abloom in the nude spots and that strange spring land smell, as of clods feeling the stir of might, was agitating the air to the intense mortification of the local business men.

There have been snows in Los Angeles and frost bites in the Florida plateau, which towers all of 25 feet above sea level, but neither of those regions was ever so shamed by any such mishap as Lake Placid and the Adirondack region have been in this winter of their great opportunity by the evil presence of spring, the frivolous jade.

Naturally, a Norwegian won the ski jump, the name being Birger Ruud. He is a clerk, 19 years old, from the town of Koenigsberg, and he won not because he jumped the farthest, but because he jumped pretty far and out prettied the farther jumped in the way he held his arms and the grace of his landing when his skiis settled to the slushy hill.

Naturally, another Norwegian was second. Hans Beck is the name and he sailed 232 feet from the takeoff, which is a sort of lip built at the bottom of the artificial slide which surmounts the hill. He did not meet the ground until he had almost cleared the natural slope, almost reaching the flat, the longest jump of the day. Kaare Walberg, another Norwegian, was adjudged the third best jumper.

Still It's Japanese Victory.

A Japanese jumper, Goro Adachi, finished eighth, which was outside the scoring, leaving the Japanese with a final gross score of .000 in the winter games; but it was a bit of a victory, nevertheless, for the little brown tryhards, who have been taking their bumps and knocks with courageous purpose all through the games.

The Japanese sent a mission of game, patriotic youths over to the Scandinavian countries to learn something about winter sports, which was going to headquarters for information. In these games their little athletes have been trailing the speed

Loyola Closes Season with 32-23 Victory

Loyola university closed its basketball season at the Loyola gymnasium last night with a 32 to 23 victory over the Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich. It was the Ramblers' fifteenth victory of the season and their tenth straight win on the home floor.

Western State took an early lead and dominated the play throughout the first half, leading at the intermission, 20 to 14. In the second half Loyola held the Teachers to a field goal and a free throw while piling up seven baskets and four free throws.

Den Herder kept Western in front during the first half with six baskets, caged from all angles of the floor. Loyola was held scoreless from the field for the first seven minutes of the game. Schumann dropped two goals in quick succession for the Ramblers' first points. Hogan's two hook shots in this period made the score 11 to 10 in favor of Western after 14 minutes of play. Hanna and Den Herder then pushed in nine points to give the Teachers their lead at the half.

Hanna's free throw and Perigo's goal early in the second half concluded the Western scoring. Score:

FRENCH COUPLE WINS OLYMPIC SKATE DOUBLES

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Pierre and Andree Brunet of France tonight won the figure skating contest for pairs, a feature of the third winter Olympic program. Second honors went to Sherwin C. Badger and Beatrix Loughran of New York. Hungarian teams won third and fourth honors, Laszlo Szollas and Emilia Rotter capturing third place, and Sandor Szalay and Olga Orgonista fourth.

Montgomery Wilson and his sister, Constance Wilson Samuel of Canada, were fifth; Chauncey R. Bange and Frances Claudet, also of Canada, sixth, and Joseph K. Savage, manager of the American Olympic skating team, and Gertrude Meredith, both of New York, seventh.

INJURED GERMAN BOB SLEDDERS TO SAIL WEDNESDAY

New York, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The German bob sledders injured in two crashes during practice on the Olympic bob run on Mt. Van Hoevenberg are to be taken home on the S. S. New York, sailing from here Wednesday.

The three most seriously injured, Albert Brehme, Fritz Grau, and Helmut Hoppmann, can be moved by that time, it is expected. They still are in the hospital, Brehme with a skull fracture, Grau with a fractured spine and Hoppmann with a severe cut on his leg.

Here Are the Rules.

Fights will be three rounds of two minutes each in the sectional tests. According to recent rule of the National A. A. U. amateur boxing contests must be decided in three rounds. Draws are not permitted and a fourth round cannot be ordered. This conforms to the international rule.

Each contestant must furnish his own towel and he will be permitted to have one second in his corner.

The Tribune will furnish two professional seconds and also a doctor at each of the sectional trials and tournament of champions and finals.

Neither The Tribune nor any one connected with the tournament will be liable in case of injury to a boxer. Every effort will be made to protect him from injury.

Boxers will be disqualified for unsportsmanlike remarks either in the ring or afterward. This includes remarks about a decision.

Any boxer who enters and fails to appear will be subject to suspension by the A. A. U.

Light bandages will be allowed but these cannot be adjusted with tape except at the wrist.

A contestant after his original entry cannot change his entry blank if he has agreed to box for a certain club.

No boxer will be permitted to compete in more than one class, although he may move up in case he does not make weight in the class originally designated by him.

All pairings will be made by lot.

All boxers who qualify for the Stadium tournament of champions must weigh again to qualify in their classes. A one pound allowance will be permitted. They also will be examined a second time.

Those amateurs who have not secured registration cards from the Central A. A. U. may get them on the night they fight. The registration for one year is one dollar. All contestants who have cards must bring them with them.

REFUSES TO WEAR COAT IN PADDOCK; RULED OFF TRACK

New Orleans, La., Feb. 12.—[U.P.]—Chief Johnson, a full blooded Cherokee Indian, refuses to wear a coat of any kind while grooming horses, and the stewards at the Fair Grounds race track here have barred him from the paddock.

"A man can't do much work around a hawse in a full dress suit and shined shoes," he said, "and if I have to wear a coat that hawse of mine ain't going to do no running."

Miss Bea Gottlieb Wins Miami Women's Golf Meet

Miami, Fla., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Miss Bea Gottlieb of New York won the Miami women's golf championship today with a 4 and 2 victory over Mrs. Joseph Bydolek of Buffalo, N. Y., in the 36 hole final round.

ISLAM RACES UP FROM BEHIND TO WIN AT HIALEAH

Miami, Fla., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—Jack Howard, a former jockey, saw his horse, Islam, win the Darwin purse, fifth race, which featured the card at Hialeah Park today. Islam came from behind after going wide, and beat Dancing Mack by a length and a half.

Jockey Corbett took Islam to the outside at the far turn, and after racing Raccoon into defeat, was not endangered by Dancing Mack and Martis, which finished third. Raccoon, after setting a fast pace, dropped out in the stretch.

A. G. Weston's filly, Jaffa, with Jockey Montgomery up, won the fourth race by a nose. It was the fourth close finish of the day. She beat the favorite, Traitor, leading all the way but just lasting, carrying the light weight of 94 pounds. Momories Dear was third, three lengths back of the two leaders. Traitor was in close quarters and taken to the outside. The six furlong route was covered in 1:11 4-5. The winner paid $16.90.

Manassas, one of the outsiders in the field of 13 maiden colts and geldings which contested the mile of the third, scored a half length victory over Broadway Lights. The latter was crowded in the opening half mile, closed resolutely when clear, but failed to catch Manassas. Iron Czar weakened in the closing furlongs, but lasted to save third.

Establishing a new track record, Modesto carried the silks of Mrs. S. F. Murphy to a hard earned victory over 15 rivals in the three furlong second event. The Easter Bells filly stepped the distance in 0:35 flat to beat Dusky Dame, the favorite.

"Destroy the cold infection within the system, and the symptoms will disappear"

When COLDS begin... infection spreads through the system

Science tells us that cold infection is an ultravirus (cold germ) that multiplies rapidly within the system.

When you feel the symptoms of a cold, it means that this ultravirus infection has already begun its poisonous work within.

The only sensible thing to do is to destroy and remove the infection from within the system as quickly as possible . . . a few tablets of Bromo Quinine is all you need.

Leo and Joliet tied for second place in the south section of the Chicago Catholic High School league, battled to a 33 to 33 tie in three overtime periods last night at Joliet gymnasium.

Trailing, 15 to 9, Joliet rallied in the second half to tie the score at the end of the regulation time, 27 to 27. In the second extra period, McNally sank two free throws and a few minutes later Murnighan scored a field goal to give Leo a 31 to 27 lead. But Conroy, Joliet guard, dropped two long shots to tie the score again.

Murnighan scored a field goal in the third overtime period to put Leo in the lead, but the score was tied when Simacher scored as the extra period ended. In the lightweight game, Joliet defeated Leo, 30 to 13.

St. Mel Beats De Paul.

De Paul academy's heavyweight basketball team, temporarily a contender for the lead in the north section, slipped down to second place by losing to St. Mel, the defending champion, 40 to 27, at St. Mel's gymnasium. It was De Paul's second defeat of the season.

While St. Mel was achieving its seventh victory St. Patrick defeated St. Michael, 21 to 7, at St. Michael's.

The unbeaten New Trier heavyweight quintet scored its sixth league victory in the Suburban league, defeating Proviso, 33 to 25, at Maywood. Oak Park, holder of second place, won from Evanston, 24 to 22. Heflick, a new center playing his first game, scored the winning basket in the final minute. The lineup:

Not long ago Adachi crashed into the bleachers in a practice jump and came out with about a cord of pine splinters in his physique. Today another Japanese, named Mitsutake Makita, went into a Philip Scott spin in midair, landing on the back of his neck, which is bad for the score and worse for the health, and was carried off on a shutter with a twisted knee; but they are all featherweights, the Japanese, and though there has been an unspoken but very real appreciation of the state of things existing as between their country and this one, their gumption has received respectful recognition from the crowds.

It's a Shock Even in Thought.

It is hard enough on the nerve to whip off into the air from a tower built on top of a mountain when the jumper has skill and a national tradition running in his favor, as the Scandinavians and some of the Americans have, but the Japanese are little better than novices, and the ski jump to a novice is a shock even to contemplate.

Of course, the ski jump is a form of acrobatics, and I am assured that it is much less dangerous than it looks. The engineers who devise these hazards call attention to the fact that the jumper in his flight follows the fall of the hill and therefore is not as high off the ground as the illusion suggests, when his position at the top is compared to the bottom of the slope. A scientist has clocked them on the Olympic hill here and established their maximum speed in flight at not more than 35 miles an hour.

Norwegians Feel Better.

The Norwegians were out of sorts for a while because their skaters could not skate the American style of going and betrayed the great expectations which their native newspapers had built around them. Then they were beaten by the Swedes, the people they love to hate best of all, in the first of the cross-country ski races, but the contest was no contest when the time came for the Norwegian and Swedish national pleasure of leaping off high spots on the barrel staves and landing right side up.

A very dastardly proceeding took place here this evening when five fiends in human form descended upon the Cellar A. C., the training camp where the Olympic bobbers do most of their bobbing and weaving and arrested the secretary treasurer, John Schatz, on a charge of law violation. The Swiss yodeling, the German stein songs and the American Mason jar songs were stilled as the miscreants produced a warrant and led Mr. Schatz away to the county seat in two Oregon boots and a pair of spike handcuffs, notwithstanding his high position in the most popular club in the community.

How Much Reason?

"Well, how much reason does it take to make you boys listen?" Mr. Schatz demanded.

Mr. Schatz and the invading force then vanished from earshot, but there was yet hope that he would be able to adduce enough reason to make the boys listen.

The foreign and American bobbers were very indignant and steps were taken at once to organize an Attic A. C. where they could continue their bobbing and weaving.

Blues Defeat Reds, 7½-2, in Charity Polo

Superior ponies and better teamwork combined to give the All-Star Blues a 7½ to 2 victory over the All-Star Reds in the polo game feature of the charity sports meet last night at the Chicago Riding club. About 1,500 witnessed the event, which was held for the benefit of the Joint Emergency Relief fund.

The third period found the red jerseyed team threatening to overcome the lead of its opponents through goals by Capt. M. M. Corpening, Frank Bering, and Prentice Porter, but in the final chukker the Blues laid down a barrage of goals, two of which were scored by James Hannah and one each by Herbert Lorber and Maj C. C. Smith.

In the opening match the 124th Field Artillery and the Riding Club Yellows ended their games in a tie, a last second goal by Lieut. H. D. Reed tieing the count at 9-9. A flip of the coin awarded the match to the artillery players, which had outscored their rivals but suffered heavily from penalties. Between the two matches the Chicago Black Horse troop gave drill exhibitions and horse racing and jumping contests.

YANKEES CHOOSE GEORGE WEISS TO HEAD FARMS

New York, Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The New York Yankees, in their first move to organize a farm chain of minor league baseball clubs after the fashion of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, today announced the appointment of George M. Weiss as general manager of the chain.

Weiss, formerly of the Baltimore International and New Haven Eastern league clubs, knows baseball better, perhaps, than any other man in Col. Jake Ruppert's organization. Weiss is 38, a Yale graduate, and once owned the New Haven club in the Eastern league.

Grid Players to Wear Pads When Playing Ping Pong

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—St. Thomas college's football players must don their shoulder pads and helmets if they play ping-pong, Coach Joe Boland announced today after learning that Joe Novak, St. John's college, Annapolis, boxer, was injured in a ping-pong match.

"Boxers have been taking knockouts at ping-pong. The game's strenuous, fellows," Coach Boland told the football team today. "If you are going to play this game, you're going to dress up for the bumps."

OHIO STATE SWIM TEAM DEFEATS CHICAGO, 49 TO 26

Columbus, O., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The Ohio State swimming team defeated the University of Chicago tonight in the first meet in the new natatorium, 49 to 26. The Buckeyes took first in every speed event.

N. U. ENCOUNTERS IMPROVED IOWA QUINTET TONIGHT

And Chicago Fears Worst Against Purdue.

After a midseason and midsemester recess of nearly a month, conference basketball will reappear tonight on local floors, both north and south. Northwestern, sole occupant of first place in the Big Ten standings, meets Iowa at Patten gymnasium, while the University of Chicago quintet, in last place, faces the strong Purdue team at the Midway fieldhouse.

Northwestern, with seven straight victories, rules a heavy favorite over Iowa, which has defeated only Chicago. The addition of three second semester sophomores to the Hawkeye lineup, however, enabled Iowa to hold Minnesota to a two-point victory last week, and if their reversal of form holds, the Iowans may force Northwestern through some vigorous calisthenics.

Bennett Is Star Scorer.

Among the Iowa recruits is Parker Bennett, 6 feet 5 inch center, who led the scoring against Chicago. Bennett sustained an arm injury just prior to the Minnesota game and may be unable to play tonight.

Coach Lonborg will continue to use the same first string outfit which has carried the Wildcat team to success so far this season. This quintet comprises Joe Rieff and Elmer Johnson, forwards; Bob McCarnes, center; and Bus Smith and Saul Farber, guards. Rieff, key to the Purple offense, has scored 67 points and holds the lead in the Big Ten scoring race.

Purdue Scents Victory.

In the game on the Midway Johnny Wooden and a versatile Purdue troupe will put on their act for the purpose of staying in second place until they get their chance against the Wildcats. Maroon adherents, though they are still counting on the boys to find the basket for a victory or two before the season is out, would just as soon see tonight's contest over as quickly as possible.

Coach Norgren's defensive problem will be difficult, with two fast Purdue forwards, Harry Keller and Ray Eddy, and the sensational Wooden, to smother. Lineups:

NEW U. S. ENVOY TO INVESTIGATE MEMEL DISPUTE

Lithuania May Take Case to World Court.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Feb. 12.—Robert P. Skinner, American minister to the Baltic states, who recently arrived at Kaunas, expects to remain here for several days acquainting himself with conditions in Lithuania and making a special study of the Memel question before returning to Riga, en route to Tallinn, where he will present his credentials to the president of Estonia.

Lithuania is pleased with Skinner's visit because on Feb. 16 the country celebrates its independence day and he is expected to attend the festivities. Skinner had a long conversation with Foreign Minister Zaunius before the latter's departure for Geneva, where the league of nations council will consider Germany's complaint that Lithuania violated the Memel convention by ousting Otto Boettcher, president of the Memel council.

May Go to World Court.

Before leaving Kaunas, Zaunius expressed confidence over the outcome of the conflict, saying that he possessed overwhelming evidence to support Lithuania's action. Even should the league decide against Lithuania, he said, the decision would be appealed to the world court at The Hague.

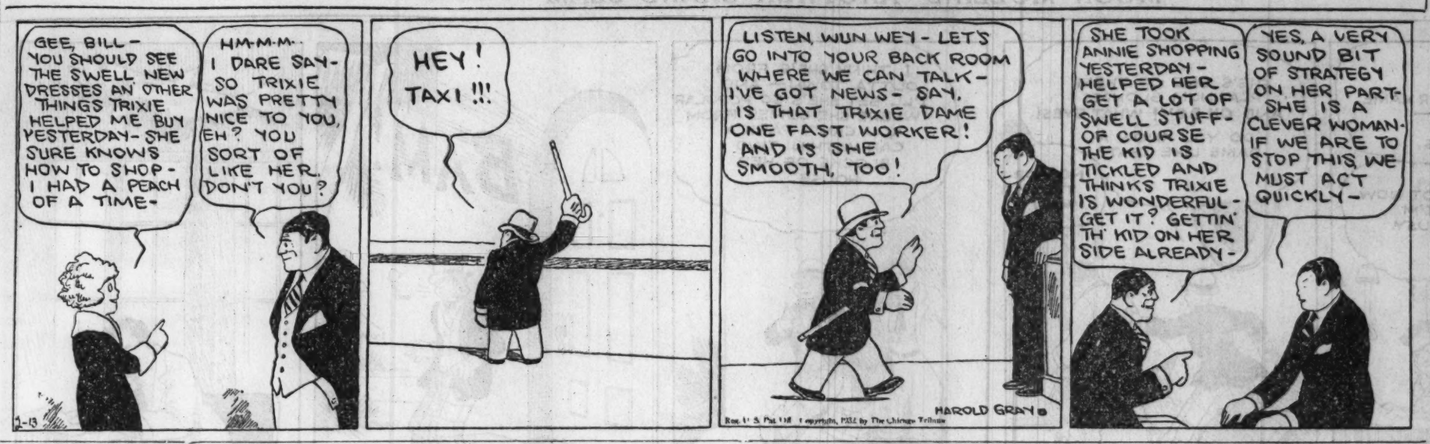
Discussions in the German press over the advisability of sending a warship to Memel to protect German citizens has amused the opposition here. Rumors abroad of preparation for a new Memel putsch are denied by the Lithuanian foreign office where it is declared that Lithuania will continue to respect the convention.

Charge "Grand Stand Play."

Lithuanian officials are surprised at the importance attached by Germany to events in Memel. They say Chancellor Bruening is making a grand stand play at Geneva to increase his prestige in Germany.

Another reason for Bruening's energetic defense of the Germans in Memel, these officials declare, is that the three Baltic states recently have been treating their German minorities roughly, canceling many privileges and threatening their autonomous schools and cultural institutions.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Cause for Alarm



INDICTMENT OF BISHOP CANNON RULED INVALID

Charges Incomplete, Is Decision.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The District of Columbia grand jury's indictment of Bishop James Cannon Jr. and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, former treasurer of the Virginia anti-Smith committee, was held invalid today by Justice James M. Porter of the District of Columbia Supreme court.

The indictment, returned several months ago by the grand jury after an investigation of the bishop's handling of campaign contributions in his 1928 anti-Smith campaign, charged the clergyman and Miss Burroughs with conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act by failure to report the contributions of E. C. Jameson of New York.

Allegations Incomplete.

In a memorandum opinion sustaining the bishop's demurrer to the indictment, Justice Proctor ruled that all ten counts of the indictment were invalid because they failed to allege as a fact that the Jameson contributions were known to Miss Burroughs, the treasurer of the committee.

Pointing out that the corrupt practices act intends to "require the treasurer of a political committee to report only contributions received by him and those duly accounted for to him" Justice Proctor declared:

"Certainly it was not intended to hold one criminally responsible for failure to report a contribution of which he had no knowledge. Given such a meaning, a treasurer who has filed a statement honestly and correctly revealing every contribution known to him would, nevertheless, be liable to prosecution because of an inevitable omission of a contribution of which he had no knowledge."

New Indictment Outlawed.

John J. Wilson, assistant district attorney in charge of the Cannon prosecution announced that he would appeal to the District Court of Appeals from Justice Proctor's decision. If the higher court sustains the demurrer the belief in court circles is that the prosecution will be dropped, since a new indictment is impossible under the statute of limitations.

G. B. LOCKWOOD, INDIANA EDITOR, DIES AT MUNCIE

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 12.—(AP)—George B. Lockwood, 59, publisher of the Muncie Evening Press and a nationally known writer, died here tonight. He had suffered a heart attack last Sunday.

Beginning his life work as editor of a campus publication and working on his father's newspaper, Mr. Lockwood became a publicist of national note.

Of pioneer Miami county, Ind., parentage, Lockwood was born at Forest, Ill., Nov. 7, 1872. He was graduated from De Pauw university in 1894.

On leaving college Lockwood became one of the founders and first editor of the Terre Haute Evening Tribune. In 1896 he became secretary to Col. George W. Steele, member of congress from the Eleventh Indiana district.

In 1922 Lockwood became secretary of the Republican national committee, serving until June, 1924. In 1928 he was director of the Washington headquarters of the Hoover for President club.

Lockwood was author of a number of books on economics and editor of a collection of editorials on the league of nations.

Widow Buries Golfing Togs with Murdered Statesman

[Copyright; 1932; By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Feb. 12.—In accordance with an old custom, under which objects especially cherished are taken to the grave, Mrs. Junnosuke Inouye, widow of the Japanese statesman who was assassinated a few days ago, placed in her husband's coffin today his golfing suit, his favorite golf club, his writing brush and ink, and five volumes of Chinese classics. The burial, with Buddhist rites, was attended by many thousands. Viscount Nagashige Kuroda represented the emperor.

Veteran Will Be Given Military Funeral Monday

The body of Jerry Markvicka, former Chicagoan, who died in Arizona last week of wounds incurred in the world war, will arrive in Chicago today and be taken to the chapel at 5130 West 25th street, Cicero. It will remain there until Monday, when it will be removed to Harlicka Stokal hall, 2635 South Lawndale avenue, where military funeral services will be held by members of the Second Division association and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Burial will be in the Bohemian National cemetery.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

A story of the death on Feb. 10 of Andrew Waksonerlski, 1445 West Erie street, in THE TRIBUNE the following day bore the caption "Ends Life with Gun." This was a typographical error. Waksonerlski was asphyxiated by gas, and a coroner's jury was unable to determine whether his death was accidental or suicidal.

YOUTH STEALS RIDE ON TRUCK; LOSES BOTH LEGS

Edward Wdinkowski, 17 years old, 5034 South Throop street, will be maimed for life because he "hooked" a ride on a motor truck yesterday. Both his legs were crushed below the knees when a second truck crashed into the back of the one on which he was sitting at Archer and Ashland avenues. Physicians at St. Paul's hospital amputed both legs.

The youth, with two companions, clambered to the bed of a truck driven by George Krukons, 2136 West 23d place, and were dangling their legs behind. When Krukons noticed them he suddenly applied the brakes, calling to the riders to jump off. Two of the boys obeyed, but Wdinkowski was slow. A moment later the crash occurred.

Two fatalities in Cook county yesterday increased the toll since Jan. 1 to 133. The victims:

William Meyer, 53 years old, 9412 South Hoyne avenue. Killed when his automobile collided with a street car at 87th street and Western avenue. Witnesses said that Meyer apparently collapsed at the wheel of his machine. Police said he might have suffered from a heart attack.

Ben Harris, 71 years old, colored, 209½ East 34th street. Died at the Daily hospital from hurts sustained when he was run down at 35th street and Giles avenue on Feb. 9.

Funeral Services Today for Attorney A. J. Innes

Funeral services for Attorney Alexander J. Innes will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel at 523 Lake street, Oak Park, with burial to follow at Graceland cemetery. Mr. Innes died on Wednesday at the West Suburban hospital after a three weeks' illness. He was 59 years old, and lived at 325 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park. Mr. Innes was born in Kirkcaldy, Scotland, and came to Chicago in 1887. He was connected with the Chicago Title and Trust company until 1898 when he was admitted to the bar. He was a member of the Hamilton and Lake Shore Athletic clubs and the Chicago Bar association. Surviving him are his widow, Mary Oliver Innes, and his son, John O. Innes.

JAMES TROTTER of Chicago, an engineer pensioned by the Chicago and North Western railroad after 47 years of service, died in Mission, Tex., it was learned here yesterday. Mr. Trotter was 72 years old. He had made his home with his son, Robert, at 4220 West End avenue.

Woman Robbed When She Drives Auto Into Garage

Two robbers halted Mrs. Lillian Roulick, 38 years old, as she drove her automobile into the garage in the rear of her home at 1451 Berwyn avenue last night. They robbed her of three rings valued at $2,650, a wrist watch worth $350, and $72 in cash.

HOUSE DEBATES "LAME DUCK" ACT; TO VOTE TUESDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—[Special.]—The house today argued the merits of permitting the lame ducks [their brethren hit down by the shot of defeat at the polls] to remain in congress for months after their political crippling.

EMANUEL CELLER.

Representative Emanuel Celler [Dem., N. Y.], thought such a constitutional provision was as "barbarous as the old Chinese custom of binding up the children's feet"; and reminded his colleagues that no other country in the world today requires its newly elected parliamentary members to undergo a "cooling period" of months.

But Representative A. J. Montague, a fellow Democrat from Virginia, disagreed in these words: "Just because a man's been defeated for congress, some of you would think that he's ready for the penitentiary. Remember, William McKinley was a lame duck. And there have been a lot of conscientious ones. They say that lame ducks sometimes run faster and fly higher than the others."

Vote on the amendment will come Tuesday. The senate has approved it six times; the house passed it last session, but limited the second session of congress and thus lost the support of the senate. Should it be passed, it would have to be ratified by three-fourths of the states.

SCHOOL GROUP TO PROTEST END OF ATHLETICS

A massmeeting will be held tonight at the Ogden park fieldhouse, 65th street and Racine avenue, to protest the recent elimination of athletics and other extra-curricular activities at Lindblom High school. According to Irving N. Stenn, who will act as chairman at the request of the Parent-Teacher association, 4,000 parents, students and teachers are expected to attend.

Among the speakers will be Mrs. William Johnson, president of the Parent-Teacher association; Aldermen James F. Kovarik, Terence F. Moran, Bryan Hartnett, and Walter W. Morris, the Rev. John De Lacey, the Rev. Clinton Cox, and Mrs. Harvey T. Tyler of the Woman's City club.

"Economy is one thing," said Mr. Stenn. "This is quite another. Without these very important activities Lindblom must become merely the name of a school house."

Charles-Henri Le Goffic, Famous Breton Poet, Dies

LANNION, France, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Charles-Henri Le Goffic, 68, famous Breton poet and member of the French academy, died today. Le Goffic's first work, "Breton Love," dates from 1889, and his "Morgane," which contains traces of the Arthurian legends common to Brittany and early England, was published a generation ago. For years his novels and poems appeared regularly, and he also had done writing for the theater. His chronicles of the deeds of the French marines were a notable contribution to the history of the great war.

SCAN NEW YORK FOR REDS FIRST, KENTUCKY PLEA

Gotham Writers Urge Congress to Act.

Pineville, Ky., Feb. 12.—(AP)—The citizenry of Pineville wants congress to take a look at New York's "nest of communists" first in case it is considering an investigation into social welfare and labor conditions in the Kentucky coal mine fields.

Learning a group of New York writers, who sought to distribute food and clothing among the miners, would seek a congressional investigation into conditions in the mining districts, a group of citizens sent a telegram to members of congress today, suggesting that the inquiry "begin with New York and the nest of communists there."

Addressed to Lawmakers.

The message, written by Cleon K. Calvert, chairman, and W. Frank Durham, secretary of the Pineville citizens' committee, was addressed to Senators Alben W. Barkley and M. M. Logan of Kentucky; Representative Charles Finley of the Eleventh Kentucky district, and Representative Hamilton Fish, New York, head of the committee that investigated communism in the United States.

"The citizens of Pineville," it reads, "have for six months been pestered to death with communists disguised as writers from New York, whose purpose was to obtain publicity for their doctrines and for books they intended to write. They have fomented trouble, discord and violence and have brought about an intolerable condition that we cannot tolerate any longer."

Charge "Reign of Terror."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—A group of New York writers today demanded a congressional investigation of "A Reign of Terror" in the Kentucky coal fields.

Waldo Frank of New York, an author and chairman of the writers' committee that was escorted from Bell and Harlan counties by a vigilance committee Wednesday night, charged he had been beaten about the head and driven from the state after trying to distribute food at Pineville, Ky.

With other members of the writers' group, he appeared before Senators Costigan [Dem., Colo.], Cutting [Rep., N. M.], and Logan [Dem., Ky.]. They presented affidavits, describing their treatment in detail.

GLENN-COSTIGAN DEBATE TO BE ON W-G-N TONIGHT

Senator Otis F. Glenn will oppose Senator Edward P. Costigan, Democrat, of Colorado, co-author of the Costigan-La Follette bill in congress to appropriate $375,000,000 for states for unemployment relief, in a debate over the bill tonight. The debate will be held at Washington, D. C., and will be broadcast by W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station, from 9 to 9:30 p. m.

The two senators will speak in the Washington studios of the Columbia Broadcasting company, and their arguments will be transmitted through more than seventy broadcasting stations of the Columbia network.

Senator Costigan contends that his bill does not constitute a dole. Senator Glenn considers the measure a dole or the beginning of a dole system, to which President Hoover is opposed.

France to Conclude Trade Pact Deal with Italy

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The foreign office announced tonight that negotiations to conclude a commercial accord between France and Italy would begin at Rome next Monday. Ambassador Maurice de Beaumarchais, France's representative in Italy, will head the French delegation.

Woman Amnesia Victim Found Walking on Road

A woman about 45 to 50 years old, apparently a victim of amnesia, was found by the county highway police at Telegraph road and Dempster street in Morton Grove last night. She was accompanied by a small dog.

Malone tells how public expenditures can be reduced forty per cent for the benefit of the taxpayers.

Malone demands for all citizens of Illinois equal representation in the law-making bodies of the State and in constitutional conventions.

Malone states that the people of Illinois declared by referendum vote for the modification of our prohibition laws. Their will shall be obeyed when Malone is governor.

Malone demands a change in our banking laws to safeguard depositors' money and to stop depletion of bank assets through exorbitant receiver's and attorney's fees.

ATTORNEY, ONCE TARRED, SEEKS REINSTATEMENT

John L. Metzen of Chicago, once an attorney for the I. W. W., who was tarred and feathered and driven out of Staunton, Ill., on Feb. 12, 1918, applied to the Supreme court at Springfield yesterday for reinstatement as an attorney. The Supreme court disbarred Metzen in December of 1919 on the grounds that a suit he had filed against Judge Charles M. Thomson was without foundation.

In his petition for reinstatement Metzen has incorporated court decisions, the federal constitution, the Bible, and Martin Luther. He contends that after the Staunton incident an attorney for the Ku Klux Klan sent a telegram to the mayor of Staunton, which read: "Tarring heartily approved by Chicago bench and bar."

Metzen had appeared in Staunton to represent Sezerion Oberdan, an alleged agitator. A meeting of a miners' organization broke up in a fight. Oberdan and Metzen were dragged from their hotels. After beating and tarring the two men, Oberdan was started for St. Louis and Metzen was started for Chicago.

ROOMING HOUSE OWNER SLAIN AT DOOR OF HOME

James Durand, 31 years old, was shot and fatally wounded last night at the door of the rooming house which he operated at 1518 South Wabash avenue.

Several hours after the shooting his wife, Alice, told police the name of a man she said was the slayer. He is being sought.

Durand, a former navy boxer, was playing pinochle in his home with his wife, Charles Abruzzi, and Mrs. Louise White, roomers, when he was summoned to the door. Three men stood on the outside. As Durand went to the door one of the men fired. Durand was struck over the left eye. He died at St. Luke's hospital.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 200; hogs, 10,000; sheep, 2,000.

The hog market yesterday again showed an inclination to turn weak despite the stronger opening in lightest weight stock and price cuts of 5@10c were necessary to move the majority of medium and weighty butchers. The general average price for the whole day came down 5c at $3.85, while the extreme top for light at $4.25 was steady. Buyers proceeded with more than usual caution when the market repeatedly leaned to the weak side after the first few rounds of trading.

Receipts at 20,000 were second smallest for Friday since last October and aggregate totals smallest for this time of year in five years. Yet the trade was practically without support when sellers attempted to boost the price a notch at the opening. There is a shortage of choice quality lightweight hogs at all leading markets, but eastern buyers succeeded in scouring the yards for choice 140@225 lb averages without exciting the trade.

Hog Futures Steady.

Hog futures quotations were unchanged. The country was offering July mediums at $6.50 and bids for those contracts stopped at $5.00. Many hogs were offered at $5.50 and bid $5.75@5.00, while March contracts could be purchased at $5.00 or sold at $4.25.

Yesterday's meager supply of 2,000 cattle, augmented by a few loads carried over from the previous session, met a "catch as catch can" trade when outlet proved undependable except for a scattering of long fed cattle selling at $7.00 and above. One lot of 10 head averaging 1,158 lbs topped the price list at $8.00, while the rank and file of medium to good grades went over the scales at $5.00@6.50.

A range of $4.50@4.75 obtained some plain quality steers, with a rather attractive "kill" and a fair showing of smaller lots of thin off color cattle sold at $4.00 and below, occasionally down to $3.00 for a few head. Cows and heifers were steady, most beef cows going at $3.00@3.50, with a few prime offerings at $3.75@4.00. Calves ruled weak to lower. Action in the stocker and feeder division was fair for Friday.

Lambs Recover Loss.

Lamb prices advanced against declining wholesale prices yesterday, recovering about 10@15c of the recent sharp loss. Supplies were exceptionally light, the total at Chicago at less than 10,000 standing second smallest for Friday since October. The seven leading markets handled only 25,000, against 46,000 last Friday and 39,000 a year ago. Packers bought most good slaughter lambs at $6.00@6.10, paying up to $6.25 for the best selections, while city butchers went up to $6.40, the top. Aged and yearling sheep sold about steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 10,000 hogs, and 1,000 sheep, against 139 cattle, 12,575 hogs, and 3,122 sheep the previous Saturday and 118 cattle, 13,085 hogs, and 4,644 sheep a year ago.

Smithers Resigns Post of Booth Fisheries Head

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Booth Fisheries company yesterday, P. L. Smithers, president, presented his resignation with a request that it be accepted immediately. The board accepted it, thus terminating Mr. Smithers' twenty-one years of service with the company. To fill vacancies on the board of directors Henry Hinrichs, Joseph H. Kielty, Andrew Lawrence and Thomas J. Shaughnessy were elected. The board then elected Joseph C. Markley as president. Mr. Markley has been a director for several years.

Continental Motors Buys De Vaux-Hall Corp. Assets

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Purchase of the Michigan assets of the De Vaux-Hall Motors corporation of Grand Rapids by the Continental Motors corporation was announced today by W. R. Angell, president of the Continental corporation. The purchase is subject to final approval by the U. S. District court of Grand Rapids. Mr. Angell said Continental Motors will continue production of De Vaux automobiles, backed by Continental's $28,000,000 resources.

NEW YORK CENTRAL EARNS 5 CTS. A SHARE ON COMMON IN 1931

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 12.—The preliminary report of the New York Central railroad for 1931 shows that, despite a net deficit of $2,312,561 in the last three months of the year, the company earned its interest charges by a margin equal to a few cents a share on its $499,259,735 of capital stock outstanding. Net income for 1931 was $2,430,101 or 5 cents a share on capital stock against $35,961,791 or $7,21 a share in 1930.

Since the company paid dividends of $6 a share on its $4,992,597 shares of capital stock, or $29,955,000, there was a deficit of $27,525,000 after dividends in 1931. The company paid dividends at the rate of $8 a share in 1930. In that year, the deficit after $39,940,594 dividend payments and $91,087 sinking and other reserve funds was $4,049,889.

The balance sheet of the company as of June 30 showed a profit and loss surplus of $274,799,080 against $284,783,926 on Dec. 31, 1930, and $296,167,417 on June 30, 1930. Current assets were $93,181,110 and current liabilities $94,832,360 on June 30, compared with $107,362,098 and $98,019,635, respectively, a year previously. Total assets on June 30 were $1,828,275,137 against $1,800,075,289 on Dec. 31, 1930, and $1,797,170,084 on June 30, 1930.

Recently it was disclosed in a document filed with the Interstate Commerce commission that the railroad had borrowed $7,000,000 on promissory notes dated Dec. 31, making $58,500,000 of demand notes outstanding and that it would need at least $10,000,000 more. The road has been authorized to pledge $100,000,000 of its bonds for loans of this kind and under this authority has pledged more than $50,000,000 of them.

Illinois 6 Per Cent Notes.

Please analyze the new issue of State of Illinois six per cent notes which are being offered now. Are they regarded as sound?—F. N. B.

The new $18,750,000 issue of State of Illinois six per cent revenue notes are authorized by "an act to provide . . . the necessary revenue for relief of residents of the state of Illinois who by reason of unemployment or otherwise are destitute and in necessitous circumstances."

The funds obtained through the sale of these notes will be administered by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission whose members are appointed by the governor. Actual distribution will be made by welfare organizations already in existence and organized for such work.

The notes will be dated Feb. 25, 1932. They have no definite maturity date but are redeemable on or after Dec. 1, 1932. They are obligations of the state of Illinois, payable from a general ad valorem tax now levied for that purpose, and collectible with other taxes for 1932. The notes are issued in an amount not to exceed 75 per cent of the amount of the levy specifically provided for by a legislative act of the 57th general assembly.

Another of the legislature's five emergency relief acts, however, provides for submission to popular vote at the fall election of a general obligation State of Illinois bond issue with serial maturities and provides for the levy of an annual tax sufficient to meet principal and interest requirements of the bonds. This tax will be extended and collected only if the money derived from the gasoline tax is not sufficient to pay principal and interest on the bonds. The one cent of the gasoline tax which is distributed to counties has been specifically appropriated for this purpose.

If the bond issue is voted in November and the bonds are sold, the notes will be retired from the proceeds thereof as soon as practicable, probably not later than January, 1933.

If, however, the bond issue fails to go through as planned, the notes will be retired by lot as the tax against which they are issued is collected.

The revenue notes are being issued now instead of bonds because bonds can be issued only after the voters have approved their issue at a general election. The need for immediate funds for relief work was considered so pressing that it was believed to be impossible to wait until November to obtain them.

The notes will not have coupons. Interest can be paid only at the time they are retired.

The notes are considered sound.

MAY ASK REPRESENTATION.

Wall street hears that New York interests, reported to have acquired considerable holdings in the Alaska Juneau Gold Mining company, will seek representation on the board at the annual meeting.

GETS TITLE TO THE GREENWOOD COURT FLATS

Corporation Acts for Bondholders.

BY AL CHASE.

Joseph Cremin, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee for the defaulted bond issue on the Greenwood Court apartments at the southwest corner of East 54th street and Greenwood avenue, announced last night that title has been conveyed to the Greenwood Court Apartment Building corporation, recently formed. Stock in the new corporation will be issued to the bondholders shortly, he stated. Foreclosure proceedings have been completed and title is now held by the new corporation for the bondholders.

JOSEPH W. CREMIN. [Walinger Photo.]

"The bonds on this property were issued by the Ritchie Bond and Mortgage company, and the complete reorganization has been effected through the continued efforts of the bondholders' protective committee," said Mr. Cremin.

The other members of the bondholders' committee are F. A. Hill, chairman; C. K. Anderson, Wells W. Hawtin, and Charles R. McCabe Jr. The original bond issues, underwritten by the Ritchie Bond and Mortgage company, was for $250,000. It has since been reduced by prepayments to $216,000. The Greenwood Court Apartment building occupies a site 100x164, and contains fifty-four suites.

See Foreclosure Sale.

Foreclosure sale of the Sheridan-Brompton apartments at the southwest corner of Sheridan road and Brompton avenue will be held on Friday, Feb. 19, it was stated yesterday. The sale will be held at the judicial salesroom of the Chicago Real Estate board by Master in Chancery Julius Miner.

The original issue of $2,250,000 has been reduced to $2,064,500. The Chicago Title and Trust company, which is receiver for the property, reports gross receipts for the eleven months ending Nov. 30, 1931, as $229,113. Operating expenses were $94,052. Receivers' fees for the same eleven months were $15,000. Attorneys' fees were $12,000. The total of disbursements other than operating expenses was $81,524. The cash balance on hand Nov. 30, 1931, was $103,151.

Pay $1 Dividend.

It was announced last night that a dividend of $1 is being distributed to the bondholders of the property at 1512-18 North La Salle strete, financed by Leight & Co., and now held by the Upper La Salle Building corporation. The original bond issue was for $375,000, which defaulted in January, 1931. It was taken over by the corporation organized by the bondholders' protective committee.

Trust certificates for common stock were issued to the bondholders on the basis of one share for each $10 of principal and interest represented by their bonds. All but approximately 1 per cent of the bonds have been deposited. Due to the almost complete deposit of securities and other savings effected in the reorganization, surplus funds have accumulated in the treasury of the new corporation and these are now being distributed, as stated, to holders of record of trust certificates. Kirkland, Fleming, Green and Martin are attorneys.

COTTON MARKETS FIRM

New Orleans was the only American cotton market open yesterday. Trade was not large and inflation talk seemed to have lost its effect to some extent. Prices held within a range of 3@5 points on the active futures and closed 1@2 points higher, while distant months were unchanged to 1 point lower. Good rains were reported in the eastern part of the belt, but temperatures were above normal.

Receivations placing a $400 limit on loans to be made to farmers by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, according to a New Orleans wire to J. E. Bennett & Co., indicates cotton planters will be unable to obtain as much money as anticipated. No loans will be made on more than 65 per cent of the 1931 acreage unless the area was less than 10 acres. Prices follow:

WINNIPEG WHEAT PRICES RETREAT AFTER ADVANCE

U. S. Exchanges Observe Lincoln's Birthday.

Security and commodity exchanges and banks were closed yesterday in observance of Lincoln's birthday. Trading will be resumed today in all the principal markets.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

All American grain exchanges were closed yesterday for Lincoln's birthday, but Winnipeg and Liverpool were opened as usual.

Buying by Chicago and seaboard interests resulted in a fractional upturn in the Winnipeg wheat market early, but the advance brought out increased hedging pressure from the country incident to the upturn of the last two days. The market settled back and closed ¼c lower, with May at 64⅛c in Canadian funds.

According to a Winnipeg message to J. E. Bennett & Co. there has been a marked increase in country selling of cash wheat in the last two days. No. 1 northern at the close yesterday was quoted at 61½c, with No. 2 northern at 57½c and No. 3 northern at 53c.

Business in Manitobas.

Considerable export business developed during the day in Manitobas, the outstanding feature being the sales made from grain in store at American ports for shipment via the Atlantic coast, pointing to an urgent need of supplies. The bulk of the business, however, was on the Pacific coast. The total sold during the day was not given.

Liverpool wheat was unchanged to ⅛c higher at the start and closed ½@¾c per bu lower, with October leading the decline. The English market was practically unchanged, based on the action of Chicago on Thursday. Buenos Aires was ⅛c higher on wheat and ¼@⅜c higher on corn at midday.

Cold in Kansas.

Cold weather prevailed in northwestern Kansas early Friday morning, with temperatures below freezing, but in other sections it was clear and warm. No complaints of damage to wheat were received yesterday. Cooler weather, with some rain, was reported in Argentina in a cable to Jackson Bros., with the exportable surplus of corn estimated at 275,000,000 bu. This compares with actual clearances of 385,000,000 bu during the 1931-'32 season, which ends Feb. 29.

Little interest was taken in coarse grains in Winnipeg, with oats closing ⅛@¼c lower, while barley was ¼c lower, rye unchanged to ⅛c higher, and flax seed ⅛c lower.

GOODRICH RUBBER OFFICERS EXPECT BUSINESS GAIN

Increased prices of merchandise, better products, new developments and a marked increase in the general business curve were predicted yesterday for the rubber industry during the coming year by B. F. Goodrich Rubber company officials at the annual central division sales and advertising conference at the Knickerbocker hotel. The conference will close today.

"Because the resources of rubber and cotton growers will prevent additional reductions or sustained low prices in those commodities, it is believed that rubber products will increase in retail price within the next several months," S. B. Robertson of Akron, O., vice president of the Goodrich company, stated.

"Merchandising methods, quality products to meet the demands of modern improvements in every line of industrial endeavor will assist this recovery. The rubber industry is no exception and general business should share this anticipated advantage."

A novelty discussed was colored tires, which have been introduced by Goodrich. There will be twelve shades, with red, green, brown, yellow, and silver the outstanding colors.

Announcement was made by P. C. Handerson, advertising director, that in addition to a substantial increase in the advertising appropriation for the Goodrich company this year, the amount to be spent for newspaper advertising will be double that of last year.

Shoe Production in 1931 Gains 4 Per Cent Over '30

Shoe factories increased their output in 1931 four per cent over that of 1930. The commerce department reported that the total output of boots and shoes, other than rubber, during 1931 was 316,239,809 pairs as compared with 304,169,748 pairs in 1930. Shoe production in the United States rose steadily from 1924 to 1929, when 361,402,000 pairs were manufactured but during 1930 production fell off sharply.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Chicago mercantile exchange was closed yesterday and the butter, egg and poultry markets were nominally unchanged. A moderate business was on in potatoes at former prices. Receipts 97 cars with 161 cars on team track.

FORD PRODUCTION WILL GIVE JOBS TO 30,000 MEN

Auto Leaders Hail New Model Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—With the beginning of production of the new Ford eight and four cylinder lines an increased employment of from 30,000 to 35,000 will be made. This will include only Detroit workers who still are on the Ford employment rolls, and are awaiting rehiring. It is quite probable the recall will begin within a week or ten days.

The Ford announcement, according to financial and industrial leaders, is considered the biggest piece of news since the "business illness" began more than two years ago, and a harbinger of brighter days, not only for the automobile industry, but throughout general business as well.

Packard Head Statement.

Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Car company, in a quoted statement said: "Mr. Ford's statement is interesting and very welcome. The extent of his employment of labor and the movement of materials for the car is of great importance in its effect on general business. Our cars are not in the same price class, but everything which helps sell an automobile, helps us, for it helps all business."

Roy D. Chapin, chairman of the board of the Hudson Motor Car company: "The Ford announcement shows that it, in common with the rest of the automobile industry, is making unprecedented efforts to produce quality automobiles at prices which make it almost essential that the automobile owners buy a new car. A radical increase in the automobile industry is bound to have a stimulating effect in all business in all parts of the country."

S. W. Utley, president of Michigan Manufacturers association: "Ford's announcement is an encouraging sign. The new operations will mean an immense quantity of materials, produced not only in Detroit, but in every section of the country."

Banker Tells Views.

Walter I. Dunham, president Detroit Savings bank: "Ford's plans are especially important to Detroit because he employs such a tremendous number of persons and a large portion of his costs go directly into purchasing power. Banks and merchants feel the effect almost immediately."

James L. Walsh, executive vice president Guardian Detroit group of banks: "The Ford announcement will be hailed all over the country as another stirring indication of faith in the future from a great automobile manufacturer. The most tangible expression of confidence the country has had is the millions of dollars that have been spent by the industry, as a whole, in turning out new models in every line and at every price. We should all remember that when the individual rides, prosperity rides."

DOLLAR DROPS IN PARIS OWING TO MINT CHANGE

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The American dollar dropped on the Paris exchange today from yesterday's quotation of 25.40 francs to 25.35, American bankers announced.

Emphasizing that the drop had no relation to the Glass-Steagall banking bill, introduced in the American congress yesterday, American circles explained that the drop was attributable to a change in minting charges. It was explained that the Bank of France had increased the gold minting charge from 22 francs per kilo to 44 francs per kilo, operative on Feb. 15.

French financial experts said this afternoon that the success or failure of the new American plan depends upon the Americans themselves. They seemed agreed that the result would be beneficial if Americans show confidence in their own country and put an end to hoarding.

London Likes Plan.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The American plan to broaden the rediscount basis of the Federal Reserve bank, together with the firmness of the New York stock exchange, created a better atmosphere on the exchange here today. Business was not greatly increased, but the gilt-edged issues were generally up ¼ to ½. Japanese bonds, oil shares and trans-Atlantic issues also improved. In the exchange market sterling advanced to $3.44⅝.

Berlin Stocks Up.

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Stock prices were up several points and the tendency was firm today on the buoyancy of Wall street and hopes for revival of activity on the boerse under the stimulus of the new American credit plan.

FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Money, 3¼d per ounce. Discount rates: Short bills, 4½@5⅛ per cent; three month bills, 5@5⅛ per cent. Bar silver, 19⅛d.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Three per cent rentes, 78f 80c. Five per cent loan, 101f 50c. Exchange on London, 87f 34c. The dollar was quoted at 25f 35¼c.
